VISIT TO THE BIRDS AND BEASTS.

To see the WILD BEASTS, with old John for our guide,
On our two pretty ponies we merrily ride.

The OSTRICHES tall, with long necks and long legs,
As we all of us know, lay those very large eggs.

Old my - what boy log and what way my boy
They run to the happy the moment he

They run to the keeper, the moment he speaks.
Oh! my!—what long legs, and what very long beaks!

I never saw DINNER so served up before,—
Why, bones in a barrow, to strew on the floor!

BEARS, TIGERS, and LEOPARDS, are growling for more;
And KING LION joins in, with a terrible roar.

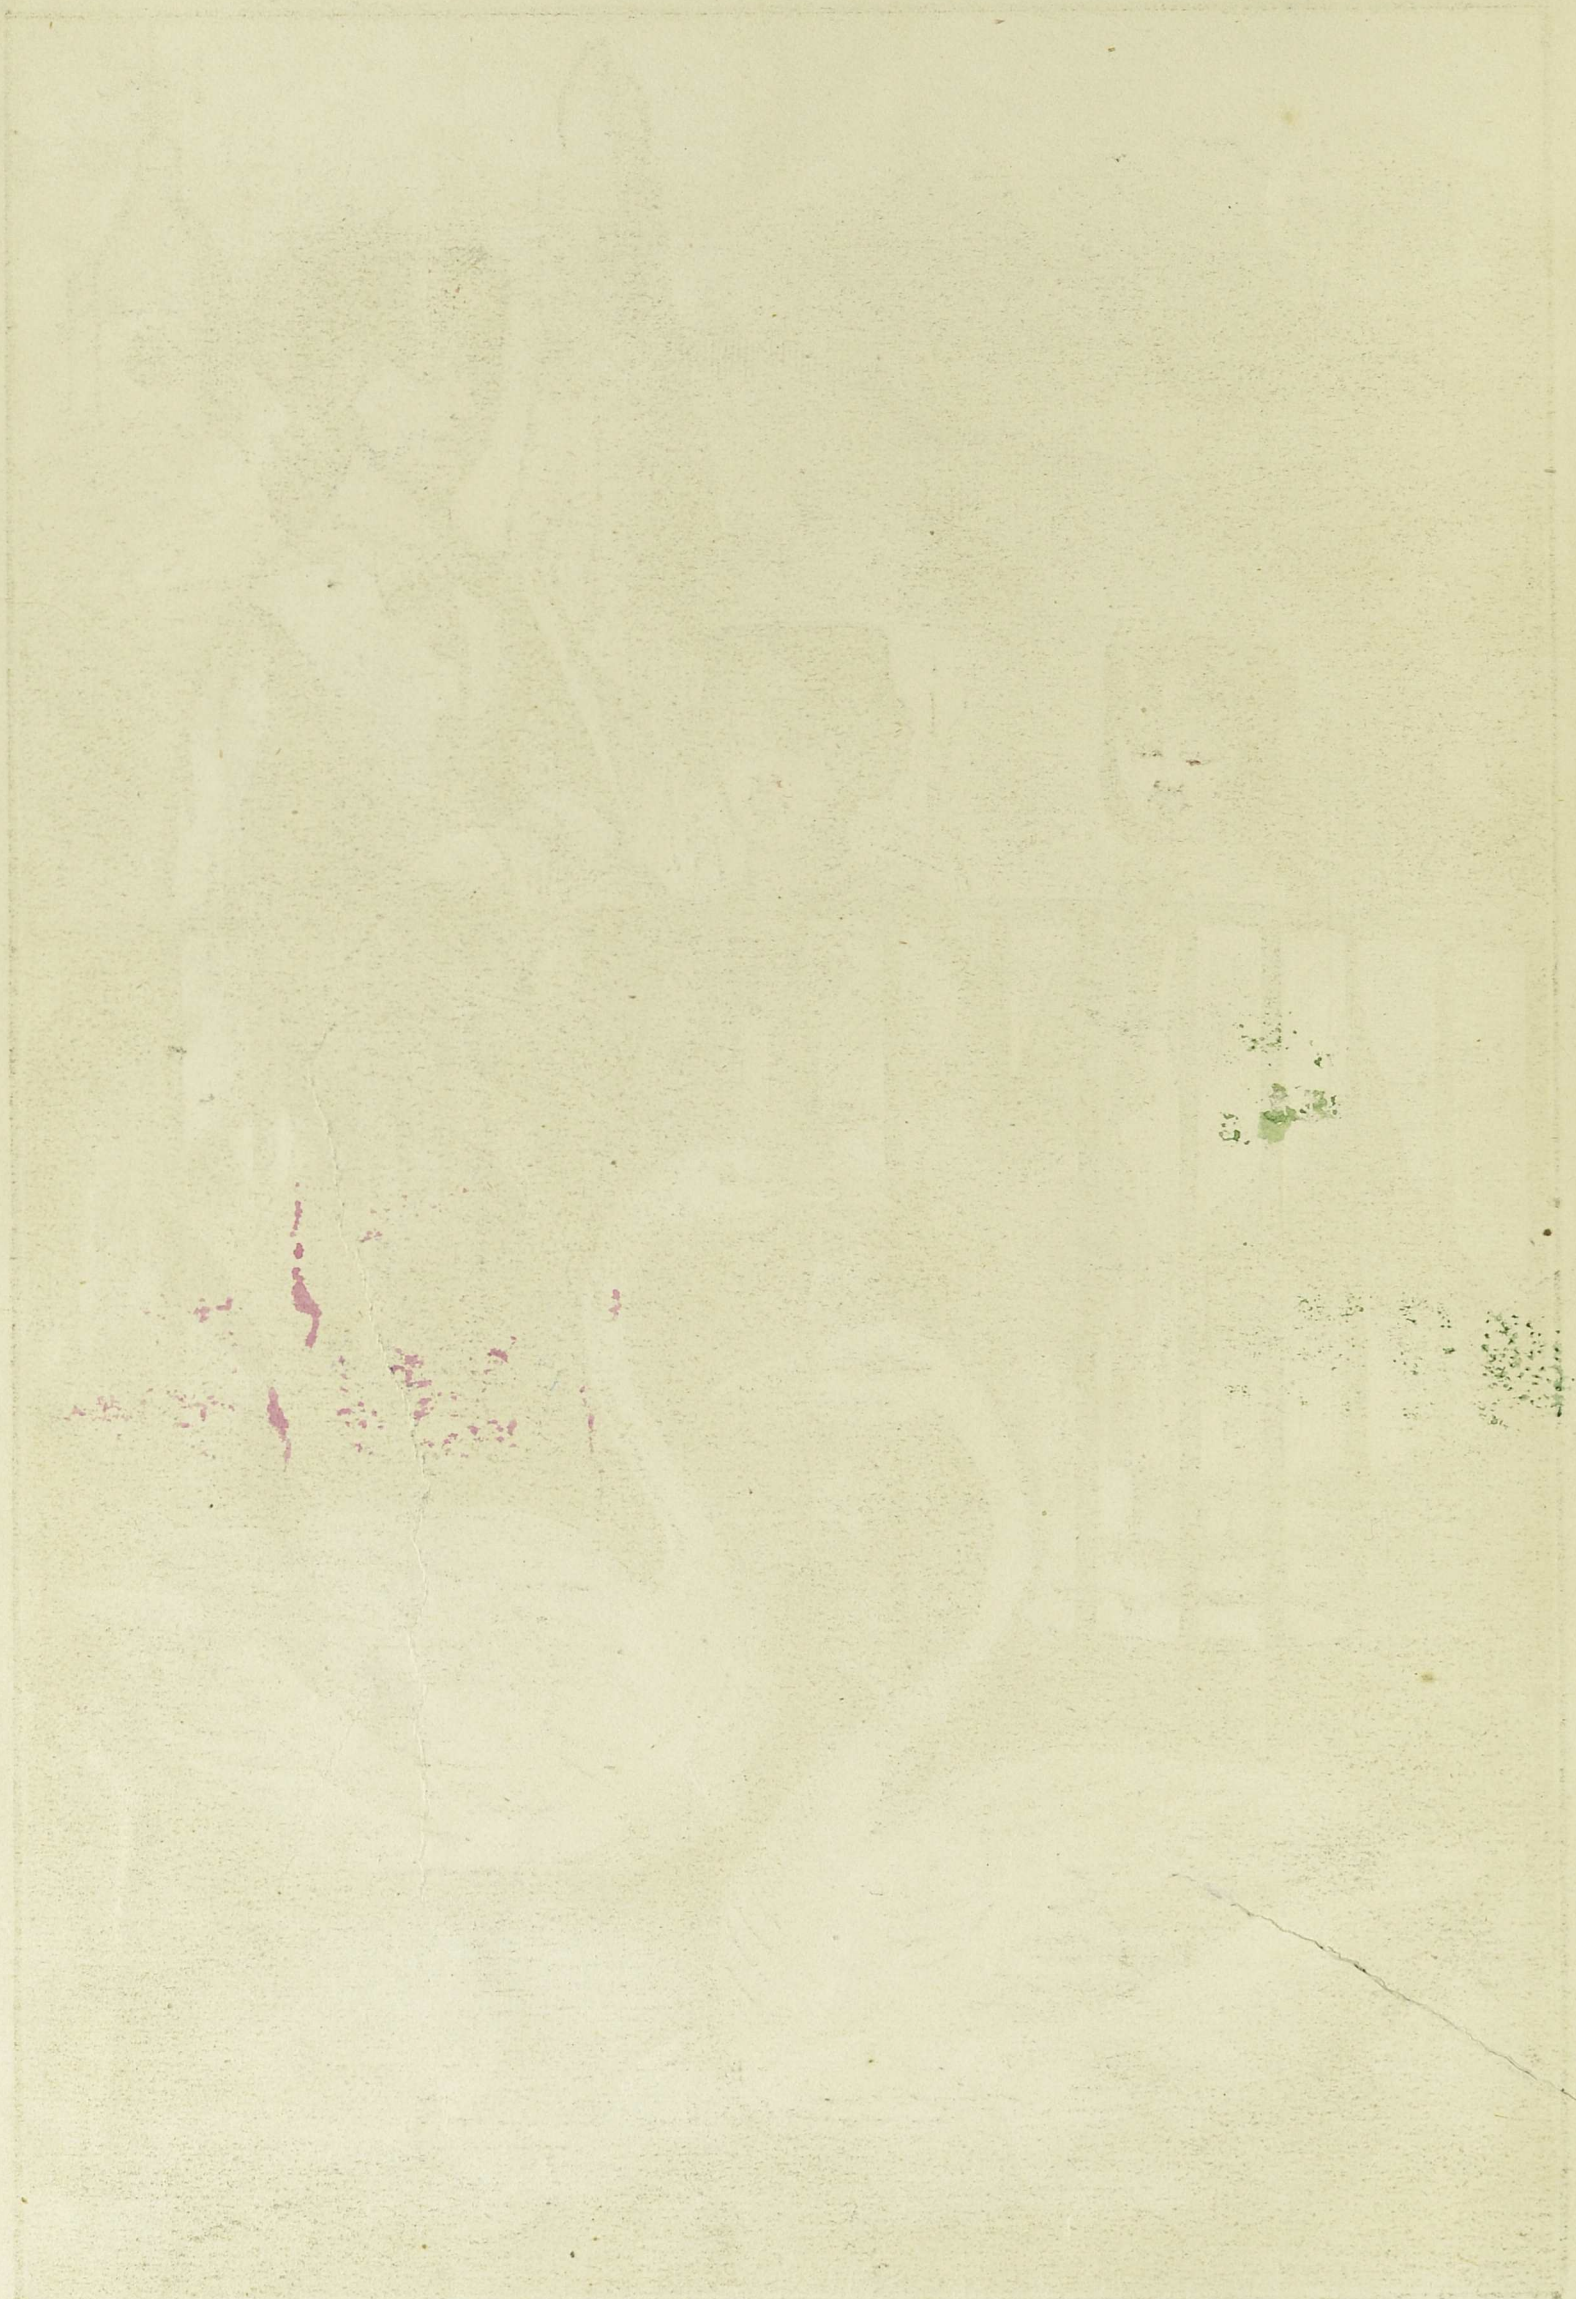

See, here are the SWANS, swimming over the lake.
If I had one, I'd give them a biscuit or cake.

It is not only a matter of time, but also of space. The time and the space are the same, but the space is different. It is not only a matter of time, but also of space. The time and the space are the same, but the space is different.

To see a BEAR climb up a pole, was so funny,
I thought that, alone, well worth all the money.

Our visit we ended, and, pleased with each sight,
Left London by Railway, the very same night.
