LIGHT HOUSES.

Board of Commissioners for the several Light Houses in the Bay of Fundy.—Robert W. Crookshank, John Ward, Isaac Woodward, John James Robinson, R. N., and Donald Clark, Esquires.

Isaac Woodward, Esquire, Surveyor of those Light Houses in the Bay of Fundy belonging to New Brunswick, and also of those belonging to Nova Scotia which are partly supported by this Province.

Cape Sable Seal Island Light.—The first Light in approaching the Bay of Fundy, is on the South Point of the Seal Island. This is a plain white Light, elevated about 80 feet above high water mark, and may be seen in approaching the Island from any point of the compass. A very dangerous rock, under water, but upon which the sea always breaks, called Blonde Rock, lies about  $3\frac{1}{2}$  miles S. by W. by compass, from the Light House. Between this rock and the Island, there are some dangers—the ground is rocky throughout, and large vessels, therefore, ought not to attempt passing between them.

Brier Island Light.—In advancing up the Bay, the next Light is situated on Brier Island, about half a mile N. E. from the N. W. point thereof. A plain white light

Digby Gut Light.—The next light on the coast of Nova Scotia is placed on the west side of Digby Gut—from Brier Island North Eastward. The coast is very bold and not indented; the Light is therefore chiefly intended as a guide into Digby Basin—A white Light.

Gannet Rock Light.—This Light is intended to warn vessels of their approach to a very dangerous range of shoals and ledges, which extend from the Old Proprietor to the Seal Islands off Machias, a distance of about twenty miles. It is a flash light—white—twenty seconds dark and forty light in each minute. The Light House is painted in stripes, vertical, black and white

Bearings and Distance by Compass from the Gannet Rock Light House. This Light bears from the Light house on Brier Island, N. N. W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. 22 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the Old Proprietor E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  S. distance 7 miles.
From the Gannet Rock to the Black Rock, off White Head Island, N. E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. 7 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the South West Head of Grand Manan, N. N. W.  $6\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the Northernmost of the Murr Ledges, N. W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  N.  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

To the Southernmost of ditto, called Saint Mary's Ledge, W S. W. 2 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to Machias Seal Island, W and by N  $\frac{1}{2}$  N. 13 miles.

NOTE.—Between the Northernmost and Southernmost of the Murr Ledges, there is a range of dangerous rocks and shoals, many of them always above water, and which extends Westward from the Light House about four miles; from this range, farther Westward, about six miles from the Gannet Light, lies a dangerous breaker called the Bull. This may be avoided by keeping three remarkable headlands near the S. W. end of Grand Manan, open.

From Brier Island Light to the Old Proprietor, N. and by W.  $\frac{1}{4}$  W.  $18\frac{1}{2}$  miles

The Blonde Rock from the Southernmost point of the Cape Sable, Seal Islands S. and by W.  $3\frac{1}{2}$  miles distant.

Machias Seal Island Lights.—There are two fixed white lights upon the Machias Seal Islands, elevated about forty-five feet above high water, and bear from each other E. S. E. and W. N. W. distant about 200 feet, by which circumstance of two Light Houses at the same station, they will be immediately distinguished from all other lights upon the coast, (British or American) Both the Buildings are painted white. The following are the bearings from them, viz:

To the Southernmost Murr Ledge, (St. Mary's) E. S. E. easterly.

" Gannet Rock Light E. by S.  $\frac{1}{4}$  S. 13 miles.

" Southern Head of Grand Manan, E. by N.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N.

" Northern Head of Grand Manan, N. E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E.

" N. E. Rock, distant 2 miles, N. E. by N.

" Little River Head, N. by W.

" Libby Island Light House, (American,) N. W. by W.

Vessels standing to the Northward, between these Lights and the Gannet Rock, should tack or haul off the moment they bring these Lights in one, as they will not then be more than three fourths of a mile from the Murr Ledges, if more than five miles to the East of the lights.

[It is recommended that the Ship's Compasses should be well compared and adjusted (particularly in new ships), before they leave Partridge Island, as serious errors have frequently occurred from want of attention on this point; and as the variation in the Bay of Fundy is seventeen degrees Westward, or 17 points, it will be found by the latest published Admiralty Charts, that the course from Partridge Island down the Bay (South Channel) between the Old Proprietor and N. W. Ledge, is S. W.  $\frac{1}{4}$  S., but the course to be steered must depend on the direction of the wind on leaving Partridge Island.]

Head Harbour Light.—Next in order after passing Grand Manan and the plain white Light, (American) on West Quoddy Point, is Head Harbour Light. This is placed on the North East extremity of Campo Bello, and is a guide to vessels entering the main Channel to West Isles, Moose Island, and the inner Bay of Passamaquoddy; it enables vessels also at all times to enter Head Harbour—it is a fixed white light. The building is painted White, with a red cross on it.

Point Le Preau Lights.—Upon this projecting head land two lights are placed, one above the other, in the same house, and distant 28 feet—Both lights can be seen from every point of the compass, where they may be useful—both are fixed and white. The Light House is painted red and white, in stripes of five feet broad each, horizontally.

Partridge Island Light.—This light at the entrance of the River and Harbour of Saint John, having been established upwards of forty years, requires no particular notice, further than that it is a fixed white light, and that the Light House is red and white, in vertical stripes.

Beacon Light.—Within Partridge Island, and upon a Spit or bar which extends about half a mile S. S. E. off Sand Point, and which dries at two-thirds ebb, stands the Beacon Tower. Upon this Tower a light is established, which is eminently useful to the coasting trade of Saint John, and to all other vessels having pilots on board, as it enables them to enter the harbour at all hours of the night. A fixed white light. The House is white and black, in stripes vertically.

Quaco.—A revolving white light is placed on a small rock off Quaco Head, showing twice full and twice dark in a minute. This light can be seen from any quarter where a vessel can approach. The Light House is painted white and red in horizontal stripes.

Cape Enrage Light.—On the point of that name, in Westmorland, nearly opposite Apple River Harbour, N. S. A plain white light. The House is painted white, and is about 120 feet above tide mark.

West Quoddy Light.—This is an American Light, and is placed on the West side of the entrance into the Saint Croix by Lubec and Eastport.

Cape Forchu Light.—On Cape Forchu, on the western side of the entrance to Yarmouth (Nova-Scotia), in lat. 43, 39, N. long, 66, S. W. It exhibits a plain revolving light—visible one minute and a quarter, and invisible half a minute. The building is painted white and is elevated 135 feet above the level of the sea.

Grindstone Island Light.—An Octagonal Tower, sixty feet above the level of high water on Grindstone Island, in Chignecto Bay, in Lat. 45° 43' 13" N. Long. 64° 57' 29" W. The Tower is painted white, as is also the Keeper's house, one story, situate about 50 feet to the Eastward of the Tower.

Bearings and distances of several places from the above Light House, as follows: Cape Enrage Light, by compass, S. 6½ W., 10 1-7 miles.

Highest Point of St. Mary's Ledge, by compass, N. 40 W., 6-10 mile.

The point of low water off the Light House, by compass, S. 78 W., 2-10 mile.

Jones' Ledge, N. 10 W., 3-10 mile, it dries at low springs and has about 2 1-2 fathoms on it at half tide.

A Sand Bank, S. 15 W., 6-10 mile, it has 1½ fathoms on its shoalest part at lower water springs.

Grand Manan.—There is a Light House and Keeper's House being erected at the "Swallow Tail" on the North Eastern part of the Island of Grand Manan, in the Bay of Fundy, which will be lighted next season. The Light is 45 feet from Base to Deck; the point on which it stands is 103 feet above high water, making 148 feet elevation. This is a conspicuous mark in the South Channel between Brier Island and Grand Manan. Both Houses are painted White.

TIME FOR GOING THROUGH THE FALLS—(near Saint John.)—The Falls are level or still water at about three and a half hours on the flood, and about two and a half on the ebb, so that they are passable four times in twenty four hours, about ten or fifteen minutes each time. No other rule can be given, as much depends on the floods in the River Saint John, and the time of high water or full sea, which is often hastened by high winds, and in proportion to the height of them.

JANUARY.

[1861

Welcome New Year! give me thy clasping hand
While underneath this temple dome star-crown'd,
We move upon the Old Year's death together,
And gather ripe experience of the past
For twelve sweet moons, perchance, we shall be friends;
Thou showing me the beauty of the seasons;
The regal garniture of vale and hill;
The glow of setting suns; the rosy dance;
Fair pictures, tinted by our Father's touch;
And flowers, fresh gifts from our dear Father's hand.

For Winter came, the wind was whip;
 One choppy finger was on his lip;
 He had torn the cataracts from the hills,
 And they clank'd at his girdle like manacles;
 His breath was a chain which, without a sound
 The earth, and the air, and the water bound;
 He came, fiercely driven in his chariot throne
 By the tenfold blasts of the arctic zone.
 Then the weeds which were frozen of living death,
 Fled from the frosts to the earth beneath:
 Their decay and sudden flight from frost
 Was but like the vanishing of a ghost.

[1861.]

Alow and aloof,
Over the roof,
How the stormy tempests swell !
And make the vane
On the spire complain—
They heave at the steeple with might and main ;
And burst and sweep
Into the belfry on the bell !
They smite it so hard, and they smite it so well,
That the sexton tosses his arms in sleep,
And dreams he is ringing a funeral knell.

Look all around thee! How the spring advances!
 New life is playing through the gay, green trees;
 See how, in yonder bower, the light leaf dances
 To the birds tread, and to the quivering breeze!
 How every blossom in the sunlight glances!
 The winter-frost to the dark cavern flees,
 And Earth, warm-wakened, feels through every vein
 The kindling influence of the vernal rain.
 Now silvery streamlets, from the mountain stealing,
 Dance joyously the verdant vales along;
 Cold fear no more the songster's tongue is stealing,
 Down in the thick, dark grove is heard his song,

I have passed o'er the hills of the stormy north,
 And the larch has hung all his tassels forth,
 The fisher is out on the sunny sea,
 And the reindeer bounds through the pasture free;
 And the pine has a fringe of softer green,
 And the moss looks bright where my step has been.
 From the streams and founts I have loosed the chain;
 They are sweeping on to the silvery main,
 They are flashing down from the mountain brows,
 They are flinging spray on the forest boughs,
 They are bursting fresh from their sparry caves,
 And the earth resounds with the joy of waves.

A song, a song for the month of June,
 When linnets and robins their harps attune,
 When the young bird comes at the old bird's call,
 From his lofty nest to the old stone wall;
 When the green fields wave like the ruffled sea
 As the breezes sweep o'er their bosom free,—
 When casements are open, and doors are ajar,
 And the scent of the red rose is wafted afar.
 O well do I love thee, beautiful June!
 The sweet, sweet harps which thy minstrels tune.
 Though other months may my spirit thrill,
 As I love thee now, I will love thee still!

JULY.

[1861-

The grass is soft; its velvet touch
Is grateful to the hand;
And, like the kiss of maiden love,
The breeze is sweet and bland;
The daisy and the buttercup
Are nodding courteously;
It stirs their blood with kindest love,
To bless and welcome thee.
And mark how with thine own thin locks,
They now are silver gray,—
That blissful breeze is wantoning,
And whispering, "Be gay?"

AUGUST.

There is no cloud that sails along
 The ocean of yon sky,
 But hath its own winged mariners
 To give it melody.
 Thou seest their glittering fans outspread,
 All gleaming like red gold ;
 And, hark ! with shrill pipe musical,
 Their merry course they hold.
 God bless them all, these little ones,
 Who, far above this earth,
 Can make a scoff of its mean joys,
 And vent a nobler mirth.

SEPTEMBER.

[1861.]

Deep in the wildwood dense and dim
 Her pensive sigh was heard,
 Where many a high and giant limb
 By touch unseen is stirred;
 Where waves the massive ancient pines,
 With music sad and low,
 And where the mantling ivy twines,
 And tall, dark fir trees grow.
 It echoed where the silver brook
 Went winding through the dell,
 And in the green and shady nook
 Where the meek-eyed violets dwell.

There is a time, just when the frost
 Prepares to pave old Winter's sway,
 When Autumn in a reverie lost,
 The mellow daytime dreams away :
 When Summer comes, in musing mind,
 To gaze once more on hill and dell,
 To mark how many sheaves they bind,
 And see if all are ripened well.
 With balmy breath she whispers low,
 The dying flowers look up and give
 Their sweetest incense ere they go,
 For her who made their beauties live.

NOVEMBER.

[1861.]

She enters 'neath the woodland's shade,
Her zephyrs lift the lingering leaf,
And bear it gently where are laid
The loved and lost ones of its grief.
At last old Autumn, rising, takes
Again his sceptre and his throne,
With boisterous hand the tree he shakes,
Intent on gathering all his own.
Sweet Summer sighing flies the plain,
And waiting Autumn, gaunt and grim,
Sees miser Autumn hoard his grain,
And smiles to think it's all for him.

The keener tempests rise : and fuming dun
 From all the livid east, or piercing north,
 Thick clouds ascend ; in whose capacious womb
 A vapour deluge lies, to snow congeal'd.
 Heavy they roll their fleecy world along ;
 And the sky saddens with the gather'd storm.
 Through the hush'd air the whitening shower descends,
 At first thin wavering ; till at last the flakes
 Fall broad, and wide, and fast, dimming the day,
 With a continual flow. The cherish'd fields
 Put on their winter-robe of purest white.

AGRICULTURAL.

SHEEP HUSBANDRY.—The wool trade is getting to be one of the most valuable branches of American industry, so much so that all information in respect to the management of sheep, must be reckoned important by a large proportion of agricultural readers.

The following hints from my practice may be useful:

It has been distinctly shown by experiments, that sheep are exceedingly sensitive of any sudden change, either in food or temperature; and that these circumstances, as well as any disturbance, are very disadvantageous to their feeding. If it is wished to secure the full benefits of their food, and the greatest profits of their keep, exposure to the sudden changes of the weather must be avoided. In the keeping of sheep, temperature is of much more importance than is generally imagined; both with regard to quantity of food consumed, and the benefits derived from it. Any one can ascertain this fact by keeping one lot of sheep in a warm but well ventilated inclosure and allowing another lot to rest and feed in the open air, exposed to the weather. It will be found that those kept under cover will consume one-quarter less food and still improve in flesh and growth of wools double to what those will let out of doors.

The practice universally prevails amongst farmers in this region, of feeding their sheep on the snow, ice, or bare ground, as the weather may be. There is a great loss experienced in this way, as an ordinary flock will waste enough by trampling under foot and otherwise, to more than pay the expenses of putting up racks and cribs for them under sheds or in a part of the barn. The greatest loss of out-door feeding is in rainy or thawy weather, which occasionally happens in winter, and the most of the two last months before going to pasture. Sheep will not touch hay that has become wet. At this last season of feeding, flocks will tread under foot and waste as much hay as would, if fed, keep them in good condition. It is not a good practice to give sheep hemlock boughs to eat at this season of the year, as owing to their astringent qualities, when eaten liberally of by ewes with lamb, their effects would be injurious rather than otherwise. Better feed roots of some kind three times a week with a handful of beans or oats daily. The roots will prevent a too costive habit, while both will serve to promote a flow of milk.

Before turning out your sheep in the spring, every one should be "tagged." Any one who has not practiced it will find it a great improvement, as at shearing time they will find that the most vexatious part is done; besides a saving is effected of no small importance in both time and wool, especially where large flocks are kept. In this way the wool is saved which is frequently shed, or becomes so coated with manure that it is worthless, except for the manure heap, and the sheep are kept clean, affording a good clean fleece to sell the manufacturer.

BURYING BEES.—After having a trial of burying bees together with other methods, I think it is a superior method for small families. If they are buried as they should be, in a dry place, the combs will not mould, and the quantity of honey taken to supply their wants will be exceedingly small, while scarcely any bees are lost. The way I buried mine, was to dig a hole in the ground the depth of which was equal to the height of the hive, and place two sticks in the bottom: I then inverted the hive on these, with the holes open in the top, and put a few sticks over it, covering it six or eight inches with straw; the object of covering it with straw, was to absorb the moisture, that would otherwise accumulate in the hive and cause the combs to mould; upon the straw were put a few old boards, and the same quantity of earth thrown on that was taken out of the hole. Any one keeping a few bees, will find that it is a good plan to bury the weak stocks, although it is some trouble, yet it is better than to lose them, and one extensively engaged in the business will find it advantageous to construct a house especially for wintering.

PROFIT OF MANURING.—In one of the hilly towns in New-Hampshire, a man purchased a farm of about 150 acres, which was pretty well worn out, but naturally productive land, paying but a small portion of the cost down, as he had but a few hundred dollars to begin life with. One of the first things he did was to draw manure from the village, full two miles up hill; at which the neighbors predicted his speedy bankruptcy. But such was not the result; on the other hand, he still continued to buy manure, and in consequence got the best crops of any man in town, and to-day he has the richest and most productive farm in that vicinity, all paid for, and his neighbors say it is worth at least ten thousand dollars.

FOOD AND TREATMENT OF HENS—Linseed meal I have found to be a great promoter of egg-laying. Mixed with scalded meal or shorts, or with sour milk, it is readily eaten, and is a good substitute for animal food and insects. Hens like Indian corn better than any other grain, and it is their cheapest food. For confining hens, a covered room with a dry earth floor, is much better than an open yard, which the rains keep in a filthy state much of the time. With sand to roll in, hens may be confined under cover the whole season. Half an hour before sunset they should be let out to range over the yard and garden. They will then be too busy picking grass, gravel, &c., to scratch and do mischief, being always in a hurry to return to the roost before twilight. Hens thus kept will more than twice pay for their keeping, if not too old to lay well. Two or three days imprisonment in a coop will break up Black Spanish hens from sitting, and they soon commence laying again if properly fed. It is only profitable for a villager to raise a few early chickens to renew his laying stock, as chickens are great and increasing feeders, eating when half grown, much more than old fat hens.

THE COST OF NEGLIGENCE.—It is a notorious fact that there are more losses from negligence of acknowledged duties, among all classes, than from almost any other cause. Of farmers is this most astoundingly true.

"I am fully persuaded that farmers lose more annually by negligence or procrastination than would pay the entire taxes of the State. How many farmers neglect to keep their farms clear of burrs, or turn their sheep in a stock-field or to the woods, and let them become covered with burrs, and sell the wool from five to ten cents per pound less on that account. As a wool-buyer, I know the number to be quite large. Again, by neglecting to separate their sheep, thousands of lambs die annually by coming in mid-winter, yet by very little attention this all could be remedied."

"Another fault is by neglecting to trim their stock; by neglecting to alter a calf till it is two or three months old the loss is about three dollars per head. I know, as a stock-dealer, that thousands of dollars are lost annually by such negligence. They also lose by not trimming their hogs and sheep in due time. I go to A, and his two-year old steers are worth but ten or twelve dollars, while the same year his neighbor B's are worth from twenty to twenty-five dollars. Why is it? A keeps common stock, he takes no care of it; in winter he piles up straw out of doors, and lets the cattle run to it. In the summer, perhaps he salts them once a month, if at all, while B keeps improved stock; if not he pays his neighbor C fifty cents or one dollar for each calf, trims them in time, they have nice horns, then he saves hay, fodder, etc., to feed them in winter, or feeds the straw as scarce of feed, as he should do by hauling it out to them fresh every day, then gives a little corn, hay, or meal, in the spring, when the grass first comes, and his cattle get a good start, and he is careful to see that they have salt two or three times each week, and all the water they need. I can tell cattle that are salted, by looking at them, from those that are not."

Let teachers and parents weigh well the significance of the following extract:—"A gentleman in England was walking over his farm with a friend, exhibiting his crops, herds of cattle, and flocks of sheep, with all of which his friend was highly pleased, but with nothing so much as his splendid sheep. He had seen the same breed frequently before, but had never seen such noble specimens, and with great earnestness he asked to know how he had succeeded in producing such flocks. His simple answer was, 'I take care of my lambs, sir.' Here was all the secret of his large, heavy-fleeced, fat sheep—he took care of them when they were lambs."

MICHELL AND OVE.

TAKING THE CENSUS.—A gentleman on his way to Springfield, the other day, noticed, when the train stopped at Hartford, a long, slab-sided sort of a fellow, passing through the cars and counting the passengers. He supposed him to be a sort of "detective" set to watch the conductors. When he returned in the evening train, the same man came through at the Hartford depot, and made another count. The gentleman inquired of the conductor who that inquisitive chap was. "Oh," replied the conductor, "he is taking the census of Hartford." Probably says a Philadelphia paper, the idea was taken from New York city, where they are also engaged in "doctoring" up the census.

CENTRAL HEAT OF THE EARTH.—The rate of increase of heat is equal to one degree of Fahrenheit for every forty-five feet of descent. Looking to the result of such a rate of increase, it is easy to see that at seven thousand two hundred and ninety feet from the surface the heat will reach two hundred and twelve degrees, the boiling point of water. At twenty-five thousand five hundred feet it will melt lead; at seven miles it will maintain a glowing red heat; at twenty-one miles melt gold; at seventy-four miles cast iron; at ninety-seven miles soften iron; and at one hundred miles from the surface all will be fluid as water—a mass of seething and boiling rock in a perpetually molten state, doomed possibly never to be cooled or crystallized. The heat here will exceed any with which man is acquainted; it will exceed the heat of the electric spark, or the effect of a continued voltaic current. The heat which melts platina as if it were wax is as ice to it. Could we visually observe its effects, our intellect would afford no means of measuring its intensity. Here is the region of perpetual fire, the source of earthquake and volcanic power.—Recreative Science.

AN ARAB MARE.—The Arab mare cost me nine hundred and fifteen company's rupees, that is about ninety-two pounds in English money. She was the most expensive horse I ever hunted, and was not purchased for that purport. She was the most beautiful mare I have ever seen, of the pure nejid blood, gray, with flea-bitten spots, eyes too large for her head, nostril thin and expanded, throat of a game-cock, the hair of her mane and tail so fine and soft, that the most beautiful woman might have been proud of such a texture, and her skin so thin and soft, that the thorn bushes through which I rode her used to tear it; and after many of my runs through jungle, I have had her, bleeding from the thorns, looking as if she had been practiced upon with a light sabre. She was what you would consider in England a pony, fourteen hands one and a half inches high; but she was as broad almost as a dray horse, and her tail was set up so high that, as she moved about her loose box, you could, stooping, walk between it and the ground. Her feet were black and hard, and the tendons below her hocks and knees were like harp strings. Add to this, that her head was so lean that you might have boiled it without obtaining any flesh from it, and you have a picture of what this desert-born mare was.

EDUCATION OF THE SEXES.—Girls are too frequently early taught deceit, and they never forget the lesson. Boys are more outspoken. This is because boys are instructed that to be frank and open is to be manly and generous, while their sisters are perpetually admonished that "this is not pretty," or "that is not becoming," until they have learned to control their natural impulses, and to regulate their conduct by precepts and example. The result of all this is, that while men retain much of their natural dispositions, but too many women have made-up characters.

SPRING.

Spring's fairy touch has decked the scene ;
The pines are robed in softer green,
The birches flaunt in tassels gay,
New beauty decks the glossy bay ;
Her dainty wreath Arbutus weaves
Beneath the withered forest leaves ;
Delicate ferns beside the brook,
Are springing in each shady nook.
With vigorous life the leaf-buds swell,
Soon will they burst their satin shell ;
Soon will the maple's royal crown
Cast glimmering crimson shadows down
Upon the brooklet clear and bright,
Dancing away in liquid light.
Soon will the violet lift its head
In modest grace from its mossy bed,
And the shy wind flower, pure and fair,
Shed its pale petals on the air.

THE PRINCE OF WALES—ORIGIN OF THE TITLE—THE MOTTO "ICH DIEN."—Edward, the first Prince of Wales, was born at Cernarvon Castle, in Wales, on the 26th of April, 1223 ; he was created Prince of Wales when he was but a few days old ; ever since that period the eldest sons of the Kings of England have borne that title.

His father had conquered the Welsh, but they refused to own him as their monarch, alleging that the King was unacquainted with their language, manners, and customs ; whereupon the King having assembled the Welsh Chieftains, asked them if they would receive a Prince born in Wales, who had never been in England, and no desire to change their laws or customs ; they consented ; the King then called upon them to do homage to his son, born a few days previous, at Cernarvon Castle.

EDWARD, Prince of Wales, (surnamed, the Black Prince,) at the battle of Cressy, fought August 26th, 1346, adopted the motto comprising the German words, "Ich Dien." "I serve," which motto was found under the Three Ostrich Feathers, which the King of Bohemia (slain in the battle) wore on his helmet, and which EDWARD at the time adopted, and it has ever since continued to be the motto of the Prince of Wales.

A GOOD REASON FOR LAUGHTER.—M. de Balzac was once lying awake in bed, when he saw a man enter his room cautiously, and attempt to pick the lock of his writing-desk. The rogue was not a little disconcerted at hearing a loud laugh from the occupant of the apartment, whom he supposed asleep. "Why do you laugh ?" asked the thief. "I am laughing, my good fellow," said M. de Balzac, "to think what pains you are taking, and what risk you run, in hope of finding money by night in a desk where the lawful owner can never find any by day." The thief "evacuated Flanders" at once.

COURT LIFE UNDER THE EIGHTH HENRY.—A very curious manuscript was presented to the Antiquarian Society of Yorkshire in 1818. It contains sundry rules to be observed by the household of Henry VIII, and enjoins the following singular particulars: None of his Highness's attendants to steal any locks or keys, tables, forms, cupboard or other furniture, out of noblemen's or gentlemen's houses where he goes to visit. No herald, minstrel, falconer, or other, to bring to the court any boy or rascal, nor to keep lads or rascals in court, to do their business for them. Master cooks not to supply such scullions as go about naked, nor lie all night on the ground before the kitchen fire. Dinner to be at ten, and supper at four. The Knight Marshal to take care that all such unthrifty and common women as followed the court be banished. The proper officers are between six and seven o'clock every morning to make the fire in, and straw his Highness's privy chamber. Officers of his Highness's privy chamber to keep secret everything said or done, leaving harkening and inquiring where the King is, or goes, be it early or late, without grudging, mumbling, or talking of the King's past-time, late or early going to bed, or any other matter. Coal only allowed to the King's, Queen's, and Lady Mary's chambers. The Queen's maids of honor to have a chet loaf, a manchet, a gallon of ale, and a chine of beef for their breakfasts. Among the fishes for the table is a porpoise, and if it is too big for a horse load, a further allowance is made to the purveyor. The manuscript ends with several proclamations. One is to take up and punish strong and mighty beggars, rascals, and vagabonds who hang about the court.

GENIUS AND LABOR.—Alexander Hamilton once said to an intimate friend: "Men give me some credit for genius. All the genius I have lies just in this: 'When I have a subject in hand I study it profoundly. Day and night it is before me. I explore it in all its bearings. My mind becomes pervaded with it. Then the effort which I make the people are pleased to call the fruit of genius. It is the fruit of labor and thought.'"

Mr. Webster once replied to a gentleman who pressed him to speak on a subject of great importance:

"The subject interests me deeply, but I have not time. There, sir," pointing to a huge pile of letters on the table, "is a pile of unanswered letters to which I must reply before the close of the session, (which was then three days off.) I have no time to master the subject so as to do it justice."

"But, Mr. Webster, a few words from you would do much to awaken public attention to it."

"If there be so much weight in my words as you represent, it is because I do not allow myself to speak on any subject until my mind is imbued with it."

Demosthenes was once urged to speak on a great and sudden emergency. "I am not prepared," said he, and obstinately refused.

The law of labor is equally binding on genius and mediocrity.

FLIGHT OF BIRDS.—An eminent German ornithologist says that vultures fly at the rate of one hundred and fifty miles an hour. The crow can fly twenty-five miles, and swallows, according to Spallagin, ninety-two miles in an hour. Observations made upon the coast of Labrador convinced Major Cartwright that the wild goose can travel at the rate of ninety miles an hour. It has also been said that a falcon was discovered at Malta twenty-four hours after the departure of Henry IV. from Fontainebleau, which shows that the bird must have flown at the rate of fifty-seven miles an hour, not allowing a moment to rest during the whole time.

Every day is a little life; and our whole life is but a day repeated; those, therefore, that dare lose a day, are dangerously prodigal; those that dare mispend it, desperate.

To be idle and to be poor have always been reproaches; and, therefore, every man endeavors with the utmost care to hide his poverty from others, and his idleness from himself.

What a world of gossip would be prevented if it was only remembered that a person who tells you of the faults of others, intends to tell others of your faults.

That which is always capable of perfection is never perfected. Hypocrites are beings of darkness disguised in garments of light.

No man can avoid his own company—so he had best make it as good as possible.

One half-penny a day will buy food in China sufficient to enable a man to "live comfortably."

The gentleman whose lips pressed a lady's "snowy brow," did not catch cold.

An artificial florist lately described himself as "head gardener to the ladies."

Never fear a man who threatens you with an injury; the silent enemy is the most dangerous.

Without confidence, friendship is but a mockery, and social intercourse a sort of war in disguise.

Kings never hear the voice of truth until they are dethroned, nor beauties until they have abdicated their charms.

Love may exist without jealousy, although this is rare; but jealousy may exist without love, and this is common.

Night brings out stars, as sorrow shows us truths; we never see the stars till we can see little or naught else—and thus it is with truth.

In one of the English colonies a competitive examination was lately held for the purpose of appointing fit persons to some of the government offices. One of the candidates inadvertently spelt the word Venice with two s's—thus Vennice. The examiner, a clever man, but not always a correct speaker, sternly inquired, "Do you not know, sir, that there is but one hen in Vennice?" "Then eggs must be very scarce there," was the ready reply. The candidate passed.

JOHNNY CAKE.—A recipe for those who, like ourselves, prefer Johnny-cake without the addition of eggs and flour. We make our pumpkin pies without those condiments, substituting a cup or two of cream.  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups sweet cream; 5 cups buttermilk; 1 small tablespoonful granulated or other good sugar; 2 small teaspoonfuls saleratus and a little salt. Add corn-meal to make a batter as stiff as can be conveniently stirred with a spoon. It should be briskly stirred, turned into a well buttered dripping-pan, and baked in a quick but not too hot oven.

REMEDY FOR BED BUGS.—Take a cup one-third full of tar—put in candlewick, (say about four feet in length to each bed,)—when properly saturated, wind two or three times around each foot of the bedstead in the smallest part, or on the castor just above the roller; tie loosely, so that it will retain the tar. Cleanse the bed thoroughly several times during the first week. Apply the tar as often as necessary to keep the wick properly saturated, with a brush or feather, and the bugs will soon disappear.

SORE THROAT.—I have been subject to sore throat, and have invariably found the following preparation (simple and cheap) highly efficacious when used in the early stage: Pour a pint of boiling water upon twenty-five or thirty leaves of common sage; let the infusion stand for half an hour. And vinegar sufficient to make it moderately acid, and honey according to the taste. This combination of the astringent and the emollient principle seldom fails to produce the desired effect. The infusion must be used as a gargle several times a-day. It has this advantage over many gargles—it is pleasant to the taste, and may be swallowed occasionally, not only without danger, but with advantage.

DOMESTIC YEAST.—Ladies who are in the habit (and a most laudable and comfortable habit it is) of making domestic bread, cake, &c., are informed that they can easily manufacture their own yeast by attending to the following directions:—Boil one pound of good flour, a quarter of a pound of brown sugar, and a little salt, in two gallons of water, for one hour. When milk warm, bottle it, and cork it close. It will be fit for use in twenty-four hours. One pint of this yeast will make 18lbs. of bread.

INK-SPOTS may be taken out of mahogany by applying spirits of salt.

SILK ARTICLES should not be kept folded in white papers, as the chloride of lime used in bleaching the paper will impair the color of the silk.

LIME WATER beaten up with sweet oil is an excellent ointment for burns.

TO REMOVE WARTS—A correspondent of the New England Farmer says that potash dissolved to a paste and laid on the wart for half an hour, and then taken off, will cure a wart on man or beast.

A TABLE
For Foretelling the Weather through all the Lunations of each Year forever.

FORMED BY DR. HERSCHELL, AND REVISED BY DR. ADAM CLARKE.

This table and the accompanying remarks are the result of many years actual observation, the whole being constructed on a due consideration of the attraction of the sun and moon, in their several positions respecting the earth, and will by simple inspection shew the observer what kind of weather will most probably follow the entrance of the moon into any of its quarters, and that so near the truth as to be seldom or never found to fail

If the new moon, the first quarter, the full moon, or the last quarter, happens	IN SUMMER.	IN WINTER.
Between midnight and 2 in the morning,	Fair.	Hard frost unless the wind, s. or w.
2 and 4 morning,	Cold and showery	Snowy and stormy.
4 and 6, "	Rain.	Rain.
6 and 8, "	Wind and Rain.	Stormy.
8 and 10, "	Changeable.	Cold Rain, if the wind be w.; snow if n.
10 and 12, "	Frequent showers.	Cold, and high wind.
At 12 noon, and 2 p. m.	Very rainy.	Snow or rain
Between 2 and 4 p. m.	Changeable.	Fair and mild.
4 and 6, evening.	Fair.	Fair.
6 and 8, "	Fair, if wind n. w.	Fair and frosty, if wind is n. or n. e.
	Rainy, if s. or s. w.	Rain or snow, if s. or s. w.
8 and 10, "	Ditto.	Ditto.
10 and midnight,	Fair.	Fair and frosty.

Observations.—1. The nearer the time of the moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, are to midnight, the fairer will be the weather during the seven days following.

2. The space for this calculation occupies from ten at night till two next morning.

3. The nearer to midday or noon, the phases of the moon happen, the more foul or wet weather may be expected during the next seven days.

4. The space for this calculation occupies from ten in the forenoon to two in the afternoon. These observations refer principally to the summer, though they affect spring and autumn nearly in the same ratio.

5. The moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, happening during six of the afternoon hours, i. e. from four to ten, may be followed by fair weather; but this is mostly dependent on the wind, as is noted in the table.

6. Though the weather, from a variety of irregular causes, is more uncertain in the latter part of autumn, the whole of winter, and the beginning of spring, yet, in the main, the above observations will apply to those periods also.

7. To prognosticate correctly, especially in those cases where the wind is concerned, the observer should be in sight of a good compass, where the four cardinal points of the heavens are correctly placed.

Douglas & Sherwood, the celebrated skirt manufacturers of New York, consume a ton of steel per day; of other materials they use, monthly, 150,000 yards muslin, 100,000 feet whalebone, 24,000 spools of cotton, 2,800,000 eyelets, slides, hooks and eyes, &c., 500,000 yards of tape, 225,000 yards of jute cord, and 100,000 yards of haircloth.

VALUATION OF BOSTON.—The valuation of Boston in 1853 exceeded that of the entire States of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. It was one hundred millions more than that of the city of Philadelphia, and nearly thrice that of Baltimore.

A cool or cold climate, near the sea, as a general rule, is said to be most favorable to health and longevity.
