A Century of Ontario Broadsides, 1793-1893

A Typographic exhibition in the Toronto Public Library
June, 1965

INTRODUCTION — “The Office of Printer,” wrote Upper Canada’s first Lieutenant Governor in 1791, “seems to be of the utmost importance,” and from Simcoe’s time to the present, his comment has remained valid. Not the least significant of the Ontario printer’s work was the broadside — a sheet of paper printed on one side only, which today we would call a poster or announcement. As a handmaid to literacy and an essential supplement to the weekly or bi-weekly newspaper, the broadside has always been used for a wide variety of purposes, among them government notices; electioneering publicity; sales, transportation and entertainment advertisements; and announcements of all kinds. From a study of them we can watch the development of the printer’s skill, the advancement of his techniques, and the variations of public taste.

The history of the broadside in Ontario parallels the history of printing. The first printing press in the province was established at Niagara under government auspices by a 22 year old French Canadian from Quebec, Louis Roy. He arrived before the end of 1792, and by late January or early February, 1793, he was able to begin work. Two of the earliest examples from his press are included in this exhibition — one or other of them may well be the first printing in Ontario. Roy’s task, like that of later King’s Printers was primarily to print government publications. In 1799 Gideon and Sylvester Tiffany, former King’s Printers, established the first private press in Ontario at Niagara, the government press having followed the transfer of the capital to York (Toronto). Another unofficial press was set up in Kingston in 1810. Notable successors to Louis Roy at York were John Bennett and John Cameron. It was not until after the War of 1812, however, that the number of presses in the province really began to increase. After 1827 paper made in Ontario was available for the first time, and the amount of printed material doubled and tripled yearly from then on. By 1836 there were at least 38 presses at work in 21 different places. In Toronto alone there were at least ten printers, including R. Stanton, C. Fothergill, W. J. Coates, G. Gurnett, John F. Rogers, Henry Rowsell, M. Reynolds, J. H. Lawrence and W. L. Mackenzie. Many of them published a newspaper, as well as reports, books, pamphlets, and all sorts of ephemeral publications.

By 1893 almost every town in Ontario had its press, and the larger centres had a great number of them capable of all types of work. The average printing office had grown from 1793 when Roy worked alone to 1890 when over 2,000 people were employed in the 74 printing trade establishments in Toronto, and others worked in Hamilton, Windsor, London, Kingston and Ottawa.

The early printers in Ontario used the crude wooden hand press, with Caslon type. Most of them used the type long after it was badly worn, because of their isolation from sources of supply, and also because of their shaky financial backing. In the 1830’s the introduction of the iron printing press was the first of many innovations which were to revolutionize the printing industry. As techniques changed, so too did fashion in typefaces. The earliest broadsides were very close to book pages in style and typeface.

The introduction of bold face and fat face type changed all that — it has been called “the biggest break in typographic styles since the beginning of printing.” Although criticized by classicists, it made possible the flamboyance and dramatic effect of the Victorian posters, and separated forever the style of the book from the style of the broadside. As to be expected, the use of the new typefaces in Ontario lagged behind that in England and the United States, where the fonts would have to be bought. Even one of the earliest innovations, the abandonment of the long ‘s’ which had been generally superseded in England by 1800, did not occur here until after the War of 1812. The new display types made their first appearance in Ontario in the 1820’s, although they were in use in England from 1803. This exhibit has been chosen from over 600 Ontario broadsides of the period in the collections of the Toronto Public Library. The descriptive notes have been prepared by Miss Edith G. Firth, head of Manuscripts and Canadian History Section of the Central Library. Mr. Larry Ryan mounted the exhibition, and photographs for the catalogue have been prepared by Mr. Wallace Bonner. Mr. Douglas Lochhead of Massey College and Mr. Leslie Smart have both assisted greatly in the identification of typefaces.

The exhibit and catalogue are presented by the Toronto Public Library Board in the hope that the study of this neglected field of Canadiana may awaken fresh interest in our province’s past.

1. GOVERNMENT NOTICE 1793

22.5 x 14.7 cm. [Louis Roy, Niagara]

One of the earliest examples of printing in Ontario, published in the first month after the establishment of the press. It is set in Caslon Old Face, and owes much in general style to the traditional book page format of the time. It announces a resolution of the Executive Council concerning the securing of land titles in Ontario.

2. PROCLAMATION 1793

32.7 x 18.7 cm. [Louis Roy, Niagara]

Another very early item printed by Roy in February, 1793. It postpones the second session of the first legislature from February 8 to March 18, 1793. The session actually opened at Niagara on May 31, 1793.

A PROCLAMATION,

To such as are desirous to settle on the lands of the crown in the Province of UPPER CANADA;

BY HIS EXCELLENCY

John Graves Simcoe, Esquire;

Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief of the said Province, and Colonel Commanding His Majesty's Forces, &c. &c. &c.

BE IT KNOWN to all concerned, that his majesty hath, by his royal commission and instructions to the governor, and in his absence the lieutenant governor or person administering the government for the time being, of the said Province of Upper Canada, given authority and command to grant the lands of the crown in the same by patent under the great seal thereof; and it being expedient to publish and declare the royal intention respecting such grants and patents, I do accordingly hereby make known the terms of grant and settlement to be:

FIRST—That the crown lands to be granted be parcel of township: if an island township, of ten miles square, and if a township on navigable waters, of nine miles in front and twelve miles in depth, be run out and marked by his majesty's surveyor or deputy surveyor general, or under his direction and authority.

SECOND—That only such part of the township be granted as shall remain, after a reservation of one seventh part thereof, for the support of a protestant clergy, and one other seventh part thereof, for the future disposition of the crown.

THIRD—That no land shall be granted to any one person which shall contain more than two hundred acres; yet the governor, lieutenant governor or person administering the government, is allowed and permitted to grant to any person or persons such further quantity of land as they may desire, not exceeding one thousand acres, over and above what may have been before granted to them.

FOURTH—That every petitioner for lands make it appear, that he or she is in a condition to cultivate and improve the same, and shall, before taking the usual oath, subscribe a declaration (before proper persons to be for that purpose appointed) of the tenor of the words following, viz. "I A. B. do promise and declare that I will maintain and defend to the utmost of my power the authority of the King in his parliament as the supreme legislature of this Province."

FIFTH—That applications for grants be made by petition to the governor, lieutenant governor, or person administering the government for the time being, & where it is advisable to grant the prayer thereof a warrant shall issue to the proper officer for a survey thereof, returnable within six months with a plot annexed, and be followed with a patent granting the same, if desired, in free and common socage, upon the terms and conditions in the royal instructions expressed, and herein after forepassed.

SIXTH—That all grants relate to the crown, all coals, commonly called coal, and mines of gold, silver, copper, tin, iron, and lead; and each patent contain a clause for the reservation of timber for the royal navy of the tenor following: "And provided also, that no part of the tract or parcel of land hereby granted to the said and his heirs, be within any reservation heretofore made and marked for us, our heirs and successors, by our surveyor general of woods, or his lawful deputy; in which case, this our grant for such part of the land hereby given and granted to the said and his heirs forever as shall be found within any such reservation, shall be null and void, any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding."

SEVENTH—That the two sevenths reserved for the crown's future disposition, and the support of a protestant clergy, be not severed tracts, each of one seventh part of the township, but such lots or farms therein, as the surveyor-general's return of the survey of the township, shall be directed as set apart for these purposes, between the other tracts of which the said township shall consist, to the intent that the lands to be reserved may be nearly of the like value with an equal quantity of the other parts to be granted out as aforesaid.

EIGHTH—That the respective patentees are to take the estates granted to them severally free of quit rent and of any other expences, than such fees as are or may be allowed to be demanded and received by the different officers concerned in passing the patent and recording the same, to be stated in a table authorized and established by the government, and publicly fixed up in the several offices of the clerk of the council, of the surveyor general, and of the secretary of the Province.

NINTH—That every patent be entered upon record within six months from the date thereof, in the secretary's or register's office, and a docket thereof in the auditor's office.

TENTH—Whenever it shall be thought advisable to grant any given quantity to one person of one thousand acres or under, and the same cannot be found by reason of the said reservations and prior grants within the township in the petition expressed, the same, or what shall be requisite to make up to such person the quantity desired, shall be located to him, in some other township, upon a new petition for that purpose to be preferred.

And of the said several regulations, all persons concerned are to take notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

Given under my hand and seal, in the city of Quebec, the seventh day of February, in the thirty-second year of his majesty's reign, and in the year of Our Lord, one thousand, seven hundred and ninety-two.

6. PROCLAMATION 1812

QUETTON ST. GEORGE AND CO.

Mr. St. GEORGE begs leave to return his thanks to his Friends and the Public for their very liberal support to him since his first establishment in Business at this place; and also to inform them that he has now taken Messrs. JULIUS QUESNEL and JOHN S. BALDWIN into Copartnership, and that the business of the Concern will in future be carried on under the name of Quetton St. George & Co.

The new Firm takes this opportunity of expressing their hope that Mr. St. George's old Customers will continue their favors towards them, and of assuring them that every attention shall be paid to their wishes and commands; and also at the same time to inform them and the Public at large, that they have now an extensive assortment of Goods of the first quality immediately imported from England, from whence they will continue to import a constant supply—they flatter themselves that their prices will not be higher than those of other Merchants.

York, December 10, 1814.

N. B. Mr. St. George requests those indebted to him to make their payments without delay—and that all those to whom he is indebted will present their Accounts to him immediately, or at farthest before the first day of May next, as he purports to make a voyage to Europe in the course of the next Summer.

He has for sale a Mare and Colt; a double Harness, plated; a Pleasure Sleigh with Robes, Cushions, &c.

7. BUSINESS NOTICE 1814
12.3 x 14.1 cm. [John Cameron, York?]

Printed under wartime conditions, the type and format of this little handbill are both reminiscent of eighteenth century printing, and contrast with the next item. Laurent Quetton St. George was a French royalist emigré who established a chain of shops in Ontario and became very wealthy. Jules Quesnel was a Montreal merchant and John Spread Baldwin was an uncle of Hon. Robert Baldwin. St. George returned to France after the restoration of 1815.

Dissolution of COPARTNERSHIP.

The Public is hereby informed, that the Partnership heretofore carried on, under the firm of HELLIWELL, EASTWOOD & Co.
was dissolved on the Twentyfirst day of October One thousand eight hundred and twentytwo; and I hereby notify the Public that I will not be answerable for any debt or debts that have been contracted in the name of the said Partnership concern from that date

8. BUSINESS NOTICE 1823
15.2 x 16.8 cm. [John Carey, York?]

The contrast between this notice and the previous one shows the change created by the introduction of a bold face type used here in the title and signature. Thomas Helliwell was a Yorkshireman who established a brewery and distillery at Todmorden in 1821; his brother-in-law, John Eastwood also had mills in the area, and in 1827 established there the second paper mill in Ontario.

9. SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENT 1823
14.5 x 13.5 cm. [Andrew Heron, Niagara?]

Although the new display types had probably not yet reached Niagara, the printer here has used one line of black letter, in an attempt to achieve the same effect. This school was typical of those available for the education of girls in early Ontario.

S. THOMPSON'S BOOKS!
Beware of Wooden Nutmegs!!

When Americans friendly to our institutions, come into this colony to settle amongst us, to bear a part of our burthens and to lead a life of honest industry as farmers, mechanics, merchants, &c. we hail them as brothers. For if the United States are not afraid of receiving 10,000 idle or discontented British and Irish every year--and then--neither is John Bull likely to become alarmed at a small importation of Jonathan into British America. But when we see Yankee wooden clock peddlars, wooden nutmeg gentry, lottery ticket vendors, pretended hawkers of the lives of La Fayette and Washington, by subscription, and others of that stamp, openly gulping our neighbours out of their hard earned dollars to increase the coffers of Baltimore and Connecticut gamblers and cheats, and to impoverish the poor inhabitants of this infant colony, depress and ruin our mechanics and artists, and injure our commerce with Britain, we perform an imperative duty by exposing them to the just indignation of every friend to this country.

We have warned the public that one S. Thompson, lately from and of the United States, preacher and pedlar--had gone about the country and obtained 100 subscribers for a quarto bible to be printed on home made paper, in Upper Canada, to cost five or six dollars, and that he had told the people they were subscribing for the first Canada edition of the scriptures,--as also, that he had since expressed to us and others his intention of palming on his subscribers some Yankee stereotype edition in place of the Canadian one for which they had signed.

We have now to state that this Thompson has his Yankee books nearly ready printed, wherewith to impose upon his signers, and that he expects to bring them across the Niagara in a few days.

Thompson says in an advertisement that our former statement was unsafe and FALSE: this is impudent enough on his part. We refer to Mr. John Eastwood, paper maker, Mr. Francis Collins, printer, (who published his advertisement) and Mr. Maxwell, cabinet maker, all of York--and if need be we can bring 100 credible witnesses to prove that this person has been guilty in form and manner as charged in our late indictment.

We wish the country well, and therefore offer a timely caution to all manner of persons against having any thing to do with this Thompson's Yankee Bibles and Testaments.

There was an act passed in London on the 26th July 1825, (6th Geo. IV. Cap. 114.) by which "books, such as are prohibited to be imported into the United Kingdom," are "prohibited to be imported" into Upper Canada "from foreign parts. Bibles and Testaments in the English language are permanent every right works in the hands of the King's printers and the two universities, and may not be lawfully imported into the United Kingdom, consequently cannot be admitted from the United States into Canada." And if Thompson shall attempt to smuggle them in, contrary to the true and evident intent and meaning of the above imperial act, he may rest assured that we and others our associates will look sharply after him, as we are well aware that there is no collector of the customs who dare admit them to pay 30 per cent duty contrary to law.

 † The Bible could be printed in England by any one formerly--but in the reign of Charles the large edition was struck off and circulated, with the omission of the word "and" in the 7th commandment, by which it read "Thou shalt commit adultery." The edition was all bought in and Archbishop Laud procured the passage of an act whereby spurious editions could not be printed as before. In the United States any man may print the bible, and very incorrect copies are printed and circulated there, but these are strictly prohibited from being imported into England, or her colonies for sale.

GENTLEMEN,

I have been nominated by a public Meeting, as a Candidate for your suffrages at the ensuing Election. In this important and alarming crisis, lest I should fail in performing my duty to my country, I have consented to the nomination. I am therefore ready to obey your voice, and should you think proper to return me as your Representative in Parliament, my most earnest endeavours will be faithfully to represent your feelings and opinions, and carefully to watch over and protect your rights and liberties.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your very sincere well-wisher,

11. ELECTION NOTICE 1828
 17.8 x 17.5 cm. Francis Collins, York

In 1828 the dismissal of Judge Willis created great excitement. The 24 year old Robert Baldwin first ran for parliament in that year, but was defeated by two Radicals, William Lyon Mackenzie and Jesse Ketchum.

12. POLITICAL MEETING 1828

The early newspapers were very outspoken. In the troubled politics of 1828 a Reform editor, Francis Collins, was convicted of libel against Attorney General Robinson, and sentenced to a year's imprisonment and a fine of £50. This was issued the day after sentence was passed.

13. POLITICAL MEETING 1832
 18.1 x 14.8 cm. [Anon.]

The use of fat face type gradually increased through the 1830's. In this broadside William Morris, a Perth merchant and member of parliament, calls a political meeting in his riding.

Sir--I have this morning received a communication from Doct. GILPIN of Brantford, stating he was called to visit Three cases, which he considers exhibited characters of Spasmodic Cholera. The following is a report I submit to the Board of Health, on the above cases:

28. REBELLION LOSSES 1849
34.1 x 10.5 cm. [Anon., Picton?]

A rather old-fashioned use of type. The Rebellion Losses Bill was to indemnify all losses suffered in Lower Canada during the Rebellion by anyone, loyal or rebel. It caused much excitement in Upper Canada on political grounds, although this broadside from Prince Edward County is more concerned with cost.

30. LOTTERY, ST. GEORGE 1849 152.6 x 52 cm. Brantford Courier Office, Brantford

A huge broadside. Lotteries were a common means of raising money in the last century. Here the proprietor of the Temperance House at St. George proposes to dispose of his property by selling tickets for $1.00. The first prize was his hotel, and the other prizes his less valuable possessions. He had to sell 4500 tickets; since the draw was postponed at least once, he was apparently having difficulty.

32. LEASE 1849 86.7 x 39.7 cm. Rowsell & Thompson, Toronto

The cottage offered for rent by John George Howard may have been Sunnyside, a villa on Lake Shore Road that Howard finally sold in 1853. The lime kilns at the foot of Bathurst Street were probably used in the erection of the lunatic asylum, and were torn down with the coming of the railroad along the waterfront.

TOWAGE

RIVER ST. LAWRENCE.

In order that there may be no misunderstanding respecting the precedence which Lake Craft are to have, during the Season, over Barges, &c., the following explanation is given:

In all cases the Tow taken on at the end of the line is to be carried through, whether it be Vessels or Barges. If, on the route, a Lake Craft should be met with at one of the Way Stations waiting to be Towed, no part of the Tow previously taken on is to be cast off to take in such Lake Craft; but it must be so arranged as that this Lake Craft shall be taken on the next turn.

In cases of a Tow taking on a full Tow at Lachine, say part Barges, and part Schooners, as they cannot all be brought together from Pickensville Landing to Kingston, the Schooners are first to be brought up to Prescott and left there, while the Tow goes back to bring up the remainder of the Tow left at DeLacour's Landing, and then all are to be brought on together to Kingston, unless it should be desired to sail the Schooners up.

The hour for starting will be SIX o'clock, A.M., when the Tow will be taken on of Vessels in readiness, but is not to be detained by waiting for others, only those moving through the Canals or getting up to their Berths.

In all cases the Masters of the Vessels must have on hand the means wherewith to pay the Towage, otherwise such Vessels are not to be taken in Tow without the previous consent of, or arrangement with, Messrs. CALVIN & COOK.

Secretary.

He often arranged concerts like this one, with other music teachers and gifted amateurs. At these concerts some of his own compositions were played.

A large poster, using fat face, Egyptian and American Tuscan typefaces. The Mayor of Toronto called a public meeting in St. Lawrence Hall to consider the proposed Georgian Bay Canal, which would connect Toronto, Lake Simcoe and Georgian Bay. With the development of the railroads and the technical difficulties involved in the required 600 feet of lockage, the plan was never carried out.

The cut is of a typical lake steamer of the time. The Canadian Inland Steam Navigation Company took over the Royal Mail Line in 1857. By 1862 the competition of the railroads was beginning to be felt by the steamship lines, who had earlier enjoyed a virtual monopoly of freight transport.

Wooden Grecian X Condensed type is used for "Woollen Works." This mill in Paisley carded the wool brought in by the farmers, for spinning and weaving at home. The cloth was then returned to the mill for fulling. The mill employed a professional carder from Barber & Bros.' mill which had produced the first commercial cloth in Ontario in 1837 at Georgetown.

A number of types are used here, including an American Tuscan and Grecian X Condensed wooden types. After the ending of the Reciprocity Treaty with the United States in 1866, the high price of cheese created a mania for cheese factories. By the summer of 1867 there were about 235 in Ontario, but the price of cheese slumped and there were too many factories too close together. Sales like this one became common.

Marietta Ravel was a descendant of a famous French family of acrobats and pantomimists who rose to prominence in the late eighteenth century, and first visited America in 1832. She joined the family troupe as a child, and later became famous both as an acrobat and as an actress.

H. McKENZIE,

Although there had been several short term bankruptcy acts earlier, the first “permanent” Insolvency Act in Canada was passed in 1875, and applied to traders only. It included the then controversial discharge of the bankrupt’s remaining liabilities after he had surrendered his property to his creditors. Despite its intended permanence, this act was repealed in 1880.

A typical example of poor workmanship, with uneven inking, and the grain of the wood showing clearly in the wood typefaces. It announces a mortgage sale of a farm near Woodstock. The Canadian economy suffered a depression after 1873, which caused many such sales.

Before the establishment of the modern Thanksgiving many churches held Harvest Home festivals. At Trinity Church, Thornhill, there was a weekday church service followed by tea and an address on the church's history. Trinity is now the oldest Anglican church building still in use in the Toronto diocese, having been built in 1830.

In August, 1884, Lord Wolseley, who had served in Canada and was in command of the British troops fighting in Sudan, suggested to the Governor General the organization of a volunteer corps of voyageurs to aid his army in the navigation of the Nile. Nearly 400 boatmen were recruited from Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba. This was the first time that a Canadian contingent took part in an overseas war.

 63.8 x 47 cm. [Anon., Toronto]

An effective use of French Clarendon wooden typeface for "Niagara Falls." The York Pioneer and Historical Society was founded in 1869 for the study and preservation of the history of the Home District. Here they celebrate Queen Victoria's fiftieth jubilee by one of Toronto's favorite pastimes of the period — a cruise across the lake to Niagara Falls.

NOTICE.
 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the following townships in the district of Nipissing, viz. PECK, HUNTER, DEVINE, BIGGAR, WILKES, CANISBAY, McLAUGHLIN, BISHOP, OSLER, PENTLAND, SPROULE, BOWER, FRESWICK, LISTER, PRESTON, DICKSON, ANGLIN and DEACON have been set aside as a public park, forest reservation and fish and game preserve, under the name of "The Algonquin National Park of Ontario," by virtue of 56 Vic, chap. 8. The said Act strictly prohibits:
 1. Carrying or using firearms or explosives within the Park, except as provided by regulations.
 2. Hunting or trapping therein.
 3. Fishing with net, trap, spear or night line.
 4. Fishing with hook or line without license from the Commissioner of Crown Lands.
 5. Mining exploration or prospecting for minerals.
 The Superintendent of the Park and the Park Rangers are charged with the duty of enforcing the said Act, and are empowered to arrest and bring to trial or remove from the Park, any person found violating the same, or carrying or having in his possession any fishing nets, traps, spears or night lines, firearms or explosives, and to seize and confiscate the same.
 The penalty for violating the said Act is a fine not exceeding $100 for each offence, or in default of payment thereof, imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.
 All persons are required to govern themselves accordingly.
 The co-operation of the public is invited in preserving the timber, game and natural beauty of the Park, and in carrying out the objects for which it has been established.
 A. S. HARDY,
 Commissioner of Crown Lands.
 Toronto, 27th Sept., 1893.

64.

63. DOMINION DAY 1890
 86.3 x 25.9 cm. Mail Office, Toronto

Printed in red and blue inks, this broadside is particularly gay and colourful. The summer carnival in Toronto, June 30 to July 3, 1890, was an expansion of earlier Dominion Day celebrations, with parades, sports, concerts, illuminations, and fireworks. As the Globe said, such a Dominion Day celebration "is one of the brightest bits of prophesy vouchsafed us in these days of threatened doubt and discord."

64. GOVERNMENT NOTICE 1893
 29.2 x 36.2 cm. [Queen's Printer, Toronto]

Printed on sturdy white cotton, this broadside sets out the regulations for the establishment of Algonquin Park. Thus this exhibition, which began with a government notice concerning the granting of lands in a more or less empty province, ends with one concerning the preservation of a large section of land from individual grants in a province now fairly well populated.
