TORONTO AND EARLY CANADA

*A Catalogue of the Toronto and Early Canada Picture Collection
in the Toronto Public Library
Landmarks of Canada, volume 3*

PUBLISHED BY THE BAXTER PUBLISHING COMPANY
IN CO-OPERATION WITH THE TORONTO PUBLIC LIBRARY
TORONTO. 1964

INTRODUCTION

Over forty years ago the late John Ross Robertson gave to the Toronto Public Library his collection of more than 4,000 Canadian historical pictures. These were catalogued in Landmarks of Canada, a Guide to the John Ross Robertson Collection, 2v., 1917-21. Since that time the Library has acquired many additional Canadian historical pictures, which now make up the Toronto and Early Canada Picture Collection. The Toronto Public Library Board wishes to make these pictures as widely known as those in the older collection, and this catalogue has therefore been prepared.

All types of pictures are included — oil paintings, water-colours, sketches, engravings, etchings, lithographs, photographs. As in the John Ross Robertson Collection, pictures in the Toronto and Early Canada Picture Collection have been chosen for their historical interest and importance, rather than for their aesthetic value. Sometimes, of course, a picture has both historical and artistic merit; there are many such pictures listed in this catalogue. The historian, however, can often learn much from a tasteless contemporary daub, or from a blurred and technically poor photograph; these also have been included.

Most of the pictures in this catalogue have been given to the Library by public-spirited citizens who realized that their old pictures and photographs had historical value. The growth and importance of the collection, in the future as in the past, depend upon the generosity of our citizens.

Many of the pictures are to be found in scrapbooks and albums in the Library. Particularly important sources for Toronto pictures are the scrapbooks compiled by John Ross Robertson, and the T. A. Reed collection. Other albums indexed in this catalogue include volumes of photographs by H. L. Hime, William Notman, Fred Dally, and W. J. Topley, and two scrapbooks of watercolours by Titus Hibbert Ware.

One of the problems in compiling this catalogue has been caused by the tremendous development of photography and photoprinting processes over the last fifty years. Advances in this field have made good photographs and half-tone reproductions extremely common. For this reason we have not included in this catalogue any photographs after 1914.

We have also omitted all non-Canadian pictures. Architectural plans are not included, nor are pictures from easily identified books and magazines. Portraits have been omitted, to be the subject of a separate publication later.

The arrangement of this catalogue is topographical for the majority of pictures. Because of the emphasis on Toronto in the collection, pictures of Toronto are listed first. Besides the geographical groupings, there are several smaller subject sections, such as Indians, sports, vessels, etc. Dimensions are given in inches. Each picture has a location symbol at the end of the entry. An index of artists, engravers, lithographers, photographers and publishers is provided, as well as a general subject index. The catalogue is the work of Madeline Cartwright, Edith Firth, Michael Pearson, Larry Ryan, and Alan Suddon. Cover designed by Richard Janis, with photography by Wallace Bonner, and is printed by the Baxter Publishing Company.

It is the hope of the Toronto Public Library Board that the publication of this catalogue will enable more people to make use of the Toronto and Early Canada Picture Collection. More than any other medium, pictures can make the past come alive. For this reason their study will help to preserve our Canadian heritage in all its vivid reality.
