THERE was a man in Downy-dup
Who grew so wondrous thin,
That only when he doubled up
Could one be sure 'twas him.

MILK, and bread, potatoes, meat,
Coffee, cake and pie,
This skinny man would daily eat---
And then for more he 'd sigh.

You are sure of purity when you get EGG-O-SEE.

For Cold Short-cake.

Alternate layers of fresh fruit,
sugar and EGG-O-SEE; cover with whipped cream. Make in small individual side dishes.

HE ATE, and ate, and ate again—
But still no stouter grew ;
What he did eat, 'twas firmly claimed
Would quite suffice for two.

Use your favorite fresh fruit combined with EGG-O-SEE and cream. It makes a tempting, delicious dish.

ONE DAY he chanced to meet a lad
Quite full of spirits gay; Quoth he: "My son you seem quite glad—
Tell me the cause, I pray!"

Manufactured with every possible sanitary precaution.

of two eggs, one cup of EGG-O-SEE. Sweeten to taste,

My vim I owe to nought beside—
Why, it 's made a man o' me!

"I'd think you'd tire," the man observed.

"What! Tire of EGG-O-SEE?"

cious food.

It makes me brisk and bright—
At home we all eat EGG-O-SEE
Morning—noon—and night.

Palatable, nutritive and digestible.

He's as strong as he can be;
He says that EGG-O-SEE is great
For men—an' girls—an' me."

Eaten with relish at every meal.
