Kingston in a Paragraph

KINGSTON is a large and beautiful city at the Eastern extremity of Lake Ontario, just above the "Lake of the Thousand Islands," situated at the extremity of the Bay of Quinte, the margin of which is studded with islands adorned with military and other works of art.

In years past it was here the Red Man held his solemn council of war and disposed of his winter harvest of furs, and the Limestone City is still famed for its splendid warehouses of this commodity.

Fort Henry, of historic note, situated on a high bluff at the head of the River St. Lawrence, embraces several acres and is occupied by "A" Battery and School of Gunnery. During the summer months magnificent steamers ply between the city and the far-famed Alexandria Bay, Thousand Island Park, and other summer resorts, which are visited by thousands of excursionists from all parts of America. The trip affords an excellent opportunity of viewing numerous places of historical interest, while the romantic and exquisite scenery all along the entire route is the grandest natural attraction in the world. A few of the places of interest in Kingston, worthy of note, are Queen's University, Provincial Penitentiary, Rockwood Asylum, Court House, City Buildings, St. George's Cathedral, St. Mary's Cathedral, Fort Henry, Tete Du Pont Barracks, Fort Frederick, City Hospital, Hotel Dieu, House of Providence, New Armouries, Collegiate Institute, Convent of Notre Dame, Orphan's Home, Macdonald Park, Government Dry Dock, Storage Elevators. A trip around the belt line gives an opportunity of seeing a number of these important places, and all visitors to Kingston are always given a very cordial welcome. As a quiet, home-like resort, it would be impossible to find any city more admirably adapted for student life.

Diamonds

THERE is the satisfaction of knowing that a Diamond gift given this summer will be no whit less brilliantly beautiful, ten or twenty years hence. Instead its value will be enhanced, almost fabulously so, if gem prices continue to soar and there is every indication of their doing so for years to come. ¶ ¶ ¶ ¶
