ROCHESTER RHYMES

Ev. Emerson would like to talk,
On how a boat should ride the swell
On where to sit and how to sit—
And many other things as well;
These technicalities, it seems,
Stay with him even in his dreams.
And Ev. can only happy be
When he is arguing, you see!

Oh, Rochester is very dry!
To get a drink in vain you try.
But Charlie Faxon seems to think
Toronto might supply that drink.
We wish him well, and hope indeed
That in his search he will succeed—
And when he does, well—right or wrong,
We hope he'll pass the word along!

With facile pen Clute Noxon writes,
And interesting things indites
On almost everything that floats—
Particularly sailing boats!
This member of the G.D.C.
Is just as smart as he can be,
And yet he feels that life has failed
"One of our boats I've never sailed."

Bill Watters, tell us, if you can,
Why you a reg'lar speed boat man,
Should waste your precious hours and take

A dinky dinghy o'er the Lake!
Go—Buy a Shamrock—earn some Fame,
And join the International Game!

Who is the man whom you should see?
Why, Sharpe of the great R.Y.C.
Full well his talents he employs
Without unnecessary noise;
He's different, you may safely bet,
From other "sharpers" you have met,
And sails the managerial boat
With never a discordant note.

HAVE A HEART

Watch those Yankee boys! First they win the war. (They've already admitted as much). Next they defeat the Shamrock (which was just as difficult and took nearly as much thought and time), and now they are determined to carry off those silver cups of ours. Have a heart, Yankee boys!

Made in America.
And none the worse for it.
Every girl on Ward's Island loves a sailor.

You Yankee boys are all right.
We'll make you admit it before you go.

We offer you the freedom of Ward's Island.

If we used keys we'd place them in your hands.

Sorry the water's cold—but our hearts are warm.

Play off in 2 Sets, A and B.

Section A—1-7.

Section B—8-14.

BASEBALL NOTES

A very large crowd turned out to see Ward's beat Hanlan's 13 to 5 on Saturday last. The good umpiring was again in evidence, as any person but an outsider would have had his hands full.

Tigers lost their first game to Iron Dukes.

Otazel beat the Dingbats 12 to 7 and made their race closer in this section.

Did you see "Fats" come back on Saturday? "Some game!" Dodgers were beaten 7 to 6 on Saturday night. Abbott's home run did it.

Frank Wilkinson was with us again at "short stop." He sure played some game. Ward's have a bye in the Inter-Island next Saturday.

TENNIS NOTES

The tennis players among the ladies seemingly are few, and there were only enough entries for two sets, consequently the Ladies' Doubles are cancelled. However, girls, you still have a chance to get into the game of Mixed Doubles. If the ladies will please leave their names at the W.I.A. office, or with the chairman of tennis, Mr. Swain. Will the men also hand in their names who wish to play; also the name of any lady who is too bashful to do so herself.

The players will be drawn in the usual way and on Monday, Aug. 2nd, the first round will be played off.

This event will take the place of Ladies' Doubles, and prizes will be awarded to the winners.

If the ladies are interested enough in playing Singles and at least sixteen entries are made, the dates for Ladies' Singles will be on Aug. 21st and 28th. Please see that your name is entered at once.

"I LOIKE IT!"

There's a bowler named Bill Brown, As a skip he's gained great renown.

When a bowl starts to hike it,

Says Bill, "Oh, I loike it,"

"Hit's a beauty you're sending me down."

JUNIOR SPORTS

W.I.A. Junior Baseball Team gave a real exhibition of how the game should be played on Wednesday evening, July 21, when Central Y.M.C.A. and W.I.A. hooked up for their second game, Ward's winning out 2 to 1.

The first 5½ innings there was no score and then we came through with a lone tally in the sixth and seventh.

Bill Staughton, the littlest man on the team, was a real star, and the pitching of Blanche Dodds was all that could be desired. Rus Gregory, Curly Clarke and Saywell were also much in the limelight, but, what's the use? They were all good and the team that can beat them has got to, well, be some team.

Y.M.C.A. came prepared with a bunch of rooters, but our boys could see nothing but that old pill and ye runners.

Y.M.C.A. insisted on a seven inning game, but they all look alike to our boys. They are real tigers and eat 'em as they come.

Saturday evening, July 24th, Art Lowery brought over W. J. Gage's Junior Baseball Team. In size they had it on our boys, but the same disaster came to Gage's as our other visiting teams, and at the close the score board gave those who did not come to see the game the information that Ward's won, 10 to 6.

Next Saturday evening, July 31st, Y. M.C.A. is coming back for revenge, but perhaps not that, just to emphasize that they are as good ball players as W.I.A. If you come to the junior diamond you will be treated to the demonstration.

JUNIOR NOTES.

Somebody asked us did we ever see Ecky back away from a ball when playing backstop, and we answered, "Did you?"

Tigers have only won one game so far, but they are going strong and the season is not yet over.

Have you seen Rus pitch? Some speed! Oh boy!

Somebody wants to know why G. S. plays under wraps. That's easy to answer. He has to hold himself in Speed, if he ever let himself out right, would have to be called by another name.

Ward's certainly is the Mecca of optimists. Any person who thinks that the choicest collection of optimists does not summer at Ward's Island need only visit the bowling green and find out. On the green, these optimists are called "Skips." Some are termed "Vice-skips."

"Well, the Lyons are fed." Bur--r-r-r!

EDITORIAL

Pastor Wilkinson has admitted that he is very popular with the ladies on the Island this year. One of the reasons seems to be that he gathers the children into the Shelter for a few hours each morning so that the mothers can have a great deal more sleep and as the pastor says, they certainly need it, judging by the time they go to bed. Do not think that the children are just being amused. Oh, no; they are learning some very useful arts, as anyone will admit who has seen some of the clever baskets they have made and those hammocks! Why they will carry three times as many as one you buy in the store, although we must admit that on this Island you are more likely to see two in a hammock than three.

The Pastor also acknowledged that we had a pretty fine lot of men on the bowling green. He stated that these gentlemen never swore (that is, while on the bowling green). They certainly have had lots of provocation as far as we can see, but now that we have the green so brilliantly illuminated a fellow has to be more careful, because one cannot lose his identity in the darkness.

ADULTS' MASQUERADE

August 13 will be the big night for the grown-ups' masquerade. The dance will be for those in costume only and original costumes will be given the preference for the prizes. Get busy and get your outfits ready for a good time.

EUCHRE

Don't forget August 7, the night of the euchre. We will try to have more tables this time to take care of the overflow that came last time to play and could not get a table. The only fault with the last euchre was that we got started too late to play the ten games, so we would ask you to come early and avoid the rush.

CHILDREN'S DANCE

We are certainly very glad to see so many of the children turn out to the prize dance on Saturday night, and we think some of you old dancers could get some good pointers watching them. You will find it very interesting the way they dance. We might say they all did so well it was hard for the judges to pick the winners and it was only by such points as looking at their feet, or letting their heels down, or trying to be too fancy that a good many of them lost out. When the judges picked on Master C. Poole and Miss Edith Wilson, we believe they used good judgment.

JUST ASK ED.

There was a young lady one night
Who danced with all of her might;
When she'd no partner, by golly,
She requested Ed Jolley,
To assist in this very sad plight.

ALL (W)RIGHT

Bert Wright has a "whole heap" of admirers. They say it's only (W)right that he should. He puts 'em (W)right over the plate. He catches 'em (W)right in his mit. He knows it isn't (W)right to argue with the umpire. Even when he's wrong, he's (W)right,—so what's the use.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Have you noticed the Ferry flower pot?
Oh, a wonderful color it's got!

Some say it's Royal Blue

But I leave it to you

If Reckitt's Blue, it is not.

ON THE HIP!

One day I noticed George Sockett

Detect a chap picking a pocket

Of a Ward Island resident—

In fact 'twas the President.

Note—"Flask" won't rhyme properly here but that's what the thief was after—can you blame him?

Thank you, ladies, you were all simply great, and the eats, oh my!

Too bad the two cups got away from us, but better luck next time.

Bill Boyce is a good speaker as well as a dandy sailor.

Dick Tinning sure had the surprise of his life. He deserves it all, for he is one of the best sports in the sailing game.

W. G. had his Ouija out, and it looks like a real boat. Good luck, Bill.

Close finishes are in order, but Dad Inglis says nine seconds is too small a margin to catch on an ordinary Waterbury. Make it more the other way next time, Walter.

A SAD TALE.

"Where's my shirt?" I asked the Chink;

"What, no shirtee? Lemme think."

Said the Chinaman gravely,

Then added quite naively,

"Guess me dropped it into the brink."

WE'LL BE THERE!

She spoke to the Doctor,

Who immediately asked her

To sing a solo some Sunday.

SERVICE FOR ISLANDERS

Important from three standpoints is the service which Simpson's Island Delivery renders to summer cottagers—

First—We have arranged to have several representatives on the Island who will take your order. Thus you are saved the trouble of coming over to town to shop if cottage duties, picnics or busy times in general delay you.

Second—Once your order is given, your worries are at an end. No running out near meal-time for supplies and panting up the path with your arms full of parcels. If you desire, you need not leave your cottage verandah all day long. Simpson's delivery brings you supplies right to your very door the day following that on which your order is given.

Third—Last, but by no means least, you are able to take advantage of Simpson's splendid money-saving opportunities in personal and household needs from day to day. Particularly in the matter of meats, vegetables and groceries, which are the best and freshest obtainable, and offered at a minimum price.

But, if you do prefer coming over to town to shop, be sure to make use of another "Simpson" service—the Transfer Card. You obtain it with your first purchase—no waiting for change or parcels—and you simply pay in once at the Basement Cash Office.
