" Machias Seal Island Lights, distant about 13 miles, W. by N.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N.

NOTE.—Between the Northernmost and Southernmost of the Murr Ledges, there is a range of dangerous rocks and shoals, many of them always above water, and which extend Westward from the Light House about four miles; from this range, farther Westerly, about eight miles, lies a dangerous breaker called the Roaring Bull. This may be avoided by keeping three remarkable headlands near the S. W. end of Grand Manan, open.—The red glass having been removed from the Lantern, there is now a flash light—white—twenty seconds dark and forty light in each minute.—The Light House is painted in stripes, vertical, black and white.

Two fixed white lights upon the Machias Seal Islands, were put into operation in 1832—they were elevated about forty-five feet above high water, and bear from each other E. S. E. and W. N. W. distant about 200 feet, by which circumstance of two Light Houses at the same station, they will be immediately distinguished from all other lights upon the coast, (British or American)—the following are the bearings from them, viz:

To the Southernmost Murr Ledge, (St. Mary's) E. S. E. easterly.

" Gannet Rock Light E. by S.  $\frac{1}{4}$  S. 13 miles.

" Southern Head of Grand Manan, E. by N.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N.

" Northern Head of Grand Manan, N. E.  $\frac{1}{4}$  E.

" N. E. Rock, distant 2 miles, N. E. by N.

" Little River Head, N. by W.

" Libby Island Light House, (American,) N. W. by W.

Vessels standing into the Northward, between these Lights and the Gannet Rock, should tack or haul off the moment they bring these Lights in one, as they will not then be more than three fourths of a mile from the Murr Ledges, if more than five miles to the East of the lights.

Head Harbour Light.—Next in order after passing Grand Manan, and the plain white Light, (American) on West Quoddy Point, is Head Harbour Light. This is placed on the North East extremity of Campo Bello, and is a guide to vessels entering the main Channel to West Isles, Moose Island, and the inner Bay of Passamaquoddy; it enables vessels at all times to enter Head Harbour—it is a fixed white light.

Point Le Preau Lights.—Upon this projecting head land two lights are placed, one above the other, and distant 25 feet.—Both lights can be seen from every point of the compass, where they may be useful—both are fixed and white. In consequence of orders from the Home Government, this Light was, in 1840, painted red and white, in stripes of five feet broad each, horizontally, in order that it may be seen more distinctly at a distance.

Partridge Island Light.—This light, at the entrance of the River and Harbour of Saint John, having been established upwards of forty years, requires no particular notice, further than that it is a fixed white light, and that the Light House is red and white, in vertical stripes.

Beacon Light.—Within Partridge Island, and upon a Spit or Bar, which extends about half a mile S. S. E. off Sand Point, and which dries at two-thirds ebb, stands the Beacon Tower. Upon this Tower a light is established, which is eminently useful to the coasting trade.

Light House on the Island of St. Pierre and Miquelon.—This Light House is situated upon a bluff, called "Gallantry Head"—just above Cape Noir—on the southern part of the Island of St. Pierre. The light is a fixed one, and is elevated at 64 French metres—equal to 210 English feet—above high water mark, and it is calculated may be seen at a distance of 19 or 20 miles.

The light will be seen at sea from W. N. W. to N. N. E., six degrees East by compass in passing by the South. It will be shut in by the highlands of St. Pierre, from N. N. E. six degrees East, to W. N. W., by compass passing to the North. North latitude, 43 45.50; West longitude from the Meridian of Paris, 63 30 60.

In Winter! in Winter! when skies are beclouded,
 And winds their wild music pipe o'er the dark sea;
 When earth in her sheet of pale snow is enshrouded,
 And icicles hang from each mountain or tree;
 When nature seems dead, and the storm is oft wailing
 O'er the bare barren wood or the desolate plain:
 Oh! praise ye the Lord, for his love is unfailing,
 And Spring will arise in its beauties again!
 Praise ye the Lord!
 And look for a new resurrection, and wing
 Thy soul to the regions of unending Spring.

There's not a flower upon the hill,
 There's not a leaf upon the tree;
 The summer-bird hath left its bough,
 Bright child of sunshine, singing now
 In spicy lauds beyond the sea.
 There's silence in the harvest field,
 And blackness in the mountain-glen,
 And cloud that will not pass away
 From the hill-tops for many a day,
 And stillness round the homes of men.
 In rich men's halls the fire is piled.
 And ermine robes keep out the weather;
 In poor men's huts the fire is low,
 Through broken panes the keen winds blow,
 And old and young are cold together.

MARCH.

[1847.]

Say not 'tis an unlovely time!

Turn to the wide, white waste thy view;

Turn to the silent hills that rise

In their cold beauty to the skies;

And to those skies intensely blue.

Walk now among the forest trees;

Saidst thou that they were strip'd and bare!

Each heavy bough is bending down

With snowy leaves and flowers, the crown

Which winter regally doth wear,

In this, a silent place of snow,

With feathery branches drooping low.

Down, down they come—those fruital stores!
 Those earth-rejoicing drops!
 A momentary deluge pours,
 Then thins, decreases, stops:
 And ere the dimples on the stream
 Have circled out of sight,
 Lo! from the west, a parting gleam
 Breaks forth of amber light.
 But yet behold, abrupt and loud,
 Comes down the glittering rain;
 The farewell of a passing cloud,
 The fringes of her train.

Sure, since I looked at early morn,
Those honeysuckle buds
Have swelled to double growth; that thorn
Hath put forth larger studs;
That lilac's cleaving cones have burst,
The milkwhite flowers revealing;
Even now upon my senses first
Methinks their sweets are stealing.
The very earth, the steamy air,
Is all with fragrance rife;
And grace and beauty every where
Are flushing into life.

Ye field-flowers! the gardens eclipse you, 'tis true,
 Yet, wildlings of nature! I doat upon you;
 For ye waft me to summers of old,
 When the earth teem'd around me with fairy delight,
 And when daisies and buttercups gladden'd my sight,
 Like treasures of silver and gold.
 Not a pastoral song has a pleasanter tune
 Than ye speak to my heart, little wildlings of June!
 Of old ruinous castles ye tell;
 Where I thought it delightful your beauties to find,
 When the magic of nature first breathed on my mind,
 And your blossoms were part of her spell.

Now Summer is in flower, and Nature's hum
Is never silent round her bounteous bloom;
Insects, as small as dust, have never done
With glitt'ring dance, and reeling in the sun;
And green wood fly and blossom-haunting bee
Are never weary of their melody,
Round field and hedge flowers in full glory twine,
Large bind-weed bells, wild hop, and streak'd woodbine,
That lift athirst their slender-throated flowers,
Agape for dew-falls, and for honey-showers;
These o'er each bush in sweet disorder run,
And spread their wild hues to the sultry sun.

How sweet it is by lonely mores
 To sit, with heart and soul awake,
 Where water lilies lie afloat.
 Each anchored like a fairy boat
 Amid some fabled elfin lake;
 To see the birds flit to and fro
 Along the dark-green ready edge;
 Or fish leap up to catch the fly;
 Or list the viewless wind pass by,
 Hearing its voice amid the sedge.

The Roses are gone, their empire is o'er,
And many who saw them may see them no more!
Yet little it recks that we mourn their decay,
For we are as fragile and fleeting as they.
What came with the Roses?—sweet hopes springing forth
Mid the sunbeams of heaven, the blossoms of earth.
And the song of the birds, and the breath of the flowers,
Awakening a dream of life's sunniest hours.
What came with the Roses? dear thoughts of delight,
That feared not extinction, that dreamt not of blight;
And the trust that had wither'd, the joy that was lost,
Forth springing again, but again to be cross'd.

I wander here amid the blast,
 And a dreary look I backward cast;
 The best of my years I feel are fled,
 And I look to the coming time with dread;
 My heart in a desert land has been,
 Where the flower of hope alone was green;
 And little in life's decline have I
 To expect from kindred's sympathy.
 Like the leaves now whirl'd from yonder spray,
 The dreams I have cherish'd, day by day,
 On the wings of sorrow pass away.

NOVEMBER.

[1847-

Voice of the wintry wind!
To the young what sayest thou?
Thou tellest them of many things,
But they will not hear thee now.
Thou tellest of the spring-time gone,
Of summer pass'd away,
And sickly autumn sunk at last
In winter's dull decay;
Of desolation's heartless rule,
Strip'd woods, and faded flowers,
And birds, that mute and trembling sit,
In November's leafless bowers.

The passing year, all gray with hours,
 End'd all month with thee;
 Chill'd his summer, dard his flowers,
 Soon will his funeral be;
 Frost shall drink up his latest breath,
 And tempest rock him into death.
 Now he shivers! from his age
 All his leaves have faded,
 And his weary pilgrimage,
 Ends at last unaided
 By his own sun, that dims its ray,
 To leave him dark in his decay.

The Falls are level or still water at about three and a half hours on the flood, and about two and a half on the ebb, so that they are passable four times in twenty four hours, about ten or fifteen minutes each time. No other rule can be given, as much depends on the floods in the River Saint John, and the time of high water or full sea, which is often hastened by high winds, and in proportion to the height of them.

A TABLE
For Foretelling the Weather through all the Lunations of each year, forever.

(FORMED BY DR. HERSCHELL, AND REVISED BY DR. ADAM CLARKE.)

This table and the accompanying remarks are the result of many years' actual observation, the whole being constructed on a due consideration of the attraction of the sun and moon, in their several positions respecting the earth, and will by simple inspection show the observer what kind of weather will most probably follow the entrance of the moon into any of its quarters, and that so near the truth as to be seldom or never found to fail.

If the new moon, the first quarter, the full moon, or the last quarter happens	IN SUMMER.
	IN SUMMER.	IN WINTER.
Between midnight and 2 in the morning.	Fair.	Hard frost unless the wind iss. or w.
—2 and 4, morning.	Cold, and showery.	Snowy and stormy.
—4 and 6, "	Rain.	Rain.
—6 and 8, "	Wind and Rain.	Stormy.
—8 and 10, "	Changeable.	Cold Rain, if the wind be w.; snow if e.
—10 and 12, "	Frequent showers.	Cold, and high wind.
At 12 noon, and 2 p. m.	Very rainy.	Snow or rain.
Between 2 and 4 p. m.	Changeable.	Fair and mild.
—4 and 6 evening.	Fair.	Fair.
—6 and 8, "	Fair, if wind n. w.	Fair and frosty if wind is n. or n. e.
	Rainy, if s. or s. w.	Rain or snow, if s. or s. w.
—8 and 10, "	Ditto.	Ditto.
—10 and midnight.	Fair.	Fair and frosty.

Observations—1. The nearer the time of the moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, are to midnight, the fairer will the weather be during the seven days following.

2. The space for this calculation occupies from ten at night till two next morning.

3. The nearer to midday or noon, the phases of the moon happen, the more foul or wet weather may be expected during the next seven days.

4. The space for this calculation occupies from ten in the forenoon to two in the afternoon. These observations refer principally to the summer, though they affect spring and autumn nearly in the same ratio.

5. The moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, happening during six of the afternoon hours, i. e. from four to ten, may be followed by fair weather; but this is mostly dependent on the wind, as is noted in the table.

6. Though the weather, from a variety of irregular causes, is more uncertain in the latter part of autumn, the whole of winter, and the beginning of spring, yet, in the main, the above observations will apply to those periods also.

7. To prognosticate correctly, especially in those cases where the wind is concerned, the observer should be within sight of a good range, where the four cardinal points of the heavens are correctly placed.

AGRICULTURE, &c.

MANURE—If public opinion can be excited upon the subject of manure—if our farmers generally will pay that attention to the subject its importance demands, we may expect that great changes will ere long take place in our agriculture.

Whatever prejudice may say to the contrary, science should certainly lend its aid in the business of making and managing manure.

Now indeed, every farmer may, if he will, avail himself of the advantages of science. The question may be asked, what is science? Is it not what reason and experience have taught mankind? To explore, to examine, and to find out the intimate nature of the substances with which the farmer has to do, is the business of science. Agriculture is a science which is at once theoretical and practical. Now the philosopher by dint of thinking or reasoning may make new discoveries or form new theories—to ascertain whether these are really useful or not, we must submit them to the test of experiment. Science indeed may suggest that the muck or mud, and peat of our swamps, if applied to the soil will increase its productiveness. Science may suggest the idea that these substances in a raw state may possess a certain acidity, a kind of sourness, unfriendly to vegetation. Bring these theories to the test of experiment, and what experience pronounces to be true, the most sceptical will not question, and the most unlettered man in the country may avail himself of the advantages of science.

Mix these substances properly with barn yard manure, with ashes or lime, and if this will destroy the acidity and render these valuable for manure, and if repeated experiments demonstrate the fact, the most sceptical will not cavil, and the most unlearned will acknowledge science to be his benefactor.

When we consider the vast amount of materials for manure to be found in our swamps, pond-holes, and other places, we are astonished that so little attention is paid to the subject.

Every load of manure which a farmer procures is of lasting advantage, not only to himself but to his posterity. Manure increases vegetable growth, which also adds to the manure heap, and it is easy enough to see that the effects will be felt for consecutive ages.

That plants derive a part of their support from the atmosphere is a fact which remains undisputed. Matter is continually passing from the earth into the air, which makes a considerable part of the food of plants. Now in fact what is drawn from the atmosphere by the leaves of plants and ploughed into the soil is clearly gained. The farmer need not regret the loss of a crop—he should consider the amount of fertility added to the soil as a part of his annual income. It has often been asserted that farmers cultivate too much land—ten acres skillfully cultivated will certainly yield more net profits than twenty acres poorly managed. Now let every farmer, who practices running over land, appropriate a few acres for the purpose of ploughing in some crop to enrich his soil, apply the same amount of manure to the remainder, and in a few years he will see the result.

Again. Suppose that a farmer will appropriate a few acres of his mowing lands for the same purpose, or suppose he will be persuaded to turn over a few acres of his grass stubble immediately after haying, or say in dull weather before he has completed haying, seed with fresh grass seed, use the harrow and roller, &c. Do not neglect to plough one acre of the cow pasture each year. Now it has been often a question whether farming can be rendered a profitable business in our country. It can be most certainly rendered a profitable business if our farmers can possess the requisite qualities. Knowledge and industry are two great necessary qualities for a good farmer. Agricultural works are the best means which can be employed to convey useful knowledge to the people, and by industry we could understand not only a diligent attention to business, but energy to put into execution such schemes as may be suggested.

To prevent depredations by Hawks.—One or more guinea hens in a flock of fowls, it is said, will effectually prevent molestation from hawks.

Cabbage.—This vegetable requires a light, rich, and rather moist soil. The seed may be sown about the middle of May, either in a bed for transplanting, or where they are intended to grow. The transplanting should be done when the ground is light, just before a shower, or in cloudy, moist weather, but never when the ground is wet and heavy. Before transplanting, dip the roots into a mixture made of rich mould and water. They should be hoed often while young, at least twice a week; the best time for hoeing is when the dew is on. If lice should appear on the plants, wet them with a strong decoction of tobacco, put on with a small brush, or rubbed on with the hand. Cabbage should be secured before very cold weather, and their roots buried in the dirt; but never let them rot in a cellar under your dwelling house, unless you wish to destroy the health of your family.

Preservation of Herbs.—Every diligent housekeeper should have a complete stock of herbs before the frost places them beyond her reach. Many of these are invaluable for the little necessities that occur from time to time, while the green plants are hoarded in the earth not to be come at till another season. When gathered and dried in the shade, they should be carefully packed away beyond the reach of vermin, dampness or other injury, and the fragrant herbs should be closely sealed up in jars, air tight boxes, or paper bags, to retain their odour.

Cure for Warts in Horses and Cattle.—A strong wash made of pearlsh and water, applied thrice a day, will remove tumours and warts.

Candles.—Prepare your wicks about half the usual size, wet with spirits of turpentine, put them in the sun until dry, and then mould or dip your candles. Candles thus made last longer and give a much clearer light. In fact they are nearly or quite equal to sperm, in clearness of light.

KEEPING POTATOES SOUND.—We have had occasion to commend the practice of keeping potatoes through the winter in heaps, out of doors, by using an abundance of straw and but a moderate quantity of earth as a covering. We have repeatedly known heaps of 60 or 70 bushels, covered with a compact layer of straw one foot thick, only a few inches of dirt outside, to endure the winter and early spring without the loss of a peck. In a late experiment of the writer, a heap thus covered wintered through with the loss of not half a peck, although a large portion of the same crop which was removed to the cellar was lost by the rot; and at the same time that many neighbors lost three quarters of their potatoes buried in the usual way, that is with only a few inches of straw under a foot of earth. It will be perceived at a glance that the mode here proposed secures in an eminent degree, sufficient protection from frost, dryness, and ventilation. All potatoes in heaps, when buried early in autumn, should be kept constantly well ventilated by a hole and whisk straw in the top. The mass of rotten potatoes, so usually found at the apex of the heap, and usually attributed to freezing, is more frequently the result of foul confined air, rising in the top.

To prevent Hay stacks from taking fire—When there is any reason to fear that the hay which is intended to be housed or stacked, is not sufficiently dry, it is only necessary to scatter a few handfuls of common salt (muriate of soda) between each layer. The salt by absorbing the humidity of the hay not only prevents the fermentation and consequent inflammation of it, but it also adds a taste to its forage, which stimulates the appetites of cattle, and preserves them from many diseases.

Protecting Trees from Mice.—A correspondent of the Gardener's Chronicle, mixes soft and milk till of the consistency of thick paint, and then applies it to the trees with a brush. This, applied once a year, he finds effectual protection against hares and rabbits. Would it not be equally so against mice!

The Borer in Apple Trees.—W. Buckminster, at an agricultural meeting at the State House, Boston, stated that the borer, which is a fly in its perfect state, lays ten eggs on the tree near the ground; that they hatch young worms and enter the bark the first year; the next they eat into the wood and ascend; and the third, come out and change to the perfect insect. He says the best remedy is to wash the trees with strong lye in July, after the eggs are laid and before the worms have buried themselves in the bark.

To take spots or stains out of Linen.—Take the juice of lemon and red onion mixed together, put to it a little gum sanderach, and crumbs of stale white bread; heat these gently over a fire, and then dip the part that is stained often in it; let it then dry, and get in readiness a hot lather of soap and water, to wash it immediately; and doing so, in two or three washings it will quite disappear.

Remedies against Fleas.—Fumigation with brimstone, or the fresh leaves of penny-royal sewed in a bag, and laid on a bed, will have the desired effect.

Glass Milk Pans.—Why can't we have glass milk pans in this country? They are being introduced in the English dairies, and are much liked. They are said to be much more easily cleaned than pans of any other materials, and are so strong that they will bear a very severe blow without breaking. The only objection to them is their cost, which, on account of duties, is rendered high. We suppose they might be afforded cheaply in this country.—American Paper.

To take out Pitch, Wax, Rosin or Tar.—If any of these happen on a garment, either silk, linen, or woollen, pour a little oil of turpentine on the place, and let it soak in about half an hour; then rub it, but not too hard; and you will find the turpentine has soaked out the glutinous quality, so that it will crumble out like small bits of dry dirt.

To take out Ink stains, Stains with Fruit &c.—Take half an ounce of powder of allum, two ounces of the juice of house-leek senugreen, and apply them, the allum being dissolved very hot.

An excellent Receipt to mend China.—Take the white of two eggs, half an ounce of quick lime beaten to powder, a drachm of the powder of burnt flint, and the like quantity of gum sandrick; temper them together, and moisten it with some lemon juice; then with a feather anoint the edge of the broken vessel, and put the pieces together by a warm fire; and if your hand is steady, the fracture will hardly be discerned. Or you may use white lead and oil, such as painters use.

To polish Ivory.—Ivory is polished with putty water, by means of a rubber made of hat, which in a short time produces a fine gloss.

To destroy Bugs.—1. Take oil of turpentine, and with a brush wash over the bedstead and the nail holes, chinks, &c, it will kill both bugs and knits.

2. Rub the bedstead with verdigris ground in linseed and turpentine oil, and the bugs will not harbour.

3. Take common oil, or water, in which boil wormwood and rue till the water is near consumed, then strain it, and mix with it a good quantity of grease, of which making an ointment, rub the chinks and joints of the bedstead with it.

A Postscript.—The wife of an Irish gentleman being taken ill, the husband despatched a servant for the doctor. By the time however, that the note was written, and the horse ready, his lady had recovered, on which he added the following postscript, "My wife being recovered, you need not come."

Presentiment.—"Does not that bell tolling," observed his companion to Colonel B——, on hearing a funeral knell, "put you in mind of your latter end?" "No, but the rope put me in mind of yours," replied the colonel.

Earthquakes at Lima, Peru.—On an average of a dozen years, fifty shocks are annually felt, most of which occur in the latter half of October, in November, December, January, May and June—January is the worst month, during which, in many years, scarcely a day passes without convulsions of this kind. The terrible earthquakes that play such havoc with the city, come at intervals from forty to sixty years: since the west coast of South America is known to Europeans, the following are the dates: 1586, 1630, 1687, 1712, 1746, 1806; always two in a century. It is greatly to be feared that ten more years will not elapse without Lima being again visited by one of these awful calamities. Dr. Tschudi gives a brief account of the earthquake of 1746. It was on the 28th of October, St. Simon and St. Jude's day, that at 31 minutes past 10 P. M., the earth shook with a fearful bel-lowing noise, and in an instant the whole of Lima was a heap of ruins. Noise, earthquake, and destruction were all the affair of one moment. The few buildings which resisted the first shock were thrown down by a regular horizontal motion of the earth, which succeeded it, and lasted four minutes. Out of more than three thousand houses, only twenty-one remained uninjured. Nearly all the public buildings were overthrown. At the port of Callao the destruction was more complete: for scarcely was the earthquake over, when the sea arose with a mighty rushing sound, and swallowed up both town and inhabitants. In an instant five thousand human beings became the prey of the waters. The Spanish corvette San Fermin, which lay at anchor in the harbour, was hurled far over the walls of the fortress, and stranded at more than five hundred yards from the shore. A cross marks the place where she struck. Three heavily laden merchantmen met the same fate, and nineteen other vessels foundered. The town had disappeared, and travellers have related however, even now, when the sky is bright and the sea is still, the houses and churches may be dimly seen through the transparent waters.

Beauty.—There is something in beauty, whether it dwells in the human face, in the pencilled leaves of flowers, the sparkling surface of a fountain, or that aspect which genius breathes over its statue, that makes us mourn its ruin. I should not envy that man his feelings, who could see a leaf wither or a flower fall, without some sentiment of regret. This tender interest in the beauty and frailty of things around us, is only a slight tribute of becoming grief and affection; for nature, in our adversities, never deserts us. She even comes more nearly to us in our sorrows, and leading us away from the paths of disappointment and pain into her soothing recesses, allays the anguish of our bleeding hearts, binds up the wounds that have afflicted, whispers the mock pledges of a better hope, and, in harmony with a spirit of still holier birth, points to that home where decay and death can never come.

An officer was sent to arrest a disorderly character, by direction, without knowing him. Coming up to a young man, the rioter himself, he asked him if he knew Mr. —. "Yes," said he, "I know him well. He is about my size, light complexion, and well dressed. I saw him coming out of —'s coffee house but a moment or two since." The officer passed one way, and the young man the other.

I should not envy that man his feelings, who could see a leaf wither or a flower fall, without some sentiment of regret. He is about my size, light complexion, and well dressed. I saw him coming out of —'s coffee house but a moment or two since." The officer passed one way, and the young man the other.

Flattery.—A beggar man, on his rounds in a populous parish in Ayrshire, took the liberty of rapping at the door of the best house in it. It so happened that the only domestic in the house was the cook, who left her own more immediate business to open the door. Seeing that it was a beggarman who had disturbed her, she very angrily bade him leave the house and go to work. "Oh," said the beggar, "I suppose if I maun, I maun; but before I gang I canna help saying that I haena seen sae bonny a fit (foot) in a coif or carrich." "Ye're no the first that said that, gude man," said the mollified lady of the dripping pan; "many hae thoct the same—come ben, puir body, an' I will e'en give ye a chack."

Infantile Imitation.—There is no age at which we are not apt to follow the example of those around us, but it is in childhood above all that example exerts its greatest powers. It is the nature of children to imitate all they see: it is by this means they learn so much during the first years of their life. We see that speech is taught them by imitating those around them, but we are too little aware how many of the passions and feelings we call natural, are often taught in earliest infancy.

Distance of the Sun.—The distance of the sun from the earth, in round numbers, is about ninety-five millions of miles—a distance so prodigious, that a cannon ball, which moves at the rate of eight miles in a minute, would be something more than twenty two years in going thither.

A gentleman received a letter in which were these words: "Not finding Brown hom, I delivered your messeg to his yf." The gentleman called his wife to help him read it: between them they picked out all but the yf, which they could not understand. The lady proposed calling her chambermaid, "because Betty," says she, "has the best knack of reading bad spelling of any one I know." Betty came, and was surprised that neither of them could tell what yf was. "Why," says she, "yf spells wife—what else can it spell? And, indeed, it is a much better, as well as a shorter method than double you i f e, which in reality spells double you I fie."

Affection in a Brute.—Two little negro boys were recently riding an old pony in pursuit of cattle, when all on a sudden a wild cat leaped from a fence upon the pony, and seized one of the children. The pony, in a fright, jumped away. The older boy seized the cat to rescue the other from his claws and teeth, when the pony returned to the rescue, and actually stamped the wild cat to death! The pony is a pet, some twenty five years old, lives in the yard, and eats slops; is a great favorite; walks among cradles with the utmost care; and, in gratitude for kindness, has exhibited a trait of his character that would honor man.

Punctuality.—There is not a single office, profession or vocation, from the high duties of the monarch to the drudgery of the dustman, that does not owe half its honour and success to punctuality and attention.

ORIGINAL.

ENIGMATICAL REBUS AND CHARADE.

I am a word that is well known,
 While man and woman's twain;
 And just as soon as they are one,
 Accomplished is my aim.
 I'm manag'd one way then another,
 And oft I've different ends:
 I get along without much bother,
 When each the same intends.
 Sometimes I'm long, and yet for-
 Sometimes I'm very brief: [sooth
 I'm often cherish'd by the youth,
 And oft I cause them grief.
 I am practis'd by every grade,
 By high, low, rich, and poor;
 I deem there's something in my
 That serves them to allure. [trade
 I, in Great Britain's wide domain,
 Am mutual to both sexes;
 And many others, France & Spain,
 America and Texas.
 By civilised nations all,
 I lov'd and caress'd am:
 Yet I'm expelled after all,
 From China and Siam.
 At jovial feasts I often meet—
 Weddings, balls, and dances;
 At which of various things I speak,
 Pleasing ladies' fancies.
 Although of love my talk may be,
 And things that do decoy:
 Yet you may very often see,
 That love I ne'er enjoy.
 The charms that I do oft beget,
 When I the faults conceal;
 Are often blighted by regret,
 As married lives reveal.

And that you may more fully find
 My character and name:
 Nine letters are in one combin'd,
 Two words are in the same.
 My first is of a neuter noun,
 Also an active verb;
 And of my second when 'tis found,
 You can the same aver.

A. M. Jerusalem

He hath most that coveteth least.

CHARADE—(BY THE SAME.)

My first is a liquid, the price of which,
 Does cause many poor for to become rich;
 And yet there are many by using
 me,
 Who lose their repute, and their wealth you'll see.
 And this is not all the loss they sustain,
 Who let me frequently injure
 their brain;
 I'm oft the cause of the soul's
 losing Heaven,
 For which no exchange can ever
 be given.
 And of my second it e'er can be said,
 That I am within, e'en if in a shed.
 When hungry to viands my last
 you have done;
 So now of my parts you may find
 the sum—
 Which shall be my whole if rightly you do:
 And then I'll shew you what co-
 nies oft do.
 And yet many times my whole
 you have done,
 To find out a charade, puzzle, or pun.
 Oh that my whole on your ways
 you may do,
 And be fit for bliss ere time bid
 adieu.

"I say, Tom, don't you think this snow will go off soon?" "Yes
 I think it quite likely, for you see it is already on the road."

There is no pleasure cheaper than that founded on virtue. We should think so. It is one of those cheap things which are almost going a begging.

I hate to see a thing done by halves: if it be right, do it boldly;
 if it be wrong, leave it undone.

SHARP'S ALKALINE INFUSION OF SARSAPARILLA.

SARSAPARILLA has of late years been much used and with great success in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, as an altivative in Scrofulous Affections, Scurvey, Obstinate Cutaneous Eruptions, Indolent Ulcers, Diseases of the Periostum and Bone, attended with obscure pains, wasting of the flesh, tenderness of the part, tumours, and nodes unconnected with Syphilis, and in that state of the habit known among medical men under the term Cachexia, but which is not easy to define; in such cases Sarsaparilla proves a most valuable remedy, and often effects a cure when all other remedies have been long administered in vain, and when the diseased state of the system has been of many years duration.

It is also considered by the most eminent Surgeons of the present day to be the best medicine for re-establishing the constitution after it has undergone the effects of mercury.

The infusion contains all the properties of the Sarsaparilla, in a highly concentrated state, together with the addition of an alkali, which is strongly recommended by the late Mr. Abernethy; also by Professor Brande, who in a late edition of his valuable work on Pharmacy, says "the addition of an alkali in the preparation of Sarsaparilla, seems greatly to facilitate the extraction of the soluble matter, and may be used with great advantage."

Amongst the advocates for this Medicine, may be mentioned the names of Sir C. Brodie, Bart., Sir James Clark, the late Sir A. Cooper, Bart., Drs. J. A. Paris, M. Ryan, Grahame, Marshall Hall, M.
D. F. R. S., &c. &c.  Sold in bottles at 3s. 9d. and 5s. each.

THOMAS C. EVERITT.

St. John, Sept. 1845.

By submitting Certificates for the perusal of the public, the subscriber is actuated by selfish motives in recommending articles of his own make; but at the same time he thinks it a duty he owes to the public, to place them on their guard against purchasing a quantity of trash, which is now thrown into this market from the United States,—consisting of old worn-out stoves, and a variety of such as cannot be sold in that country, being of old fashioned and unsaleable sorts, and too light in most cases to be durable. On this subject he hopes they will judge cautiously. It is after having tried a number of different Cooking Stoves in his own house and the use of "HATHEWAY'S" for the last three years, that he has been induced to go largely into the manufacture of that Pattern, of which he now has Three Sizes at £6, £7, and £8, each.

THOMAS C. EVERITT.

Saint John, N. B., Sept. 1845,

Saint John, N. B., September, 1845.

MR. THOMAS C. EVERITT:—Sir, In reply to your inquiries respecting the qualities of your "Hatheway Cooking Stoves," I have to remark that I have found that which I purchased of you about three years ago to be the best Cooking Stove with which I have been acquainted. It has done all the cooking for my Boarding House, at which I frequently dine Thirty persons per day. It has given the utmost satisfaction, and has never been out of repair. In fact if I could not procure another like it, I would not part with it now for double its original cost.

JOSEPH READ.

I have read what Mr. Read has stated relative to "Hatheway's Cooking Stove," and do fully concur in what he has said, having had one of them to do the cooking in my Hotel for about three years past. My fireplace has been closed up, and the cooking is all done with the Stove in question. I do therefore freely recommend it to the public.

Saint John, N. B.

JOHN B. LONGLEY.

I purchased of Mr. Thomas C. Everitt, one of his "Hatheway" Cooking Stoves about Sixteen Months ago, and do not hesitate to recommend it as the best description of Cooking Stove to be had. I find from a strict investigation that it does not consume one half the quantity of wood that I formerly burnt in a Cooking Stove. It boils, broils, and bakes well, and I would not part with it for double its cost if I could not get another of the same pattern.

M. NUGENT.

Saint John, N. B.

I purchased of Mr. T. C. Everitt, one of his "Hatheway Cooking Stoves," about Eighteen months ago, after having examined various other kinds. There has been no other means of cooking in my house since the Stove was purchased. And I confidently recommend it as the best description of Cooking Stove within my knowledge. It accomplishes every object in cooking and washing desired by my family, and gives the most complete satisfaction: it has never yet been out of order.

C. C. MACDONALD,

Saint John, N. B.

No. 5, King Street.

We have read over the foregoing Certificates relative to the properties of "HATHEWAY'S" COOKING STOVES, and having purchased of Mr. EVERITT and had in use of the same pattern, we do most freely recommend them to the public as the most perfect and economical Cooking Stoves that have come within our knowledge.

ASTONISHING EFFICACY OF Holloway's Pills.

The Testimony of a Clergyman vouching to Eleven Cases of Cures by these Wonderful Pills.

Extract of a Letter from the Rev. George Prior, Curate of Movagh, Letter Kenny, Carrigart, Ireland, 10th January, 1846.

TO PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—I send you a crude list of some eleven cases, all cured by the use of your Pills. I cannot exactly give you a professional name to the various complaints, but this I know, some of them baffled the skill of Derry and this County. In a previous letter this gentleman states as follows:—Within a short distance of my house resides a small farmer, who for more than twenty years has been in a bad state of health; Mrs. Prior gave him a box of the Pills, which did him so much good, that I heard him say, for twenty years past he never ate his food or enjoyed it so much as since taking your Pills.

(Signed)

GEORGE PRIOR.

* * The above reverend and pious gentleman purchased some pounds worth of the Pills for the benefit of his poor parishioners

Bad Digestion, with extreme Weakness and Debility—an Extraordinary Cure.

MR. T. GARDNER, of No. 9, Brown-street, Grosvenor-square, had been in a very bad state of health for a long time, suffering much from a distended Stomach, very impaired digestion, with constant pains in his Chest, was extremely nervous, and so greatly debilitated as scarcely able to walk one hundred yards: during the long period of his declining health he had the advice of four of the most eminent physicians, besides five surgeons of the greatest celebrity in London, from whose aid he derived no benefit whatever, at last he had recourse to Holloway's Pills, which he declares effected a perfect cure in a very short time, and that he is now as strong and vigorous as ever he was in his life. This being so extraordinary a case, may lead many persons almost to doubt this statement, it might therefore be necessary to say that Mr. Gardner is a broker, and well known.

Cure of a Confirmed Asthma, accompanied with great Debility.

Extract of a Letter from John Thompson, Esq., Proprietor of the Armagh Guardian, Armagh, 17th April, 1846.

TO PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—There is at present living in this city a Serjeant, who had been for many years in the Army at Cabul, in the East Indies, from whence he returned in September last. On his way here, from the change of weather of a tropical to a moist climate, he caught a very violent cold, which produced a confirmed case of Asthma. In December last he commenced taking your Pills, and by the use of two 11s.

boxes, with two 4s. 6d. pots of your Ointment well rubbed into his breast, he is, I am happy to say, not only quite cured of the Asthma, but is also become so strong and vigorous, that he informed me yesterday he could now run round the Mall, with any person in the city, and that he never got any medicine equal to your Pills and Ointment.

(Signed) J. THOMPSON.

The Earl of Aldborough Cured of a Liver and Stomach Complaint.

Extract of a Letter from His Lordship, dated Villa Messina, Leghorn, 21st February, 1845.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—Various circumstances prevented the possibility of my thanking you before this time for your politeness in sending me your Pills as you did. I now take this opportunity of sending you an order for the amount, and, at the same time, to add that your Pills have effected a cure of a disorder in my Liver and Stomach, which all the most eminent of the Faculty at home, and all over the Continent had not been able to effect: nay, not even the waters of Carlsbad and Marienbad. I wish to have another Box and a Pot of the Ointment, in case any of my family should ever require either.

Your most obliged and obedient Servant,
(Signed) ALDBOROUGH.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

THE RAJAH OF TRAVANCORE.

On the 11th July, 1846, Professor Holloway was honored with an order for Six of the largest size Pots of Holloway's Ointment from no less a Personage than His Royal Highness the Rajah, or Reigning Sovereign of Travancore, through the eminent firm of J. Cockburn & Co., East India Merchants, No. 11, New Broad Street, London.

The Ointment, it appears, is for the personal use of the Rajah, and will be employed under the Superintendence of his private Physician. At present not only do the higher Castes of Natives in India use Holloway's Ointment and Pills, but even do the Kings and Princes of immense dominions give up the rooted prejudices of their Country, and avail themselves of the extraordinary Medicinal powers of these Medicines; indeed so much confidence has the Rajah of Travancore in the virtues of Holloway's Ointment, that in order that he may have it genuine, he sent direct to the Proprietor's Establishment for it in London, although it can be obtained at present, of his Agents in almost every part of India. Such is the example set by the King of Travancore to his Nobles and Subjects in general, knowing, no doubt, that those fine Medicines, readily, and, with certainty cure Ulcers, Wounds, Sores, and Abscesses, even if of Twenty years' standing, as well as the most desperate kinds of Lepra, and indeed every other Skin Disease so common in the Country.

The PILLS are a certain remedy for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowel Complaints, so prevalent and at the same time so fatal in India.

No Native Family ought to be without a Pot of the Ointment or a Box of Pills in their house, as with these they may quickly cure themselves of almost any disease, even of the most malignant kind, and this without the assistance of a Medical Man.

A Wonderful Cure of dreadful Ulcerous Sores in the Face and Leg, in Prince Edward Island.

The Truth of this Statement was duly attested before a Magistrate.

I, HUGH MACDONALD, of Lot 55, in King's County, do hereby declare, that a most wonderful preservation of my life has been effected by the use of Holloway's Pills and Ointment; and I furthermore declare, that I was very much afflicted with Ulcerous Sores in my Face and Leg; so severe was my complaint, that the greater part of my nose and the roof of my mouth was eaten away, and my leg had three large ulcers on it, and that I applied to several Medical gentlemen, who prescribed for me, but I found no relief. My strength was rapidly failing every day and the malady on the increase; when I was induced to try Holloway's Medicines. After taking two or three boxes, I experienced so much relief, and found the progress of the disease was so much arrested, that I was enabled to resume my ordinary labours in the field. The sores which were so disagreeable and repulsive to behold are now nearly all healed. Having received such truly beneficial aid, I feel myself bound to express my gratitude to the person by whose means I have thus been restored from the pitiable and miserable state I was in; and for the sake of humanity make known my case, that others similarly situated might be relieved.

(Signed) HUGH MACDONALD.

This declaration made before me, at Bay Fortune, the 3d day of September, 1845. JOSEPH COFFIN, Justice of the Peace.

The above case of Hugh Macdonald, of Lot 55, came personally under my observation; and when he first applied to me to get some of the Medicines, I thought his case utterly hopeless, and told him that his malady had got such hold that it was only throwing his money away to use them. He, however, persisted in trying them, and to my astonishment, I find what he has aforesaid stated to be perfectly correct, and consider the case to be a most wonderful cure.

(Signed) WILLIAM UNDERLAY, Bay Fortune.

A Cure of Ringworm of Four Years Standing.

Copy of a Letter from Mrs. Grace Moro, 6, Hemlock Court, Carey Street, London, 6th November, 1845.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—About four years ago my little girl caught the Ringworm, and although I have ever since had advice from many Doctors, and tried every means to get rid of it, yet I was unable to do so. About three weeks ago, I was induced to try some of your Pills and Ointment, and I am most happy to say the result has been a perfect cure. (Signed) GRACE MORO.

*Skin Diseases, peculiar to any part of the Globe, may be effectually Cured by the use of these celebrated Medicines.

Cure of a Desperate Case of Erysipelas.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Joseph Gildon, Jun., a Farmer, East Kent, near Spilby, Lincolnshire. 8th April, 1846.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—I have the gratification to announce to you a most wonderful cure wrought upon myself, by the use of your Ointment and Pills. I had a severe attack of Erysipelas in my right foot, which extended along my ankle, and was attended with swelling and inflammation to an alarming degree, inasmuch that I was unable to move without the use of crutches. I consulted a very eminent Physician, besides other medical men, but to no purpose. At last, I tried your Ointment and Pills, when, strange to say, in less than two weeks the swelling and inflammation gradually subsided to such a degree that I was enabled to pursue my daily avocation, to the utter surprise and amazement of those who were acquainted with my case, seeing that I was cured so quickly. I and my family are well known here; as my father holds his farm under the Rev. J. Spence, Rector of our parish. (Signed) JOSEPH GILDON.

The Testimony of Dr. Bright, of Elyplace, Holborn, as to the Extraordinary Power of Holloway's Ointment in the Cure of Ulcerated Sores.

Extract of a Letter from the above celebrated Physician.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—I think it but an act of justice to inform you that I have tried your Ointment in several old cases of Ulcerated Sore Legs, which for a considerable time had resisted every kind of treatment, but which were afterwards effectually cured by its use. In the treatment of Bad Breasts I have also found your Ointment of the greatest service. Indeed, from my practical knowledge, I conceive it to be a most invaluable remedy. (Signed) RICHARD BRIGHT, M. D.

Holloway's Ointment will Cure any cases of Bad Legs, Ulcerous Sores, Bad Breasts, Sore Nipples, Cancers, Tumours, Swellings, Contracted or Stiff Joints, Gout, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Chapped Hands and Lips, Bunions, Soft Corns, Piles, the Bite of Mosquitoes, Sand Flies, Chicago-foot, Yaws, Coco-bay, and all Skin Diseases common to Europe, or to the East and West Indies, or other tropical climates.

Holloway's Pills should be taken in most instances when using the Ointment, in order to purify the blood and invigorate the system.

Sold by the same Agents who are appointed for the sale of Holloway's Pills.

OPINION OF A REGULAR PHYSICIAN.

Exeter, Me., Sept. 30, 1845.

This certifies that I have recommended the use of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY for diseases of the Lungs, for two years past, and many bottles to my knowledge have been used by my patients, all with beneficial results. In two cases where it was thought confirmed consumption had taken place, the Wild Cherry effected a cure.

E. BOYDEN, Physician at Exeter Corner.

NO QUACKERY! NO DECEPTION!

All published statements of cures performed by this medicine, are, in every respect, TRUE.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS AND IMITATIONS. The unparalleled and astonishing efficacy of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry in all the diseases for which it is recommended, curing many cases after the skill of the best physicians was unavailing, has effected a large and increasing demand for it. This fact has caused several unprincipled counterfeiters and imitators to palm off spurious mixtures of similar name and appearance, for the genuine Balsam.

Be careful and get the genuine DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. None genuine unless signed by I. BUTTS. Address all orders to SETH W. FOWLE, Boston, Mass.
