THE GENII OF BEAUTY

Dwells in Pember's Pompadour Bangs, every woman who takes the least pride in how she looks, and what woman doesn't know that to appear to advantage her hair must be plentiful and well dressed. Luxuriant hair is not given to all and the turning to art is natural and justifiable, especially when no one is the wiser but the wearer.

POMPADOUR BANGS

with their soft beautiful curls and waves lend a most charming effect to the face, and emphasize a good complexion and nice eyes. That is what Pember's Pompadours do. There are others that have exactly the opposite effect. The beautiful bangs found at

THE PEMBER STORE

Are of many varieties, some made upon a dainty comb, others upon a zephyr spring and others upon a pin. Then there are the invisible Pompadours, truly there are many beautiful creations in exclusive hair goods awaiting the Judgment and pleasure of our Patrons and all at very moderate prices.

GUIDE OF TORONTO

COULDN'T UNDERSTAND.

Here is a good story as told by that clever German dialect comedian and singer, Al. H. Wilson, who is appearing this season in his new Alpine play, "Metz in the Alps," about a pair of twins living on Long Island. Some time ago one of the twins went into a barber shop, and a new barber shaved him. An hour later his brother entered the shop and sat down in another chair. The barber who shaved the first one gasped; then he put up his razor and went to the boss, saying: "I guess I'd better take a rest. I'm not feeling well." "What's the matter?" asked the boss. "See that fellow there? Well, I shaved him close an hour ago, and here he is with a two days' beard on his face! I'm going to quit!"

—Don't look down upon a man because he is fashionably dressed. Perhaps his wife insists upon it.

PROGRAM—Continued

The most daring and bewildering illusion, and by far the most difficult achievement Mr. Kellar ever attempted. Absolutely new in principle. The dream in mid-air of the dainty Princess Karnac surpasses the fabled feats of the ancient Egyptian sorcerers, nor can anything more magical be found in the pages of The Thousand and One Nights, and it lends a resemblance to the miraculous tales of levitation that come out of India. The illusion is acknowledged by critics and historians of the goetic art to be the profoundest achievement of either ancient or modern magic. Its perfection represents fifteen years of patient research and obtuse study, and the expenditure of as many thousand dollars. The result of these labors is a veritable masterpiece of magic, the sensational marvel of the twentieth century and the crowning achievement of Mr. Kellar's long and brilliant career.

CANADA'S PRIDE

BEST AND LEAST EXPENSIVE

The purchase price of a cooking range should be considered least of all. To the cost of a cheap range add the cost of wasted fuel and repairs and in the end it has cost more than the "Canada's Pride." Why?

Because the "Canada's Pride" Range is built right made of the best polished steel and malleable iron. requires no black lead or japan and has the best finish, appearance and easiest to keep cleas. Malleable iron will not crack, break or warp like cast iron.

All the latest improvements. All the heat properly distributed. It will pay for itself in fuel saved and repairs several times during its long, long life. The "Canada's Pride" Range with ordinary care will last a lifetime.

"The Girl from Broadway," one of the latest of New York musical attractions, will be presented at the Grand Opera House during the week of Oct. 8.

A special matinee will be given on Thursday Oct. 18 (Thanksgiving Day), when Andrew Mack will be seen in his famous play, "Arrah na Pogue."

Billy Van, "The Errand Boy," is booked for the week of Oct. 29.

Eugene Blair, in "The Woman in the Case," comes to the Grand on Oct. 22.

David Higgins, in his famous racing play, "His Last Dollar," will return to the Grand this season. This play is one of the most notable dramatic productions in recent years.

MILLINERS DRESSMAKERS LADIE'S TAILORS

BOCQUET, BLOEM & CO. announce that they have added to their old established Ladies' Tailoring and Costuming, a new Dressmaking Department, which will be under the expert supervision of Mrs. Dunahue, late of the W. Stitt Co. The firm have imported direct from Paris a large number of exclusive gowns, the creations of Paquin, Ducet and Sarah Meyer, etc., all of which will be on view.

The ground floor of their old premises will be occupied by the new Dressmaking Department and in order to insure to our esteemed lady patrons harmony of costume and hat, a competent American milliner has been secured and a beautiful selection of French pattern hats will be kept in stock.

Each year finds Bocquet, Bloem & Co. devoting renewed effort to meet the more exacting demands of Toronto ladies for the smartest costumes and gowns that the tailors and costumers art can create. It is the object of the establishment to so closely follow the dictates of the world's fashion centres, that Bocquet, Bloem's creations may be the equal of those from the celebrated shops on the continent.

Our magnificent array of fall cloths imported from Europe comprise one of the most pretentious displays ever placed before the ladies of Toronto.

Oscar L. Figman, the star of "The Tenderfoot," owes much of his great success as a comedian to the thorough training he got in the old stock companies in the East. Dramatic writers all over the country have deplored the passing of the stock companies, and with reason. There is no school wherein the actor may learn so many of the fine points of his profession as in a permanent organization of this kind. Figman started on the stage playing utility parts, as they were called, and played villains. The change of comedy roles was a big one, but was made at the request of W. P. Cullen, who saw the possibilities in the young actor five years ago, and put him under a long term contract. He first gave him the part of the actor in "The Burgomaster," and then during the Philadelphia run of the piece made him play the part of the Burgomaster. Figman was such a hit in this part that he was featured in it for two seasons, and now he is starred with "The Tenderfoot." Figman is declared by the Chicago critics to be a revelation as Professor Pettibone in "The Tenderfoot," with his quiet but screamingly funny methods.

A COOK, A GENERAL, or a HOUSE-MAID—IF YOU WANT ONE, TRY A NEWS WANT AD.

A season would not be complete without a visit from "Way Down East," the greatest of rural comedy dramas. Phoebe Davis and the big No. 1 Company are booked here.

Charley Grapewin is giving his "Awakening of Mr. Pipp" a thorough reconstruction, and will use it as his starring vehicle this season.

George Primrose and his new organization, conceded to be the leaders in minstrelsy, are booked for a return visit to the Grand.

Fiske O'Hara, who is appearing in the star role of "Mr. Blarney from Ireland," has a splendid tenor voice, and his latest songs are a feature of the performance.

“Formona” has been so extensively used by the ladies of Paris that it has now become a necessity for her toilet. Madame de Forganet gives the following directions. Before attending a ball or other places of amusement where the activity of the sweat glands are called into more than usual activity, have your maid after the usual bath, sponge thoroughly the armpits and groins with hot water, then dry and apply “Formona” with a atomiser or with the hand, as one would an ordinary toilet water. Then rub over the soles of the feet and between the toes and lastly over the palms of the hands and between the fingers. This preserves the slippers and especially the gloves from the baneful effects of perspiration. “Formona” is sold at all drug stores and toilet counters at 25 cents per bottle.

2 IN 1 SHOE POLISH

HAS NO EQUAL

There is one actor in "The Tenderfoot," Richard Carle's and H. L. Heartz' delightful operatic comedy of Western life, who has no lines to speak, but who occupies a large share of the attention of the audience. He is Rupert the donkey, who furnishes a great deal of comedy on account of his pious demeanor. Rupert has turned out to be something of a pest for the members of the company, as he has suddenly developed an amazing fondness for skirts and trousers as eatables. Rupert has already ruined three skirts for members of the chorus, and torn the trousers of Oscar L. Figman, the star, so that he had to get a new pair. In addition to this, he ate a lunch which had been ordered by Miss Roberta Wilson, the prima donna, during a rehearsal, which was a net loss of $1.65. Rupert has taken these meals so slyly that it was almost impossible to punish him, and Manager W. P. Cullen is wondering what the end of the season will bring him in the way of bills for the maintenance of the irrepressible donk.

"The Tenderfoot," one of the best of the modern productions is booked for the Grand this season and the announcement will no doubt be pleasing to the large clientele of the historic playhouse, as it is the first time "The Tenderfoot" will be presented anywhere at the Grand's never-changing scale of moderate prices. Manager Cullen has engaged an excellent cast for this season, in fact the production is larger than when presented in this city at dollar-fifty prices.

A new play of American life and politics, entitled "The Senator's Vindication," promises to be one of the successes of the season. Miss Sarah Truax is leading woman.

A NEWS WANT AD WILL FILL A REASONABLE WANT EVERY TIME.

The Grand Opera House bookings for this season contain a host of the first-class productions, all of which will be presented at moderate prices. Theatregoers are assured of a season of good attractions.

It is many years since Chauncey Olcott appeared in Toronto, and theatregoers will be pleased to hear that he will come to the Grand this season. The world-famous singing comedian stands at the head of the performers in his special line, and he will no doubt receive a flattering reception when he visits the Grand, after his long absence from the city.

The Lyceum Theatre of London, Eng., has abandoned vaudeville for legitimate drama.
