

THE PEEP-SHOW
IN THE FAIR.

LONDON AND OTLEY :
WILLIAM WALKER AND SONS.

THE PEEP-SHOW.

MAMMA ! Mamma ! do come here. Here is the man you were wanting the other day, when you said the rooms were so dusty, and you would have a nice broom that Mary might keep everything free from dust.

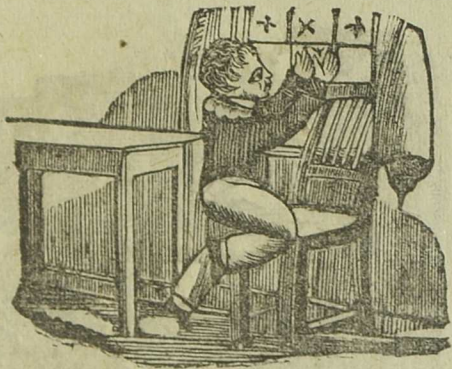

CRUEL Boy ! Do you think the poor cat has no more feeling than yourself ? How would you like a great strong man to come and tie a stone to your neck, and put you in the river ? Let poor pussy go, and you shall be forgiven.

Now this is quite as bad as the boy on the other page. These boys have tied some string to the poor, tender legs of the little birds, and are letting the creatures fly, and pulling the string. How cruel it is to hurt any of the beautiful birds which God has given us.

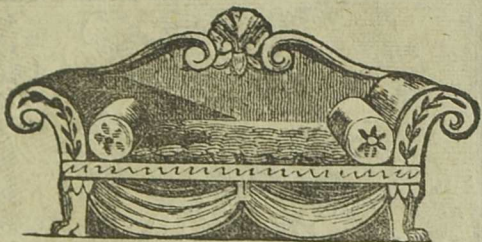

FARMER Goodman, you see, has thought that this woman would be very thirsty with working in the hay-field, so he has brought her some beer to relieve her. No doubt it will refresh her and she will go to work with more spirit.

JACKY Summers has been locked up in a room, by his mamma, for being a naughty boy. And now you see he is getting into further mischief, by tearing off the wings of the poor flies, while they are buzzing about in misery and fear.

How pleasant it must be to have always the love of our parents. Yes, and if you are good and obedient, and not ill-tempered and peevish, you will get many nice presents, and sometimes a new bonnet from papa.

WELL, really, this is tempting for a snore. But little boys and girls should always remember that duty, in the shape of lessons, must be attended to first, and pleasure may be taken afterwards. A sofa is a beautiful piece of furniture, and you will perhaps have one at your house.

You will have heard of and, perhaps, seen Lions. They are very ferocious animals. Now, this man is called a Lion-tamer, because he can make them quite peaceable and docile. He can make them perform many tricks.

