THE TWINS'

A B C

BY OLGA MORGAN

ENGRAVED AND PRINTED BY EDMUND EVANS

LONDON: LIBERTY & CO.
222 REGENT STREET

1904

A is for Arthur
And Annabel—they
Would like to eat Apples
The whole of the day.

B's Bertie and Bella—
You can't tell their looks,
Their faces are hidden
Behind two big Books.

C stands for Cakes,
Here are two of great size!
To Conrad and Connie
They come as a prize.

D is for something delightful—

That's Dancing:

David and Dorothy

Think it entrancing.

E's Ethel and Ernest,
Embracing with pride
Two large Easter Eggs—
Now, whatever's inside?

F stands for Florence
And Ferdinand, who
Think only of Finery—
Foolish, these two.

G is for Gilbert
And Gertrude, you see
Who never forget
To say Grace before tea.

H. Horace and Helen
Are Hiding—Mamma
Is terribly anxious
To know where they are.

I's Ivy and Ivan—
With paper and Ink
So very industrious—
That's what I think

J's Johnnie and Judith
Who laugh "Ha! Ha! Ha!"
At the Jokes that are made
By their funny Papa.

K stands for Kenneth
And Kate, who agree
To Kiss and be friends,
As good children should be.

L's Leonard and Lucy,
Who take a delight
In Learning their lessons
From morning to night.

M is for Money
Spread out on the floor.
Matthew and Millicent
Have quite a store.

N is for Noise
That they make on the
drums,
Naughty Noel and Nancy,
When anyone comes.

O's Olive and Oscar—
Two travellers brave;
They love to be out
On the blue Ocean wave.

P's Paul and Priscilla—
All grandly arrayed.
Their beautiful partings
The barber has made.

Q is for Quentin
And Queechy, who cry
Hip! Hip! hurrah!
As the Queen passes by.

R's Ronald and Rosa,
Who wish that the Rain
Would go right away
To the Country of Spain.

S stands for School,
Where, it's pleasant to state,
Selina and Septimus
Never are late.

T is for Tiny
And Timothy too,
Who play with their Toys
As children should do.

U, that is Uncle,
Who comes to convey
Uriah and Ursula
Out to the play.

V is for Visiting,
Vivian and Vere,
Whose best Sunday clothes
Are those you see here.

W's for Winnie,
And Will—tired out,
The wind does not cease
To blow them about.

X is for Extra. We're
All on our knees.
We feel extra good,
So look at us, please.

Y is for Yorick and
Yelva, who yawn
They are going to bed
To sleep 'till the dawn.

Z is Zabbub and Zoë,
Who cry out—"Alack!
What a pity it is
That the Zulus are black!"

THREE NAUGHTY ELVES.

A CHARMING BOOK FOR CHILDREN, with coloured illustrations and verses by Eleanor March.
Price, 1/6. Post Free, 1/9½, nett.
