Why don't the devil skate? How in hell—can he?

There isn't much difference between a grass widow and a grass hopper after all. Either will jump at the first chance.

"In the old country one of our common proverbs is: 'If I rest I rust.' Mr. Ticker—"Well, we have pretty nearly the same thing here: 'If I trust I bust,' is our version."

"Don't trouble yourself to stretch your mouth any wider," said a dentist to his patient, "I intend to stand outside and draw your tooth."

At the marriage of an Alabama widower one of the servants was asked if his master would take a bridal tour. "Dunno, sah; when old missus's alive he took a paddle to her; dunno if he takes a bridle to de new one or not."

"You wasn't around where they deal out hair, was you?" said a red-headed man to a bald-headed man in a railroad car. "Yes, I was," said the man with a skating rink on the top of his head: "I was there, but they offered me a handful of red, and I told them to throw it into the coal-scuttle to kindle the fire with."

"My little child suffered from a severe cold upon the lungs, until she was like a little skeleton before she took Burdock Blood Bitters, after which she became fat and hearty, and was cured of weak lungs, constipation and debility or wasting of flesh, from which two doctors had failed to relieve her."—Mrs. Samuel Todd, Sturgeon Bay.

It is said that there are now 200,000 Christians in China. If they are real Christians, China compares favorably with this country.

The Philadelphia Herald regards it as scarcely possible that the handsome stockings now worn by ladies are intended for show, only when hung upon the clothes line.

It is said that dreams go by contraries. That is why a girl is almost tickled to death when her sweetheart tells her he dreamed of an old lady the previous night.

When young Jenkinson told his father that he'd only been out on a little lake, the old gentleman muttered that "he guessed there was more swallow than lake."

When Dr. H. and Lawyer A. were walking arm-in-arm, a wag said to a friend: "These two are just equal to one highwayman." "Why?" asked his friend. "Because," rejoined the wag, "it is a lawyer and a doctor—your money or your life!"

No medicine for indigestion or dyspepsia. Adam's Tutti Frutti Gum, recommended by R. Ogden Doremus, M.D., L.L.D., and Dr. Cyrus Edson. Sold by all druggists and confectioners everywhere, 5 cents.

Countryman (outside of dime museum admiring picture of three-headed man): What d'ye have to pay that chap, mister?

Roper-in: Thousand dollars a week.

Countryman: Gosh, that's a smart lot of money!

Roper-in: Yes, but you see it costs him a good deal for hats.

"What has been the matter, Herr Bucher? Have all those books been dropped into the water?"

"Oh, dear, no! That is the latest novel, 'Broken Hearts,' which I have to hang up to give every time the servant girls bring it back."

Hard-up Gent: Say, Boss, can't yer give a teller a few cents to help him along?

Mr. Dalawney: Why don't you do something faw yaw own living? You had bettah ask for b'wains instead of money.

Hard-up Gent: Well, Boss, I asked yer for what I thought yer had the most of.

George—(to heiress with bad temper and large nasal development.)
"Have an ice, Miss Smith, do."
Heiress: "No, thanks,"
George: "And you won't waltz?"
Heiress: "No."
George: "Nor promenade?"
Heiress: "No."
George: "Why, you are all noes to night!"

Heiress looks daggers, and George subsidizes for the evening.

Higgins (meeting his friend Higgins in restaurant)—"By Jove, Tom! I should think you'd be afraid to eat that dish. It's fatal!" Higgins—"What's the matter? It's only asparagus and apple-sauce." Higgins—"Well, isn't that just what knocked out Adam?"

"I could gaze at the moon for hours, Mr. Sampson," she said in a full voice of sweetness and pneumonia. "I never tire of it."

"Ah," he responded, "would that I were the man in it!"

"Yes," she assented softly.

"And why, Miss Clara?" he asked, getting ready to take her hand.

"Because, Mr. Sampson," she said, shyly veiling her eyes with their long lashes, "you would be four million miles away."

L. E. Meyers, champion one mile runner of America, says: "I have been using your Tutti Frutti Gum for the past six months and find it very beneficial when running, as it keeps the mouth moist."

For several years R. H. Brown, of Kincardine, suffered from dyspepsia, he says he tried several physicians and a host of remedies without relief. His druggist recommended B. B. B. which he declares produced "grand results," for which he gives it his highest recommendation.

METROPOLITAN TORONTO REFERENCE LIBRARY

THE YATISI CORSET is made of a piece of one of the most elastic Parisian makers. It gives the that ease and grace so much in French ladies.

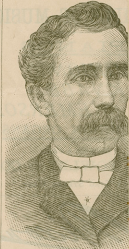

THE YATISI CORSET, owing peculiar elasticity of the elastic, the wearer perfectly the first time no matter what her form is long or short waisted. To lad wish to lace tight and not feel girthed at the waist or hips is indispensable.

THE YATISI CORSET does not at the waist, requires no brass. Fits comfortably the first time. As it gives to every motion wear it will outlast any of its style rigid corsets.

THE YATISI CORSET is the only one the purchaser can wear ten days a return and the money refunded if not found to be the most perfect of the beautiful and comfortable Corset ever worn.
