Tho' slighted and scorn'd by the proud and the strong,
The language of Cambria still charms us in song;
The Awen survives, nor have envious tales,
Yet silence'd the harp of dear Wales.

 More dreadful from each foreign stroke,
 As the loud blast, the blast that tears the skies,
 Serves but to root thy native oak.
4. These haughty tyrants ne'er shall tame;
 All their attempts to bend thee down
 Will but arouse thy generous flame;
 But work their woe and thy renown.

5. To thee belongs the rural reign;
 Thy cities shall with commerce shine;
 All thine shall be the subject-main:
 And every shore it circles thine.

NEW ZEALAND.

2. Her never the fever-mist shrouding,
Nor drought of the desert may blight,
Nor pall of dun smoke overclouding
Vast cities of clamour and night,
But the voice of abundance of waters,
In valleys that bright rivers lave,
Greets her children, the sons and the daughters
Of sunshine and wave.
3. Lo! here where each league hath its fountains
In isles of deep fern and tall pine,
And breezes snow-cooled on the mountains,
Or keen from the limitless brine;
See men to the battlefield pressing,
To conquer one foe—the stern soil,
Their kingship in labour expressing,
Their lordship in toil.

4. Though young, they are heirs of the ages;
Though few, they are freemen and peers;
Plain workers—yet sure of the wages,
Slow destiny pays with the years,
Though least they and latest their nation,
Yet this they have won without sword,
That Woman and Man shall have station,
And Labour be lord.
5. The winds of the sea and high heaven
Speed pure to her kissed by the foam,
The steeds of her ocean undriven,
Unbitted and riderless roam,
And clear from her lamp newly lighted
Shall stream o'er the billows upcurled,
A light as of wrongs at length righted,
Of hope to the world.

scene, And brows-ing game up—on the land adds beau-ty to the scene.

3. The country homes of Africa, where are their equals found?
A welcome always greets the ear, and gladness reigns around;
And as one cozily reclines upon the snow-white fleece,
He feels a thrill of thankfulness, of gratitude, and peace.

4. Then should we not love Africa, and speak of her with pride,
And hang to her and cling to her whatever may betide?
And though we yield to other lands the palm for scenes of mirth,
Our song shall be for Africa—the land that gave us birth!
