WARD'S ISLAND, TORONTO

September 11, 1920

PARAGRAPHS

Hurrah for Carrie Wright!
Just leave it to her;
On Ward's Island next year
She'll create some stir.

---

Now that the ladies are insisting upon their rights and are standing side by side with men on the executive, they must be given the same notoriety as their fellows.

---

You all know Mrs. Polkington;
We don't wish to slam her,
But say, she was a scream
As Mrs. Katzenjammer!

Good-bye, Pastor Wilkinson; you certainly are to be thanked for the important part you play in the affairs of Ward's Island. Here's hoping you spend a pleasant winter and that we see you back on Ward's Island bright and early next summer.

---

Bert Adams, we pledge our support to you as President for 1921.

---

We agree with Harry Williams that his Ward's Island onions do build one up physically, but, Harry, please don't forget that they drag a fellow down socially.

The winners in the cup and saucer raffle in aid of the Star Fresh Air Fund were Mrs. Beverley Bowes and Mr. Inglis. Seventeen and eleven were the winning numbers.

Farewell, ladies and son-kissed girls. We are going to miss you very much through the long, cold, dreary months, and we will look back with fond recollection to the times when we saw you rooting at the ball game, bowling on the green, dashing for the boats, munching ice cream cones, scolding the children, splashing in the surf and basking in the sunshine. A few other of your dainty little activities we will not mention here; suffice it to say that we love you all, and hope you reciprocate our affection. For safety's sake, this paragraph is written in the first person plural, and as we are of a generous nature, it is understood that this speaks for all the gentlemen on the 1920 executive.

"Every time I think of the price of sugar," said a certain Ward's Islander, "a lump comes into my throat."

ADIEU!

Degrees, seconds, minutes, hours, are simply measures of time that tick off the short span of man's allotted life. The days, weeks, months come, and they as surely go with their round of pleasure or load of responsibility and share of worry.

We look forward with pleasant anticipation to summer. Before we realize, it is upon us and then has slipped by like quicksilver through a child's fingers. Just so elusive are the fleeting years and certain as approaching winter is that time when we shall care not for the chilly blast nor sweltering heat—but even then Ward's Island will seem in retrospect somewhat of a heavenly place.

Gentle reader, we admit that we came to rather an anticlimax. Yes, this editorial started out like a real sermon, and we were quite serious, too, until we reached a certain point, and then it seemed best to come back to earth and enjoy the days that are passing by. That song Pastor Wilkinson is so fond of singing, "Oh, the good we all may do, while the days are going by," can be sung on other days than Sundays, because it is just so full of optimism and good will. There is no doubt at all that not only on Ward's Island, but over in those offices in the city, we can make things move more smoothly, lighten the load of many a chap, brighten the faces of lots of fellows, and surround work and yourself with a delightful atmosphere of animated good will, simply by doing a good turn every day instead of leaving an aggregation of lovely acts to be accomplished some future day which you may never live to see.

We hope that "Ward's Island Weekly" for 1920 has interested and even at times amused its readers. We certainly trust it has offended none. If we have neglected to publish the things that should have appeared, we regret the oversight, and if in our playful little way we have made someone the target for a joke and it has been resented, pardon the alleged humor and let's call it a "dud" and be done with it. At least be assured of this, that not one allusion to any Ward's Islander has been perpetrated with "malice aforethought." Really and truly, gentle reader, we think a whole lot of you, and only our retiring disposition prevents us displaying our emotions more often.

BONFIRES TABOOED

It is absolutely against the regulations of the city for anyone to light bonfires on the Island. There is great danger of the sparks lighting some tent and causing a very bad fire. Don't do it.

Pick 'em out! Here is a group of W.I.A. 'bowlers after the finals have been played' off. Sam's there, and down at one end is Ernie Lye, while Bill Brown may be seen seated on the bench explaining to Bill Gregory how it all happened. In the background the artist has placed a rough sketch of the new club house the city opposes erecting next year. "D.L.B." evidently refers to Brock Tupper's rink (darn lazy bunch). As usual, one of the Ward Island kids has climbed up on the roof so as to get in the picture. Looks like one of the twins!

THE 1921 EXECUTIVE

The elections this year were somewhat tame, in spite of great rumors of war that preceded them. Only two offices had more than one candidate, viz., Sailing and Ladies' Senior Sports. The officers for 1921 are as follows:

President—"Bert" Adams.
Vice-President—Jas. Lackey.
Secy.-Treas.—Harry Tasker.
Bowling—E. Ball.
Baseball—"Bob" Clewlo.
Tennis—"Shorty" Haas.
Basketball—"Had" Wright.
Sailing—Frank DeGuerre.
Quoits—Geo. Sockett.

Junior Sports (Boys')—"Dad" Lowrey.

Junior Sports (Girls') — Carrie Wright.

Senior Sports (Ladies')—Mrs. Pocklington.

Dancing—Harry Hudson.

Entertainment—Art. Saywell.

All Past Presidents are now members of the Executive.

At the annual meeting on August 27th the new officers were introduced to the meeting and made their inaugural speeches.

Looking for new worlds to conquer, they have already put up a box to receive suggestions for their guidance in handling the various sports, etc., next year.

Alex. Sinclair and Chas. Kemp acted as returning officers at the election and had a busy time.

BOWLING NOTES

The Bowling Season is about over and we are not far astray when we say that this has been the most successful season in the sport and good fellowship that we have had on Ward's Island. The most of the games have been played as per schedule and we have had some keen competition both in the Men's and Ladies' Sections. Mrs. J. B. Mills' rink proved the winners in the Ladies' Section and Mr. W. Brown's rink in the Men's Section.

Both the Semi-Finals and Finals in the Men's Section were very close and exciting games as the scores below indicate and was eagerly and attentively watched by a large and impartial gallery, the ladies being quite as interested as the men. The following are the scores as handed in for both games between W. Brown and Art. Saywell in Semi-Finals and W. Brown and F. Armstrong in the Finals.

Semi-Finals played August 28, 1920.

Prizes were presented to winning rinks on Friday evening and the Bowling Season finished as far as the schedules were concerned.

The Greens will be closed for the season about the fifteenth inst. so as to allow the greensman to prepare green for next season by top dressing and seeding same.

Just the day before we went to press, the first game in the final baseball series was played between Clinkett's Dingbats and Wright's Brownies, these teams having won their respective sections. The Dingbats were all to the good and had the top of a 7 to 1 score. Every player was a hero in his position and errors were almost entirely absent on both sides.

SERVICE FOR ISLANDERS

Important from three standpoints is the service which Simpson's Island Delivery renders to summer cottagers—

First—We have arranged to have several representatives on the Island who will take your order. Thus you are saved the trouble of coming over to town to shop if cottage duties, picnics or busy times in general delay you.

Second—Once your order is given, your worries are at an end. No running out near meal-time for supplies and panting up the path with your arms full of parcels. If you desire, you need not leave your cottage verandah all day long. Simpson's delivery brings you supplies right to your very door the day following that on which your order is given.

Third—Last, but by no means least, you are able to take advantage of Simpson's splendid money-saving opportunities in personal and household needs from day to day. Particularly in the matter of meats, vegetables and groceries, which are the best and freshest obtainable, and offered at a minimum price.

But, if you do prefer coming over to town to shop, be sure to make use of another "Simpson" service—the Transfer Card. You obtain it with your first purchase—no waiting for change or parcels—and you simply pay in once at the Basement Cash Office.
