BELL ORGANS AND HALLET & DAVIS PIANOS.

STRAUSS, the celebrated Waltz composer, to Hallet, Davis & Co.:—

GENTLEMEN,—

Having heard your Pianos at the World's Peace Jubilee, and also used them during my stay in Boston, I am free to say that I have never before seen pianos possessing such a combination of truly wonderful quality and quantity of tone, meeting at once the wants of the largest Concert Hall and the drawing room.

I consider them superior to any Pianos that have come under my observation.

JOHANN STRAUSS.

PREFACE.

The Publishers take pleasure in presenting to the public, THE TORONTO DIRECTORY for 1875, containing over 500 pages, being one hundred pages more than last year's work. Every effort has been put forth on their part to make the work as accurate as possible. A very large staff of agents were employed taking information, and their work afterwards revised and corrected from door to door. It is in this manner that the publishers endeavour to give to their subscribers and the citizens generally a Directory on which for accuracy they can depend. The sketch of the City and its public institutions will well repay perusal. The map which accompanies the Directory was expressly got up for the work, and will be found exceedingly correct and useful. Hereafter the Directory will be published in the early part of January each year. The publishers, in taking leave until another year, are thankful to all those who have aided in supplying information and in bringing the Directory to a successful issue.

FISHER & TAYLOR.

TORONTO.

During the past year Toronto has increased proportionately faster than in any previous year, even not excepting the era of the Russian War when bountiful harvests and war prices gave her the command of enormous capital which she invested in making additions to her built area. It is estimated that in the year just past no less than 700 new buildings were erected, at an estimated cost of $3,000,000, and that the population received an increase of 6,000 souls, bringing the aggregate up to 74,000 at least. According to the census of 1871, the population was considerably less than 60,000, so that the city can boast of an average increase of nearly 5,000 souls during the past three years, or an increase of over nine per cent per annum, equal to nearly 100 per cent in a decade.

To the enterprise of her citizens and the rapid development of the Province, Toronto attributes this wonderful rapidity of growth. The new railways with their connections which are piercing and opening up the vast territory to the north; the rise of inland towns; the annual anabasis of immigrants to back settlements and the general prosperity with which Ontario has been blessed—these are the powers which are moving the city like magic. Yet in some respects 1874 was an exceptionally bad year. The financial crisis which fell upon the United States in the fall of 1873, and left them paralysed so far as trade and commerce were concerned for months afterwards, deprived Ontario of no inconsiderable portion of the bulk of her foreign trade. At one time it was feared that the panic would cross the lines and make havoc among the Canadian firms which had dealings with American establishments, but this country fortunately escaped. The only trade in which Toronto is heavily interested which suffered severely was the lumber trade. Owing to oversupply and the scarcity of money, the great lumbering combinations in Albany virtually suspended operations, and the result was seen in the comparatively small lumber import and export of the city.

The principal civic work of the year was the new Waterworks system. The pipe from the Island, two miles and a half in length was successfully laid in October. Hundreds of men were employed in laying nearly 15 miles of piping through the city, and hundreds more in constructing an enormous reservoir in the northern outskirts. It is believed that the works when completed will be capable of supplying a city of 120,000 souls with water necessary for house and fire purposes. Arrangements have been made by which, supposing the pumping machinery to collapse or get out of gear, the usual maximum can be kept up for days, so that the citizens may rest secure in the belief that they are protected from the calamities which have fallen upon other cities by reason of the temporary derangement of their water supply.

An absentee who should pay a flying visit to the city now would be astonished at the extraordinary progress which has been made on the two main streets running immediately parallel with the lake. On Front and Wellington streets warehouses have been erected which are second to none on this continent in capacity and architectural beauty. The Phœnix Block, after undergoing two severe trials by fire, seems to have obtained a long lease of immunity, and the wholesale stores which it contains are among the wealthiest marts in the city. McMaster's Block, the new Custom House, the new Printing Office of Messrs Hunter & Rose, the batch of splendid hotels which have lately sprung up in proximity to the Union Station, and the long range of new stores extending from Yonge street present an appearance to the stranger on landing infinitely more inviting and promising than the dreary sight which struck his gaze three years ago, when the Esplanade and a wide margin on the rear were dotted with here and there a good building, while the gaps between them were occupied by old fashioned stores and tenements which made their modern comrades look ridiculous in their company

The neighbourhoods round about the Grand Trunk and Northern workshops are being filled with stores and dwellings for the accomodation of the large additional force of men employed there and in the foundries, machine shops and factories dotting the whole western area Fifty years ago the site of St. Andrew's Market was an apparently hopeless swamp which the denizens of Little York regarded pretty much as we regard the great Gum Swamp in North York. In a short time, new life will be given to a neighbourhood already of exceeding vitality by the completion of the Credit Valley Railway, which will make the flourishing towns of Galt, St. Thomas and the wealthy section of country intervening, tributary to Toronto, furnishing us at the same time with the most direct route to Chicago and the North West. The importance and value of the benefits which this great undertaking will confer on the city are incalculable. Hard upon the Garrison Commons, which soon must doff whatever of faded military garb they now wear, stands the Central Prison, a magnificent pile of buildings, costing nearly half a million of dollars. This institution was built for the accomodation of prisoners undergoing sentences varying from three months to two years. It is in fact a school of correction, standing between the common gaols of the Province and the Provincial Penitentiary. The prison labour is employed in the works of the Canada Car Company which pays the Province fifty-five cents a day for adult labour, benefitting the Province and the unfortunate prisoner at the same time. In the north-west, situate on the Commons which divide that portion of the City from Seaton Village, is the new Knox College, now in course of construction. It is a splendid edifice and will be well in keeping with the University, Trinity College, the Normal School, St. Basil's College and other educational institutions, which reflect credit on the taste and intelligence of the people. Seaton Village, like Yorkville, Leslieville, and Brockton, will soon be engulfed in the City. The inhabitants of those suburbs hesitate to cast in their lot with Toronto, in view of the additional taxation which will be entailed upon them ; but when the new Waterworks are completed and they find that the growing claws of the City are surrounding them, they will no doubt capitulate with good grace.

Returning to the older portions of the City, the building which, above all others, is most conspicuous is St. James' Cathedral with its new spire and adornments. The spire is the tallest on this continent, 318 feet in height. As it now stands, the Cathedral is undoubtedly one of the finest specimens of Gothic architecture in the world. The internal height of the nave is 70 feet ; of the aisles 35 feet ; and the width is 115 feet. The Cathedral was destroyed by fire in 1849, and although it was partially rebuilt with incredible rapidity in ten months, yet, like York Minster and other religious edifices, it seemed destined to remain unfinished in sæcula. But the efforts of leading members of the congregation and the public spirit of the citizens at large have rescued it from that fate, and a nobler monument of the union of business enterprise and religion could not exist.

Then come a galaxy of other churches. St. Michael's Cathedral, with the Metropolitan Wesleyan Church (said to be the largest edifice owned by that body anywhere), St. Paul's, St. Peter's, St. Andrew's, Knox's, Trinity, and St. George's are all alike worthy of their congregations and city.

During the past year Toronto made herself supremely rich in places of amusement. The Grand Opera House, on Adelaide Street, immediately west of Yonge Street, is one of the handsomest and most capacious structures of the kind on the continent. It is the property of a Joint Stock Company, the management being centered in Mrs. Morrison, whose accomplishments the citizens of Toronto knew and appreciated twenty years ago. The Opera House is capable of containing upwards of 2,000 people, and the stage, boxes, dress circles and galleries give evidence of the finest and most artistic workmanship. In times past the leading "stars" of the stage, operatic or theatrical, could only be brought to Toronto at a loss to the managers of the only institution of the kind which we then possessed ; but, with our growing wealth and expanding enterprise we have changed all that. The Royal Opera House, on King Street West, is another gem, a worthy rival of the Grand. The old and dingy Royal Lyceum, wherein the theatregoing people for years labored in travail, having been burnt down, the Royal Opera was erected on the site and at once started on a vigorous career. Nearly opposite the Royal is the Queen's, a Vaudeville theatre, which is also well patronised, while on Colborne Street the Academy of Music supplies a miscellaneous entertainment of "varieties." With three theatres, one variety hall, and the aid of perambulating circuses and troupes, minstrel, ballet, and otherwise, the citizens of Toronto are somewhat ahead of the rest of the world in their means of amusing themselves with every art known to the "profession."

On Church Street, north of King, is the Music Hall, where once the operatic "stars" shone, but since the erection of the new theatres, it has become merely an arena for lectures, balls, bazaars, and public meetings, holding in that respect a higher degree than the St. Lawrence Hall.

The New Post Office on Adelaide Street and the imposing blocks now in course of erection opposite, have beautified what was once a somewhat dreary locality.

The extreme eastern portion of the City is being left behind on the march. The House of Providence and the City Gaol keep up a respectable architectural appearance ; while the establishment of Messrs. Gooderham & Worts, Hamilton's Foundry, the Grand Trunk Shops, and the terminus of the Toronto & Nipissing Railway show that there is an abundance of "life in the old dog yet." But, on the whole, there is an ancient and uncouth look about the East which contrasts strangely with the spruce and growing West. The buildings which the old dwellers on the Don, twenty years ago, regarded with feelings of unmixed pride, are being remorselessly dragged down by a stiff-necked generation of railway and foundry and factory magnates who confess to have no liking for the antique. The Old Gaol still remains, but its terrors have been stolen by the City Prison on the East and the more terrible Central Prison in the West. But the wharves in the East are growing apace. The Toronto & Nipissing Railway, which is being rapidly extended as the settler pushes northward, has given a vast impetus to the carrying trade of the city, and the new wharves at the terminus at the corner of Berkeley Street and the Esplanade are crowded in the months of navigation by shipping and immense cargoes of lumber and produce.

Taking leave of the business haunts of the City, its head, hands, and feet, a visit to its lungs, the Queen's Park, is well repaid. The matchless Avenue and the green-sodded acres at the top of it afford to the hard-worked citizen, mouthfuls of Saturday afternoon and Sunday fresh air, of inestimable value to himself and the city which he is building up. The University in the west of the Park is admired as an architectural masterpiece of the Norman style; and close by is the Observatory, one of the most important stations in the meterological system, which is being extended throughout the North American Continent, under the direction of the Signal Service Bureau at Washington. For some time a statue of Queen Victoria, by Marshall Wood, occupied a position near the Russian guns at the head of the Avenue, but the sculptor and the City Fathers could not agree upon the price, and it was removed. On Queen Street, to the east of the southern end of the Avenue, stands Osgoode Hall, a stone-faced block with two projecting wings. This, named after the first Chief Justice of Upper Canada, is the seat of the chief law courts in Ontario. It possesses an excellent library, the whole institution being controlled by the Benchers of the Law Society. Westward to Simcoe Street and thence southward, are the Parliament Buildings, old-fashioned and altogether out of date and capacity for the present requirements of the Legislature. Fronting them is the Lake and the Island, a convenient summer resort of which a local bard has sung the parody :—

There you may slip in,	Or in a wherry
To take a dipping;	Cross o'er the ferry,
Foment the shipping	To the Eastern Cup
That at anchor ride;	On the other side.

To him (knowing its metropolitan position and business character) who should be thinking of making Toronto his home, and, as Daniel Webster said, "there is always room upstairs or westward," the excellence of the Water Supply, of the Fire Alarm Telegraph, and of the twelve miles of Street Railway accommodation are points of no mean importance. They, with other features which we have enumerated above, are worthy of the metropolis of Toronto. She has thrown off primeval encumberances and made for herself a 75,000 souls' "clearing in the bush" with a network of tributary railways and an unequalled stretch of water communication, which must make her the worthy capital of a vast, prosperous, and incalculably rich Province.

THE MONTREAL TELEGRAPH CO.

This popular company, which has its wires laid along the line of railways and connections, was incorporated in the year 1847, with a capital of £30,000, and began its operations with 12 or 15 offices between Montreal and Quebec. Its history has been an uninterrupted success from the start; its lines having been extended to the remotest sections of the country wherever they can be maintained, and offices opened in nearly every village and hamlet throughout the country. Its capital stock has been increased to $1,750,000; its miles of lines to 21,000; and its number of offices to 1,200. Extensions are constantly going forward into newer and remoter sections of the country as routes are opened up, and new offices are almost daily being opened.

This Company is apparently unaffected in its prosperity by rival schemes, having outlived several in the course of its history. No country in the world is probably better served in the matter of telegraphic communication than Canada. The great abilities and enterprising spirit of Sir Hugh Allan, the President of the Company, have been as serviceable in developing the organization we are now describing as in founding the magnificent system of Oceanic communication with which his name is so familiarly identified. An enterprizing, but at the same time shrewd and far-seeing policy has, in fact, characterized the Company's operations from the very outset. In this respect, and in all questions demanding liberal and comprehensive action, this Company has been greatly assisted by possessing in Mr. H. P. Dwight, the Superintendent of the Western District, a gentleman who has had regard not so much for an immediate return for the work undertaken as the certain steady expansion of business in a corresponding ratio with the increase of trade or population. Mr. Dwight's management extends over the most important section of the Company's territory.

OFFICE OF THE EAST TORONTO PLANING MILL, CORNER OF QUEEN & GEORGE STREETS,

MESSRS. STOCK & WEBSTER. Toronto, Sept. 3, 1874.

GENTLEMEN,—In answer to your request as to our opinion of your oil as compared with others, we have to say that we have decided to use no other so long as we can get yours; and this was brought about by the fact that other dealers came round and said that they could give us oil as good as yours for much less money, so we took samples from each. The following is the result of FOUR TESTS OF EACH SAMPLE, in one of Foster's Patent Oil Cups on our engine:—Cup No. 12 once filled run with sample No. 1, at 25c. per gall., 2 days; sample No. 2, at 45c. per gall., 3 days; sample No. 3, at 55c. per gall., 6½ days; STOCK'S EXTRA OIL, AT 60c. PER GALL., OUT OF BARREL THAT WE WERE USING, 12 DAYS. The above samples were from the leading oil dealers of Canada. I may also say that we are using your oil on our cylinder instead of tallow, and find it does as well and is much cheaper, and better for the boiler. I think we can truly say that we are saving fifty per cent. in oils since we commenced using STOCK'S EXTRA.

Respectfully yours,
WM. H. ESSERY,
Engineer for Messrs. Withrow & Hillock.

TORONTO FIRE ALARM TELEGRAPH.

DIRECTIONS TO KEY HOLDERS.—Upon positive information of a fire near your signal box, unlock the signal box door, and if you hear a ticking in the box, count the number struck; if the number struck is the number of any box near the fire, you may conclude that the alarm was given by some person before your arrival. If no ticking is heard in the box, pull the brass hook all the way down, about too inches—once only—and let it go; or if it be a brass knob and not a hook pull the brass knob upwards and around as far as it will move, then let it go, then wait a minute, and if you hear no ticking in the box or alarm on the bells, go to the next nearest box to the fire, and pull the hook or knob in that box. On no account should the hook or knob in any box be pulled until after the ticking in the box has ceased for at least fifteen seconds, and no alarm should be given for a chimney only on fire.

Never open the box, or touch the hook or knob, except in case of fire.

Never give an alarm except from the box nearest the fire, unless you have first ascertained that the box nearest the fire will not work.

The key used in openiug the box cannot be taken out without another, called a relief key, and do not try to take the key out until a person having a relief key takes it out. Be sure the box is locked before leaving it.

Never let the key go out of your possession unless to some responsible person for the purpose of giving an alarm, or when called for by the Superintendent or Chief Engineer of the Fire Department. The key should be kept in one certain and secure place, out of the reach of children or strangers, but readily and easily got at when required.

The head master must be a graduate of a British or Colonial University, unless certificated and appointed by the 18th of September, 1865. Besides fees, local rates or contributions to the extent of half the Government grant must be raised for the master's salary. The grant is payable to those schools only which attain a certain standard, and is based on the average attendance of pupils in the prescribed studies. An extra grant is pro-
