

THE TORONTO ACADEMY.

THE great objects, for the attainment of which the Toronto Academy was originally established in 1845, and is still maintained, may be briefly stated as follows:—

1.—That the Pupils, in all departments of their Education, should be placed under the care and training of Masters of a decidedly Christian character—whose instructions and deportment should be pervaded by, and diffusive of, a Christian spirit.

2.—That Bible instruction should form a fundamental part of the course, and be continued in a regular systematic manner, so that the Pupil should eventually go forth, possessed of a thorough knowledge of the contents of the Sacred Volume.

3.—That the course of Education should be so arranged in its several departments, English, Classical, Mathematical, and Commercial, as that so undue prepossession should be given to any one of them, to the neglect of others, but that such exerting his just measure of time and attention, the various mental faculties of the Pupil might be duly cultivated, and their proper balance in his future character secured.

4.—That the course of Education, and all the practical arrangements of the Seminary should be, as far as possible, adapted to the peculiar circumstances and wants of the community in this young country—and especially to those of young men of piety and talents, desirous of obtaining the preliminary training necessary to fit them for the Philosophical and Theological studies, preparatory to the work of the Holy Ministry.

5.—That a Boarding House should be provided in connection with the School, worthy of the confidence of Parents and Guardians,—the vigilant, affectionate, and Christian superintendence of the young being secured in its regulations and administration.

Such are the leading objects which it is sought to attain in this Institution; and for the attainment of these, under the Divine blessing, no pains shall be spared by the present Managers.

Extract from a Speech delivered by the Rev. Henry Everett, at the opening of the Academy, 1st September, 1884.

"It was my privilege to be present during the Examinations of this Institution (the Toronto Academy), on also on the interesting occasion on which prizes were distributed to many of the most meritorious before me—and without any disposition towards flattery either the Teachers or the Academy, I can in all sincerity say, that I never witnessed in any Institution of the kind in Great Britain, or Examination which, taken on the whole, was so satisfactory. Every department was in the highest state of efficiency. Professor Keesee, who has presided over you, has directed your attention to two branches, in which I feel especially interested. The first is History, ancient and modern—the second is Scripture Literature. Teaching the former, I may say that the system is new to me, and yet it is really so simple and so thorough, that I am astonished it has not been, so far as I know, adopted in any other Seminary. The discipline connected with the study of History, is by this system entirely removed, and the rise, progress, and fall of nations and empires, so plainly mapped out before the Pupils' eyes, as to bring out at one glance the fact and philosophy of this department of knowledge—and engrave them indelibly on the juvenile mind. God has given us these revelations of Himself, not in nature, and nature's philosophy expounds it; one in Poetisms, and History expounds it; one in games, and the Bible expounds it. Science, History, and Scripture, are all appropriately and efficiently taught in this Institution. Teaching the latter branch, I cannot speak too highly of the place assigned to Bible learning in an Institution which pretends to give instruction in the highest knowledge. The Bible is a school-book here, just as it ought to be—and it is truly a book of wisdom: a book of philosophy, as well as of revealed fact. The system of education which is not based upon the Bible, is defective. The scheme that banishes God's Word from our public Institutions of learning, virtually banishes God himself from them; give the Bible its place in the school and you bless the nation; banish it, and you cast a blight over the nation. With the ancient classical department of instruction in this Academy I am much pleased—the standard of classical learning is high."

The following is an extract from the letter of a Correspondent of the "Glean," who was present at the late Examinations, and took part in the Exercises:—

"The system of teaching in the leading branches is most efficient. The Pupils are taught to think: and the aim of the Teachers seems to be, rather to drill the children in principles, than merely to exercise their faculty of memory, without any regard to the judgment. . . . The examination on Euclid and Algebra was most satisfactory—especially the former. . . . The competition in English, Latin, and Arithmetic, and the excellence in French, French-Script, Music and Drawing, reflect the highest credit on the Institution, and without any attempt to over-estimate the merits of the Academy, your correspondent would certainly not fully hesitate to say, that the Toronto Academy, if not the most, is certainly one of the most, efficient Institutions of its kind in British America."

From the Toronto Examiner.

"The system of teaching General History, introduced by Mr. Hanning, has met with the greatest credit. Indeed, in the various departments of Mathematics, French, English, Arithmetic, Music, Drawing, &c., the proficiency of the students, was sufficient indication of the talent and industry displayed in their training."
