P R E F A C E .

In an Age of Dissipation and Pleasure, when the Instructive Faculties are loosened, by Inattention, and the Minds of the People in a great Measure too much attached to trifling Novelties, nothing but a Work of extraordinary Merit can reclaim the Attention of the Publick to a Subject of real Utility, wherein Novelty is blended with Instruction, which at the same Time amuses the Imagination by mingling Entertainment with Genius. One Stride towards the Accomplishment of this great Design is a judicious Choice of a proper Subject.

Amongst the first and most necessary of Liberal Arts is Geography; by it we may form a better Idea of any Country than it is possible for us to conceive without its Assistance, but how strange is it to reflect that no Man has ever exhibited an actual Survey of this Ancient and of late cultivated fertile Kingdom; but when it is considered how few there are capable of the Important Undertaking, the Wonder ceases; and had not the present Design met with more than common Encouragement, joined with the extraordinary Assistance of valuable Materials, and the Author's constant Residence and extensive Practice for many Years in every Part of the Kingdom, it never could have made its present Progress. These Plates are now laid before the Publick for their Protection and Approbation whose candid Reception will be a recent Instance, that every laudable Endeavour does not pass without its Patron; and that Liberal Arts find Encouragement equal to the Merit of the Execution.

Is situated between 5 and 10 Degrees of West Longitude, and between the 51 and 56 Degrees of Nth Latitude. The longest Day in the South Parts is 16½ Hours, and in the North 17¼. It is bounded by the DEUCALIDONEAN SEA on the North, on the West by the great ATLANTIC OCEAN, by the IRISH SEA, commonly called S^t GEORGE'S CHANNEL on the East, and on the South by the Mouth of SAINT GEORGE'S CHANNEL, called sometimes the VIRGINIAN SEA. Its greatest Length from North to South is 300 Miles, in Breadth where broadest 150, and in Circumference about 1400 Miles. Its Area, or Superficial Contents is computed at 11,067,712 Irish, or 17,927,864 English Acres. The Proportion it bears to England and Wales is supposed to be as 18 to 30, or rather as 2 to 3, and the Number of Inhabitants is reckoned at 2,544,276. The Climate of Ireland differs but little from that of England with which it would almost perfectly agree were the Soil equally improved, being abundantly fruitful both in Corn and Grass, especially the latter, in Consequence of which an infinite Number of Black Cattle and Sheep are bred, particularly in the Province of Connaught. — Few Counties produce finer Grain than that which grows in the well improved Parts of this Kingdom. The Northern and Eastern Counties are best cultivated and inclosed, and the most populous, flourishing, & industrious. In the Province of Ulster the Linnen Manufactory is the principal Object. No Country in the World abounds more in beautiful Lakes, both Fresh, and Salt Water ones, being finely watered also with many beautiful Rivers. The grand Division or Provinces are 4, namely LEINSTER, ULSTER, MUNSTER and CONNAUGHT, of which in Order. —

Leinster.

THIS PROVINCE is bounded by ULSTER on the North, by CONNAUGHT and MUNSTER on the West and South-West and by the SEA on the South and East. The Shannon separates it from CONNAUGHT, and the Suir from a Part of MUNSTER. Its Length from Hook Tower at the Entrance of the Harbour of Waterford to Carlingford is 104 Miles; its greatest Breadth from the Hill of Houth to Athlone is 55 Miles, the Circumference 360, and the Area, or superficial Contents is computed at 2,642,958 Irish Plantation Acres or 4,281,155 British Acres, in which are contained 12 Counties (LOUTH, E. MEATH, W. MEATH, LONGFORD, DUBLIN, KILDARE, KING'S-COUNTY, QUEEN'S-COUNTY, WICKLOW, CARLOW, KILKENNY, and WEXFORD) 99 Baronies 858 Parishes 53 Boroughs, 63 Market-Towns 1 Archbishopric and 3 Bishopricks. Leinster is in general very well cultivated, enjoys good Air and Soil. 'Tis the most populous also containing the Capital and the Seat of Government. Its principal Rivers are the Boyne, Barrow, Liffey, Noir and the May. The Bog of Allen the largest in the whole Kingdom extends almost a cross the Province from East to West.

(L O U T H)

This COUNTY is bounded on the North, by Armagh and Carlingford Bay; on the South East it is parted from Meath by the River Boyne; on the East it has ST. GEORGE'S CHANNEL; and on the West the Counties of Monaghan and Meath. It is the smallest County in the Kingdom being in Length from Drogheda to Narrowwater but 21 Miles, and from Dunany to Clonkines 16 Miles, containing 126,960 Acres, Irish Plantation Measure, or 205,633 British Acres, and four Baronies (besides the Town and Liberties of Drogheda which is a County distinct) namely Dundalk, Louth, Athdee and Ferrard, in which are 5 Parishes, 8,150 Houses, and four Boroughs, which with the County send 10 Members to Parliament.

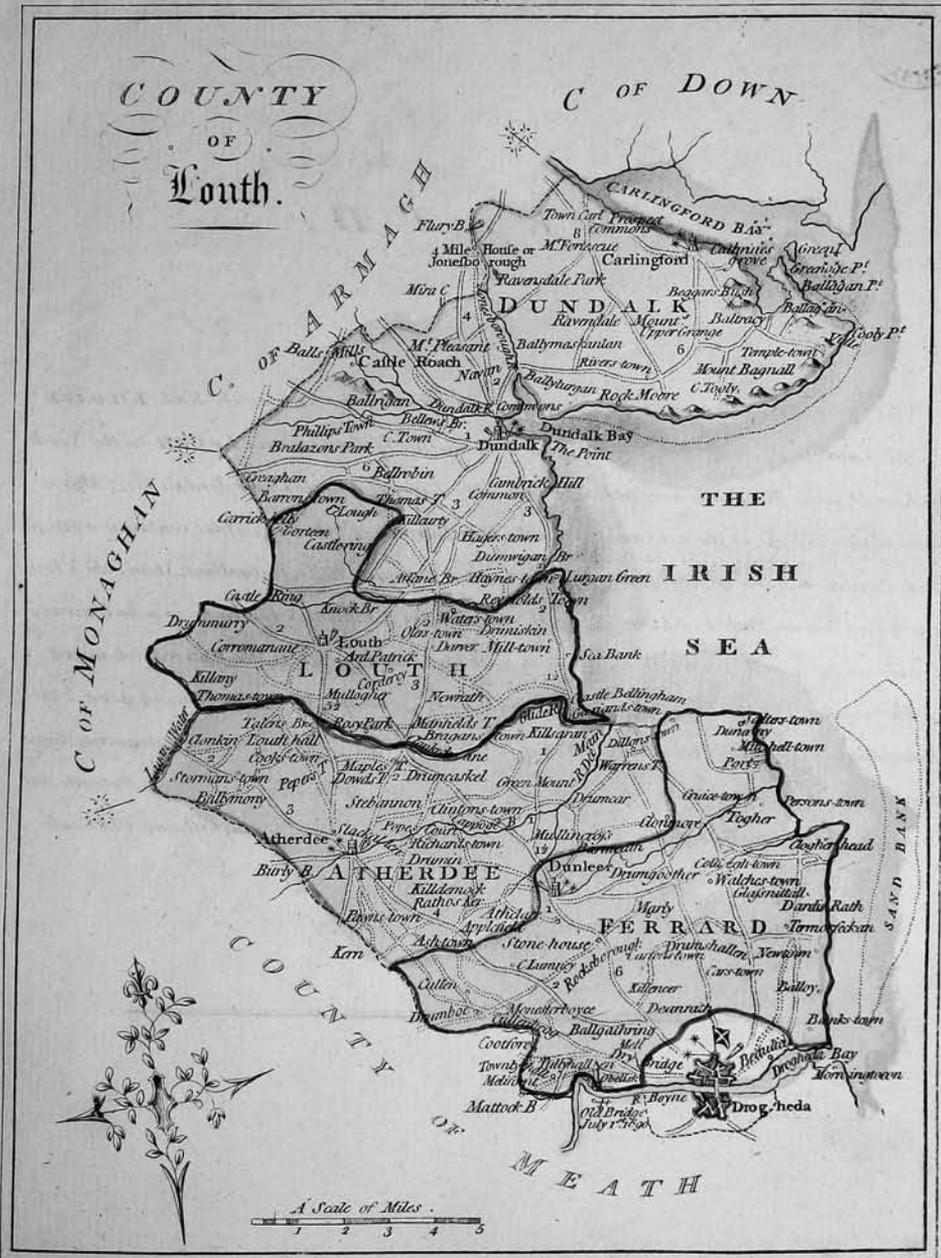

The Air is pleasant and healthful and the Soil fruitful both in Corn and Grass. Drogheda is a large handsome Town of considerable Trade, governed by a Mayor, Aldermen and Sheriffs, and fortified with a strong Wall round it. It is seated near the Mouth of the Boyne, which brings up to it Ships of great Burthen. This River is famed for the Victory obtained on its Banks, by King William over King James takes its rise not far from Clontulloch in the Kings County, and falls into the Sea at Drogheda.

Other Chief Places are Dundalk the Shire-town, Dunlevy, Ardee, Louth and Carlingford; of which the four first with Drogheda, and Lurgan green are Post Towns.

M E A T H

This COUNTY is bounded by the County of DUBLIN and the SEA on the East, KILDARE on the South, W. MEATH on the West, and the Counties of CAVAN and LOUTH on the North. Its Length from Maiden Tower, at the Mouth of the River Boyne, to Castle Jordan is 35 Miles, from Clance to Rejs at the extrean Part of the half Barony of Fore is 33 Miles, containing 326,480 Irish Plantation Acres, or 528,844 British Acres, and 12 Baronies, Kells, Morgallion, Slain, the $\frac{1}{2}$ Barony of Fore, Navan, Duleek, Skreene, Lunc. Moyfenrath, Deece, Ratoath & Dunboyne, in which are 139 Parishes, about 14000 Houses & 6 Boroughs, which with the County return 14 Members to Parliament.

This County abounds in Corn Pasture, and Herds of Cattle, the Air and Soil being good, & the Inhabitants numerous. Their Number however are observed to decrease from the frequent Migrations to America. Noted Places are Trim the Shire Town, Kells, Athboy, Navan, Duleek, Ratoath, Ardbraccan the Seat of a Bishop. The Post Towns are Navan, Kells, Trim, Summerhill, and Old Castle.

WEST MEATH.

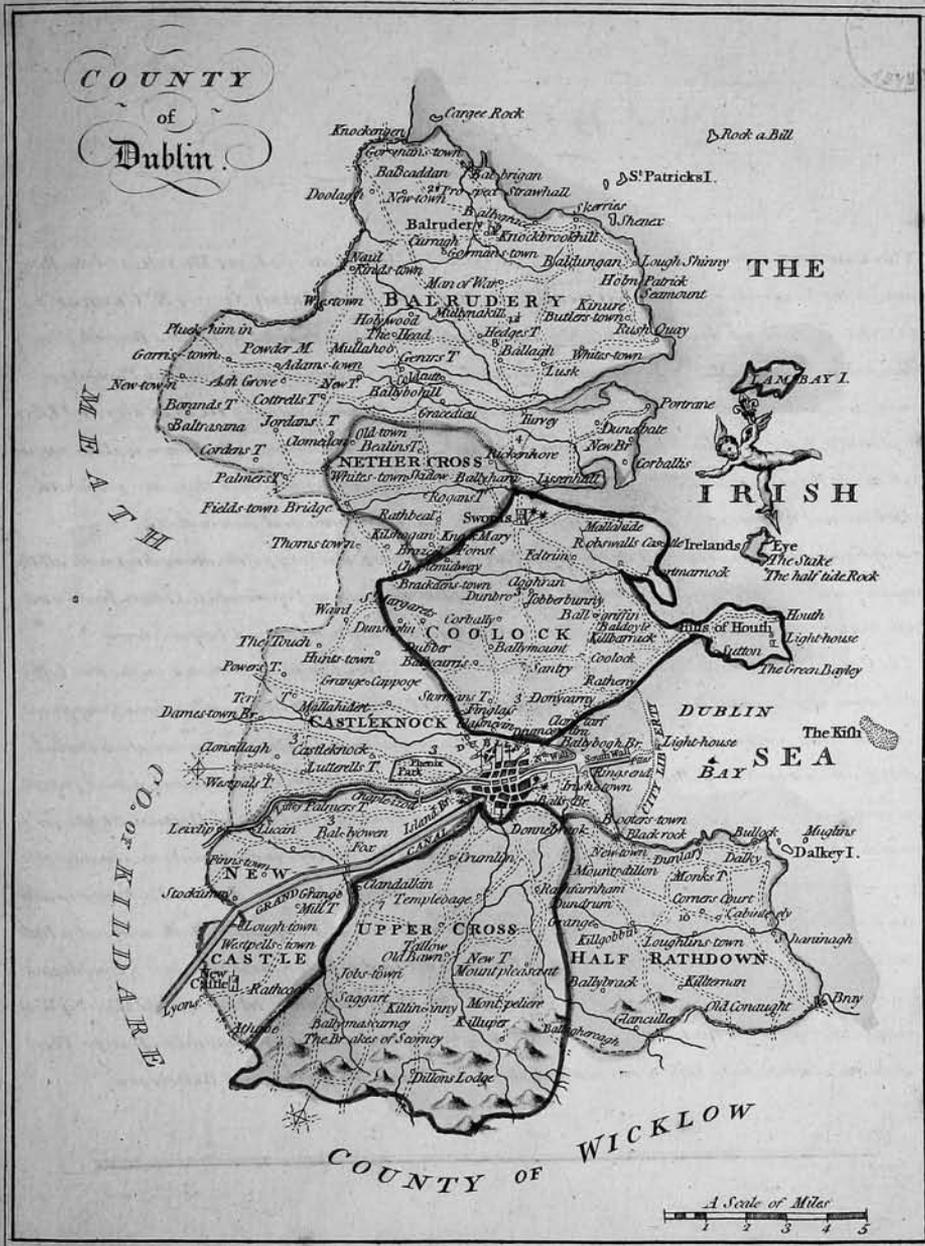

This COUNTY is bounded on the North by the County of CAVAN, on the South by the KING'S COUNTY, on the East by the County of MEATH, and on the West by the County of LONGFORD, and Lough Ree, which separates it from the County of ROSCOMMON. It is divided into 13 Baronies, Fore, a half Barony, Moygeesh, Corkerry, Moyashill and Magheredemon, Delvin, Farbill, Mullingar, Raconrath, Kilkenny West, Branny, Clunlonan, Moycashell and Fertullagh; containing 219,943 Irish Plantation Acres, or 404,866 British Acres. Its Length from the extreme Part of the Barony of Clunlonan, joining the Shannon to Killoa, in the Barony of Delvin, is 38 Miles, and 21 Miles in the greatest Breadth, from Finay, to Kinnegad. Beside the principal River which is the Shannon this County is watered with a Number of agreeable Lakes, Lough-Leign, Lth Derrivragh, Lough-Iron, Lough-Ennell, Lough-Drin, having Trouts in it of an emetic Quality and Lough-Bancan-Annagh, but intermixed with Bogs. Places of Note are Mullingar, the Shire Town, and second great Fair in the Kingdom for Wool, Athlone situated on the River Shannon, Fore & Killbeggan, all of which are Boroughs and sends 20 Members to Parliament, including the Knight of the Shire. Post Towns are Mullingar, Athlone and Killbeggan, the County containing in the whole Sixty two Parishes and 9,621 Houses.

DUBLIN

This COUNTY is bounded on the South, by the County of WICKLOW; by EAST MEATH, and the River Nanny, on the North; the County of KILDARE, on the West; and by the IRISH SEA, or ST GEORGE'S CHANNEL, on the East. It is in extent, from Bray to Gormans-town 24 Miles, its greatest Breadth from Dalkey to Newcastle is 14 Miles, but in some Places exceeds not 6 Miles, containing 223,784 Irish Plantation Acres, or 200,510 British Acres. It is divided into 8 Districts or Baronies, namely DUBLIN City and Liberties (a County distinct) Balrudery, Nether-Cross, Coolock, Castletown, Newcastle, & Rathdown a $\frac{1}{2}$ Barony; in which are 87 Parishes, and about 24,245 Houses. Besides the Knights for the Shire there are 4 returned for Dublin and its University, and 2 each for the Boroughs of Swords, and Newcastle.

Excepting a Mountainous Tract on the South Part of this County, it is very fertile, abounding with all the Necessaries of Life, and exceeds any other Part of the Kingdom, not only in Populousness, Culture, Trade and Wealth, but Politeness, Elegance, Ingenuity, and every Species of Refinement and Improvement.

The City of DUBLIN is an Archbishopial See, and Capital of the Kingdom, situated on the Riv^r. Liffey, at the bottom of a beautiful Bay. It is a large, & for the greater Part, well built City, very Populous, & supposed to contain near 300,000 Inhabitants. It is adorned with many Grand & Elegant Structures, both Publick and Private, of which the College, built in the finest Taste, the two Houses of Parliament, a most superb Pile, being justly accounted one of the foremost Architectural Beauties; the Lying-in Hospital, Swifts, for Lunatics, and the Duke of Leinster's House, are the Principal. The Churches, indeed make no considerable Figure, some, however, have been lately rebuilt after a more elegant Manner. And an Exchange is now creating, also a most spacious and magnificent Square near that of S^t. Stephen's, which will not a little contribute to the Embellishment of the City. The Barracks are said to be the most extensive & completest in Europe. Essex Bridge and that called the Queen's are the Chief, the Former rebuilt after the Model of Westminster Bridge, the other lately raised, is thought to be the lightest and most beautiful in Europe. There are three others, which have little to recommend them. Post Towns, are Dublin, and Balbriggan.

CONNAUGHT.

This PROVINCE on the South and South East, is separated from MUNSTER by the River Shannon, by the same River from LEINSTER on the East; on the West it is bounded by the ATLANTIC OCEAN, and on the North and North West by the Province of ULSTER and Part of the same Ocean.

It's greatest Length is about 90 Miles, it's Breadth 80, and it's Circumference about 500 Miles. The Area or superficial Contents is computed at 2,272,915 Irish Plantation Acres, or 3,681,746 British Acres.

Of the four Provinces in IRELAND this is the most mountainous and barren, the least cultivated, and inclosed, the thinnest of Inhabitants, and these the most ignorant and unpolished. There are however, immense Numbers of Sheep and Bullocks bred in this Quarter, especially in the Counties of Mayo and Galway. There are many convenient Creeks and Bays on the Coast and Rivers, particularly the Shannon, Moy, Such and Gyll. The Air was formerly indifferent on Account of the Bogs and Woods, but is now much altered for the better. The Names of the Counties are Sligo, Mayo, Leitrim, Galway and Roscommon; in which are contained 43 Baronies, 330 Parishes, 10 Boroughs or Market Towns, one Archbishopric, 1 Bishopric, and 49,966 Houses.

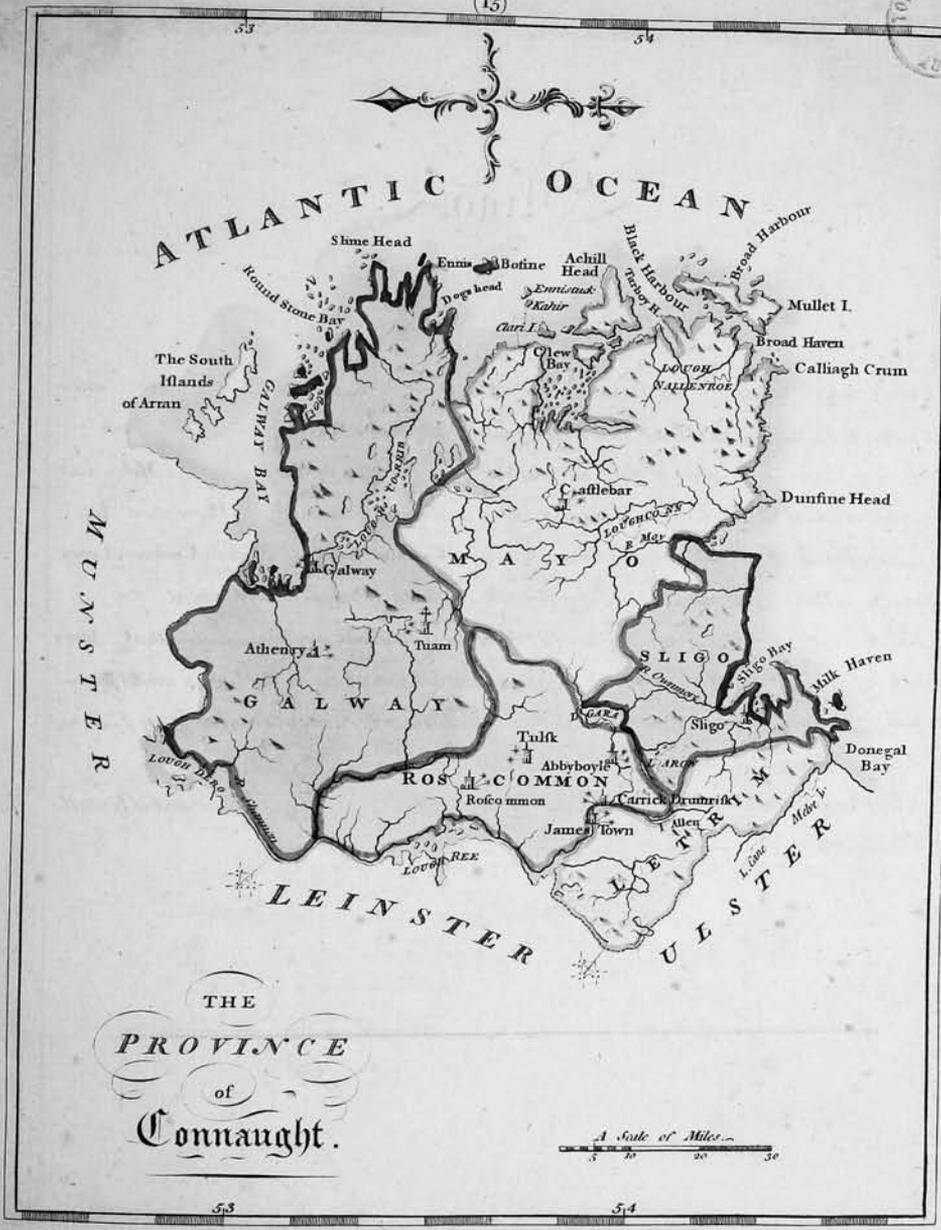

Sligo.
