
ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
CHIEF CONSTABLE
OF THE
CITY OF TORONTO
FOR
THE YEAR 1879.

474

To His Worship the Mayor of Toronto :

SIR,—I have the honour to forward herewith, by the instructions of the Board of Police Commissioners, my Annual Report for the year 1879.

Your obedient servant,

FRANK C. DRAPER,

Chief Constable.

A perusal of the accompanying statistical tables will show that there have been apprehended or summoned during the past year 6,554 offenders, as against 6,484 for the year previous, an increase of 70.

A comparison with the Report for 1878 shows the following variation in the number of cases under the following specific heads :

Assaults.—A decrease of seventy-eight cases.

Assaulting Police.—A decrease of nine cases.

Burglary.—An increase of thirteen cases. By reference to another table it will be seen that of the total number of burglaries reported, thirty-four, there were seven cases in which the value of the property was nil, four cases in which the value was under $3, sixteen cases in which the value was under $60, and four cases where between $75 and $250 was taken. It may therefore be reasonably inferred that burglars have not infested the City to any extent during the past year.

Breach of City By-laws.—This shows a large increase, the result of the number of snow cases which were upon the calendar in 1879.

Breach of License Act.—Four hundred and sixteen cases, as against four hundred and thirty-six, a decrease of twenty cases. This Statute would be far more efficacious if the Police were enabled to confiscate all liquour found in unlicensed houses forthwith ; and, also, if one conviction against the holder of a license would of necessity annul the license for that year.

Cutting and Wounding.—Shews an increase of ten cases.

Cruelty to Animals.—Shews an increase of one case.

Carrying Revolvers.—Shews a decrease of two cases, their being twenty this year.

Drunk or Disorderly.—Two thousand eight hundred and thirty-six cases, as against three thousand and fifty-seven last year, a decrease of two hundred and twenty-one.

Fraud.—Forty-seven cases, as against seventy-six last year.

Gambling.—Two warrants executed and seventeen persons arrested, against sixteen arrests last year.

Highway Robbery.—Fourteen cases, as against ten last year.

Horse Stealing.—Six cases, as against four last year.

Keeping Houses of Ill-Fame.—One hundred and sixty-five persons arrested, as against one hundred and twenty-eight last year. The Police have made descents upon twenty-four houses, arresting the keepers and inmates; and whenever it appeared that evidence to guarantee a conviction was forthcoming against these parties, warrants were issued invariably, and descents and arrests followed. The exaggerated statements which appeared in a leading daily paper of this city upon this subject, during my absence on leave last autumn, were followed by enquiries and reports from this Department for the information of the Board, and more particularly of His Worship the Mayor, as representing the City Council and the citizens at large, and it was found that the allegations made by that paper would not bear investigation, but were, for the most part, without foundation; and, it is worthy of note, that the proprietor, upon being applied to by this Department for information, which he had offered to furnish, in his columns, declined to do so, but replied by saying, "that inasmuch as the police had reported fifty of these establishments in the City—when they had wiped out that number, the names of fifty more would be furnished."

Larceny.—A decrease of forty-seven cases.

Rape.—Five cases, as against two last year.

Receiving Stolen Property.—Eighteen cases, as against twenty-seven last year.

Threatening.—One hundred and five cases, as against eighty-eight last year.

Vagrancy.—A decrease of forty-nine cases since last year.

Benefit Fund.—I venture once more to bring this subject under the notice of the Board, and to solicit, on behalf of the Force their serious and favourable consideration. It does not seem fair to ask men to devote the best period of their lives to this service without taking steps to secure for them a provision in their declining years, etc. The details of the scheme are already prepared, and can be very easily arranged for adoption by the Board whenever it is desired so to do.

Public Urinals.—These conveniences are much needed in a city of the present size of Toronto, and their absence leads frequently to cases of indecent exposure, in which the Police cannot see their way clear towards interfering.

Fires.—There were one hundred and four alarms of fire attended by the Police during the past year.

Changes in the Force.—These have been very few and unimportant. Eleven new men were appointed, one was dismissed, and eight resigned.

Detectives.—This Department has done some good work during the year, and no less than $19,618 has been recovered. Several important arrests were made, prominent among which was that of Durand and Ballard, alias Piano Charley, who are both now in Kingston Penitentiary.

Discharged Prisoners.—A monthly return is now furnished to this Department, both from the Central Prison and the Provincial Penitentiary at Kingston, giving the names of all prisoners about to be discharged during the following month, and the dates, offences, etc. Three hundred and sixty-two convicted felons have been liberated since February last at the Central Prison, many of whom at once commenced their old operations in this City. If they were all shipped back to their former residences it would doubtless make a difference in the records of crime committed in Toronto; but this, I find, is only done where the prisoner's conduct has been uniformly good during confinement, and where he has not been confined a second time, unless he has funds of his own that can be applied to that purpose.

Pistol Practice.—The result of this practice has been to develop many very good shots in the Force, with the Regulation pistol, and bulls' eyes at fifty yards' range are by no means uncommon.

Discipline.—The offences against discipline this year have been few and unimportant, with one or two exceptions, which I cannot but regret did not receive the punishment which I recommended at the time. Any relaxing of the strict rules of discipline has a most injurious effect upon the whole Force, and offenders are only encouraged to a repetition of their conduct. Applicants for positions on the Force are very numerous, and the Board may well be particular in their selections.

Drill.—The Force has been regularly drilled during the past year. I consider them to be fairly proficient in company drill, and also in the use of the revolver, and reliable as a military body for service in case of riots or serious tumults. The presence of a few mounted men would add materially to the present efficiency of the Force, and enable me to furnish patrols in the suburbs. The expenses of a dozen sets of saddlery would not be felt, and the keep of the horses could very easily be arranged for at the Fire Halls, where stabling accommodation is already provided. There are plenty of men in the Force now who are qualified to be mounted, having served in cavalry regiments, and I had a capital opportunity of judging of their capabilities during the procession on the occasion of the visit of His Excellency the Governor-General and H. R. H. the Princess Louise, in September last, as I had a sergeant and six men mounted to assist me in my duties.

Visit to St. Louis and Cincinnati.—In the spring of the year I was sent to St. Louis and Cincinnati to inspect the Police Forces of those cities, and was made the recipient of much courtesy and attention in both places, and afforded much information upon all subjects to which my enquiries were directed. Visits of this nature are always productive of beneficial results, and the differences in Police systems afford an opportunity for improvement in all. That in vogue here in the summer months enables me to throw a larger proportion of men on the streets at one time, when they are most wanted, than any other system I have so far met with.

Doors, &c., Found Open.—There were two hundred and thirty-two cases of open or insecure premises reported by the Police during the year.

Horses and Vehicles Found.—In all one hundred and eighteen.

Children Found.—There were one hundred and fourteen lost children found by the Police, and returned to their parents.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK C. DRAPER,

Chief Constable.

January 21st, 1880.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT.

Taking the aggregate number of occurrences, 2,087, and deduct 636, the number finally acted upon, the difference is 1,451, or 30·4 per cent. finally acted upon.

It will be seen that the occurrences reported from other places amount in the aggregate to 312, which leaves 1,775 for the City of Toronto. To make a fair comparison the number has to be confined to the City, which deduct 636 from 1,775 makes a difference of 1,139, or about 35·8 per cent. of occurrences finally acted upon.
