PREFACE.

We present to our patrons our first Directory of London, hoping that it will meet with their approval. A thorough canvass of the city has been made and every effort used to obtain the name of every person who should be represented in a City Directory. Mistakes will occur, but we are confident that no more thorough and systematic canvass of the City has ever been made. We have aimed to make our work a fit representative of the public spirit and importance of the City of London, and an accurate and complete guide to all public places, business locations and private residences of the inhabitants of the City.

The Classified Business Directory, is a complete mirror of the business interests of the City, and represents London to the outside world, only as a Business Directory can.

The Miscellaneous Directory, furnishes a large amount of information useful to strangers.

Our thanks are due to our numerous patrons and the press, for their favors and encouragement.

THE CITY OF LONDON.

The city of London, in the township of that name, is the capital of the county of Middlesex. It is beautifully situated in the midst of a fine section of country, at the point of junction of the two branches of the River Thames. It was laid out in 1826, by the Crown, on lands reserved by Governor Simcoe, from as early a date as 1796, with the intention of founding a town by that name.

It was surveyed by Col. Burwell, who lived on Talbot street, near Port Talbot. Its limits then were bounded on the north by North street, on the east by Wellington street, and on the west and south by the two branches of the river.

The late Col. Talbot was appointed by the Government to grant the lots.

Up to this date a solitary log tavern, with a stump, hollow at the bottom, and serving the double purpose of bar-room, counter and cupboard, was the only tenement that adorned London. The second house was built by Abraham Carroll, from Oxford county, and was, like the first, intended for a tavern, but just before being completed it was burned down. Carroll, however, went to work, erected another, and began business the following summer.

The first bridge constructed of those now spanning the river was the Westminster. It was finished in the summer of 1828.

Up to this time London had not shown any extra degree of vitality, and it was not until the extensive emmigration of 1832, five years after its first settlement, that it began to increase rapidly.

This was due to its position, and the difficulties consequent thereon, lacking the great advantages it at present enjoys in the facilities for transportation afforded by the different lines of railway. At this period, however, lots began to be taken up rapidly by enterprising adventurers from the British Isles, and it soon presented the appearance of a thriving Canadian village.

London returned a representative to the Legislature in 1836, having at that time a population of 1,037.

Its first member was Mr. Mahlon Burwell. His opponent for Legislative honors was Mr. John Scatcherd, father of Thos. Scatcherd, Esq., Barrister—the present Representative of West Middlesex. The assessed value of the town property for that year was $34,380. In 1840, it was incorporated as a village—having a population of 17:6—with a Board of Police, of which the Hon. G. J. Goodhue was the first President. In 1847 it became a town; elected

Mr. Simeon Morrill its first mayor in 1848 ; and attained to the dignity of a city in 1855, with a population of over 10,000. Mr. John Wilson, Q.C., was its first Representative in the Legislature, and Mr. Murray Anderson was elected its first Mayor after this important epoch occurred in its history.

From the first the value of real estate steadily increased, but it made ominous leaps from 1852 to 1858, values increasing threefold in that time. Then the frenzy of speculation having run its course, a relapse ensued, and values shrank nearly one-half, large numbers who had yielded to the allurments of the time being ruined. Since then the growth of London has been steady and healthy, and we doubt if to-day there exists in the Dominion of Canada a more thriving or prosperous city, or one giving promise of a brighter future. The city contains several ornamental public buildings, among these the Court House and Jail, built of brick, in the form of a castle, which is a handsome and substantial edifice, costing to build about £10,000. Their imposing appearance cannot fail to strike the European, recalling to his memory the stately edifices of his native land.

In educational facilities London possesses superior advantages, containing, in addition to numerous primary and select schools, the Huron and Hellmuth Colleges, Convent of the Sacred Heart, London Business College, and others, all being in a flourishing condition.

The moral interests of the city are represented by numerous churches, many of which are beautiful and costly edifices. Among these St. Paul's Cathedral, a gothic structure, tastefully surrounded by trees and shrubbery, is worthy of special remark.

One of the leading branches of industry is coal oil refining, which is extensively carried on, and has added greatly to the growth and prosperity of the city. The refineries are located at the eastern limits.

A number of large flouring mills are in successful operation, affording a ready market for the products of the surrounding country, and from which large shipments of flour are made to other points, and considerable quantities exported to Europe.

The foundries and machine shops give employment to a large number of mechanics, and afford profitable remuneration for capital.

Agricultural implements are manufactured extensively, and find their way to all parts of the Dominion, as well as the United States and Europe, the manufacturers of London taking first rank in this department of mechanical skill.

SUNDAY DENTISTRY

Only Needed Work to be Done on Lord's Day in Ontario

TORONTO, June 17.—Should a dentist pull an aching tooth on Sunday?

This is the knotty problem that the morality department of the Toronto police force has been wrestling with lately, according to the statement of one high in authority.

A few days ago the news came into the department that a dentist had entered his office, admitted a patient, and pulled an aching tooth on a Sunday.

The order went forth at once to inves-gate. The circumstances, it is said, were investigated, and it is understood that Chief Inspector Archibald decided not to prosecute. The officials had to be satisfied, however, that the tooth was really aching before it was pulled.

Transcontinental Railway Commission
Inspecting the Work in the West

OTTAWA, June 17.—Hon. S. N. Parent and the other members of the National Transcontinental Railway commission returned on Saturday from a tour of inspection as far west as Winnipeg. Mr.
Parent stated that there is every prospect that by autumn as much construction will be completed as was planned before the late spring threatened to interfere with the commission's plans.
